

LOCAL WEATHER

Fair tonight and probably Wednesday. Warmer Wednesday. Today's temperatures: 6 a. m., 63; 8 a. m., 70; 1 p. m., 83.

The La Crosse Tribune

Western Wisconsin — Southern Minnesota — Northern Iowa.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION

VOLUME XIII, NUMBER 73.

LA CROSSE, WISCONSIN, TUESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1916.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

WALTER O. HOSELY AND VISITOR DIE IN RIVER

RUSS TROOPS IN NEW DRIVE TAKE GALICIAN CITY

Slays on Seventeen Mile Front Southeast of Lemberg Drive Austrians from the Trenches

DEFENDERS ARE ROUTED

Russian Advance on the Sereth River Front South of Brody Continued; Captures Large

By ED L. KEENE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 8.—A terrific smash by the Russians against the Austro-German front in southeastern Galicia netted the Slavs the most important gain made by the allies in more than a fortnight of fighting.

The czar's troops broke out with a heavy drive westward against important Galician city of Stanislaw. They attacked on a seventeen-mile front, crumpling in the Austro-German line and capturing the town of Tlumacz, fifteen miles southeast of Stanislaw and surrounding heights. The German war office this afternoon admitted a German retreat on a front of nearly fifteen miles. The enemy's lines were broken and Russian cavalry has joined in pursuing the Austro-German detachments now in disorderly flight. Petrograd reported.

Further north the Russians continued their advance along the Sereth river. The Russian war office announced this afternoon the capture of more than eight thousand men in the Sereth fighting of Saturday and Sunday. The German war office also announced resumption of heavy fighting in the region east of Kovel.

Germans Fall Back
BERLIN, Aug. 8.—Under attack by a strong Russian force, German troops have been forced to fall back to previously prepared positions on the Tlumacz-Otynia line southeast of Stanislaw. It was officially announced this afternoon.

On the whole eastern front fighting at some places of intense character has broken out. The engagements are growing more lively, particularly from the river Sereth south. At some places Russian attacks have been repulsed.

Near Zarecz on the River Stochod front, repeated Russian attacks were repulsed with heavy Russian losses. West of Lutsk fortress the fighting was renewed this morning.

Northwest of Zalocze on the Sereth river front, Russian attacks failed and south of the same point, a German counter attack stopped the enemy. The Germans taking 709 prisoners. The German troops have extended their gains on the Bialy Czeremosz valley in the Carpathians.

Lemberg Evacuation Ordered
ZURICH, Aug. 28.—The Austrian authorities ordered the evacuation of Lemberg by civilians on August 4, according to a delayed dispatch received here from Bucharest Tuesday. The rapid Russian advance south of Brody was given as the reason for the order.

COAST DISAPPOINTED EXPECTED DIVER TRADER STAYS OUT

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—After an all night vigil by watchers along the coast from Eastport to Boston, the anticipated arrival of another German merchant submarine failed to materialize Tuesday. Following a report of Lowell W. Dunn, lookout at Cross Island, that he had observed two submarines rise to the surface and then submerge again, the entire coast of New England was stirred to watchfulness.

It was expected that, if Dunn's report was true, the mysterious craft would have been seen or turned into a port along the Maine coast before dawn today.

Both the Portsmouth and Charlestown navy yards were insistent that no United States submarines were in Maine waters and a high official of the Fore river shipyards declared that there were no British submarines in the Canadian waters that might stray down the Maine coast.

STUART RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—President Wilson Tuesday accepted the resignation of Judge Thomas D. Stuart of the first judicial circuit of Hawaii. The vacancy will be filled in a few days. Attorney General Gregory said.

DIES AT STATION

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 8.—Mrs. S. Thompson, 65, died suddenly at the Union station here Tuesday while enroute from Lake Crystal, Minn., to her home at Strum, Wis.

MACHINERY ACCIDENT SINKS BREMEN DECLARES BERLINER TAGEBLATT

BERNE, Aug. 8.—The Berliner Tageblatt announces that the German submarine Bremen, which was to have arrived at an American port, has been sunk through an accident to her machinery, according to a dispatch received here this afternoon.

THIAUMONT WORK FALLS TO GERMANS IN FIERY ATTACK

Bloody Battle Is Still Raging Around Redoubt; Germans Launched Five Attacks

REPULSED AT FLEURY

By Repeated Onslaughts Teutons Force Way Into Work Recaptured Last Week by the French

PARIS, Aug. 8.—German troops recaptured the strongly fortified Thiaumont work northeast of Verdun in a most powerful assault early Tuesday morning. It was officially announced at the war office. A bloody battle is still raging around the redoubt.

Following a night of terrific bombardment, the Germans directed five most violent attacks against the French positions from Fleury village to the Thiaumont position. Very large forces were employed in these attacks which were continued, regardless of heavy losses.

At Fleury village the Germans were completely repulsed, suffering heavily. By repeated onslaughts a Teutonic force finally fought its way into the Thiaumont work which was recaptured last week by the French in their counter offensive.

The French immediately counter-attacked and desperate fighting was going on at this point when the last dispatches were filed to the war office.

BELIEVE ITALIANS ABOUT TO OPEN MAJOR OFFENSIVE

LONDON, Aug. 8.—That the heavy attacks launched by the Italians on the Isonzo mark the beginning of a new and powerful Italian offensive, is the opinion of several correspondents whose dispatches were received here Tuesday.

Italian artillery has been shelling Austrian works around Monfalcone for several days. Italian infantry attacks Saturday and Sunday developed more power than have any sections on the Isonzo front in many weeks.

TORRANCE HURT

Alderman William Torrance, former mayor, is confined to his home, 1231 Madison street, as the result of an accident this morning while he was supervising the removal of a fire escape iron stairs on the Majestic building. A rope supporting the free end of the stairs broke, and the heavy frame struck Mr. Torrance on the left heel, tearing away part of the shoe. The foot is badly lacerated. No bones were broken.

ITALIAN NAVAL FORCE DEFEATED IN ADRIATIC FIGHT, SAYS BERLIN

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., Aug. 8.—Austrian and Italian naval forces engaged in a fight in the Adriatic on August 2 while the Austrians were returning from a raid. It was announced in an official statement from the Austrian admiralty received here today. The Italians were hit and turning disappeared southward.

Torpedo Boat Damaged

The Austrian admiralty admitted that the Austrian torpedo boat Magnet was damaged by an enemy submarine on the same day.

Austrian torpedo boats on August 2 shelled military objects at Wolfegg, destroying an aeroplane shed, setting fire to a factory and doing other damage," the admiralty statement said. "On the return the boats were joined by the cruiser Aspern and developed an engagement with an Italian flotilla composed of one cruiser and six destroyers. The Italians were hit and turned southward and disappeared. The Austrian units returned unharmed.

"On the morning of the same day five hostile aeroplanes bombarded Durazzo without any damage. They

EXTRAVAGANCE IN PENSION AWARDS IS LAID TO BRINDLEY

Supervisor Guenther Attacks County Judge's Administration of the Mothers' Fund

JUDGE TO MEET BOARD

Will Explain Situation at the Afternoon Session of the Special Board Meeting

Supervisor E. W. Guenther, representative of the eleventh ward in the county board, charged Judge John Brindley with extravagance in payment of mother's pensions, during a discussion of the need of an additional 1916 appropriation for the pension fund at a special meeting held on Tuesday. Guenther flatly contradicted statements of the county judge in reference to his recommendation for the 1916 fund at the annual board meeting. Judge Brindley asked for an appropriation of about $14,000.

"I considered the sum of $21,000 about right for the 1916 appropriation," Guenther declared. "I went to Judge Brindley and he said the figure was too large. He recommended $2,000. The appropriation was cut to $5,000.

"Too Liberal"
"The more funds we place in the hands of the county judge," Guenther said, "the more liberal he will be with his expenditures. I hold that the county is too liberal with mother's pension payments. The families were never starving before.

"Our county officers are delinquent, and we must get after them." Guenther charged that the wife of a man by the name of Will Otto, who he said was found insane here, and who went to Minnesota, where it is said he is employed, is drawing a sum from the pension fund without right.

I have asked the county judge and the district attorney to go after this man, or look into the case, with a view of making him support his family, but they have not," Guenther declared.

Supervisor John L. Ash declared that a woman in his ward, whom he asked be given $10 a month, was given $20 a month, and that her rent amounts to the sum she gets from the county.

Burdick Upholds Law
Poor Commissioner Sol Burdick told the board that in his opinion the pension law is working out in the proper manner.

An argument ensued when certain members asked that Judge Brindley be asked to appear on the floor of the board chamber to explain the working out of the law here.

Judge Brindley was asked to talk to the board at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The matter was tabled at the morning session.

It is probable that a sum not larger (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

DETECTIVE THINKS I. W. W. FRAT MAN IS FAMOUS OUTLAW

Survivor of Gun-battle at Rochelle, Ill., Says Otto Gordon Is Robert Chester

WANTED FOR SHOOTING

He Drove Off Detectives and Escaped After Shooting One in Raid on "Fence"

Is Otto Gordon, University of California, fraternity man, gunman and member of the I. W. W., Robert Ford Chester, notorious gunfighter upon whose head there is a reward of $300 for shooting W. L. Fairweather, Milwaukee railroad detective, at Rochelle, Ill., last November? A. D. Garrow, a railroad detective of this city, who was in the Rochelle battle, thinks he is. Police are awaiting identification from Rochelle to decide Garrow's claim.

In I. W. W. Gang
Gordon was arrested here Monday evening as one of the party of I. W. W. members who held up a brakeman and attempted to shoot Detective Daniel Deneen. When he was arrested a vicious automatic revolver was taken from him. Chester, the Rochelle bad man, used two automatics in his battle with the railroad sleuths.

"I got a good look at Chester's face when he was fighting in that Rochelle scrap," Garrow told a TRIBUNE reporter. "This man Gordon looks exactly like him. The description of Chester varies in several details from that of Gordon, but I know that description was picked up from hearsay, and it may be wrong. If this isn't Chester, I never saw two men so alike."

The police have photographed Gordon, and will send a picture to Rochelle, together with a minute description, for identification. Garrow is contemplating bringing here a Rochelle officer who was well acquainted with Chester.

Was Fierce Battle

The Rochelle battle was one of the fiercest between crooks and policemen in the history of Illinois. Fairweather and several other railroad officers and policemen visited a suspected "fence" with a search warrant, to look for property stolen from box cars. As they entered the house, Chester and another opened fire at close range. Fairweather dropped with a bullet in his chest, and the fight raged for several minutes. "Monroe Red," a notorious gunman, was wounded and captured, as was Maud Odell Chester, wife of the gunman. Chester himself escaped. A reward of $300 was offered for his arrest.

Gordon, with Howard Burgess, who attempted to kill Deneen, Harry Johnson and John May, are to be arraigned probably Tuesday afternoon on charges of assault with intent to kill. All are members of the I. W. W. Two other suspects arrested after the affair have been released.

HUGHES DECLARES HE ANSWERED CALL OF ENTIRE NATION

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Charles Evans Hughes is out-Roosevelting Roosevelt in strenuousness of campaigning. Arriving here Tuesday the republican nominee was fresh as a daisy after a Detroit trip, that kept him on the jump, in fiercely hot weather, from early morning to late at night, included six speeches and a break-neck bit of auto speeding around the town. Moreover, Hughes seemed likely to achieve a new record in Chicago for stumblers.

Here is Hughes' own definition of why he is a candidate for the presidency, announced at Monday night's meeting in Detroit.

"Because I believe that the time had come when if the American people wanted to have a government which represented these ideals of faithful conduct, erect in self-respect, to make our country ready for the future, and I could do something I should have held myself most ignominious of men if I had not responded to that call."

WOMAN WON'T ADMIT DEFEAT

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 8.—Dr. Eva Harding, the Sun Flower state "fighting woman" would not admit Tuesday that the Rev. H. J. Corwine has beaten her in the democratic nomination for congress in the First district. Corwine claimed the nomination by about 200 votes.

KILLS ESTRANGED WIFE

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 8.—Charles W. Clark Tuesday morning shot and killed his wife and then shot himself. The two had not been living together for some time.

PROMINENT BUSINESS MAN AND FRIEND OF WIFE GO TO DEATH OVER STEP-OFF IN THE RIVER

THE RIVER'S VICTIMS

Walter O. Hosely, prominent merchant and director of the chamber of commerce, who drowned with Miss Rena Coles of Chicago.

Miss Rena Coles, Chicago milliner, and friend of Mrs. Hosely, whose first outing on Mississippi ended in death.

Bakers Prepare To Boost Price As Flour Soars

La Crosse is again on the road to six-cent bread. La Crosse bakers told The TRIBUNE on Tuesday that only because of big supplies of flour on hand are they able to sell a pound loaf at five cents. The present supplies were purchased weeks ago at a figure much below the present sky-high prices. Flour prices threaten to soar to a level with the "war prices" which occurred following the beginning of the European war and broke all records for the commodity in years.

"We have supplies of flour which will last about two weeks," one baker said. "Unless the price of flour drops before this is exhausted we shall be forced to increase the loaf one cent." Other bakers said they would increase their prices when larger firms took the initiative. Increasing the price of bread will be accompanied by increased prices for cakes, cookies, and various confections made by bakers here. Some have already boosted the price of fancy baking.

SAYS DIME LOAF WOULD PROVE A MUTUAL BENEFIT

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 8.—Ten cent bread was the keynote sounded at Tuesday afternoon's session of the National Association of Master Bakers by C. N. Power of Pueblo, Col.

"The overhead expense on the jitney loaf is out of all proportion to the value of the article," he said. "The interest of the consumer and producer will be better served by the dime loaf. It will be practically twice the weight of the present five-cent loaf, local standards prevailing. The baker cannot give the best value in nutritive, digestible bread for a nickel. The buyer has no right to expect the same value in two five-cent loaves as in one dime loaf."

MILWAUKEE BARLEY MARKET

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 8.—Barley was 1c to 2c higher today. Sales: One car No. 4, 79c. Very fancy 84c to 85c; choice, 80c to 83c; fair to good 78c to 79c.

TWO CONCERTS IN THE PARKS

Two bands concerts are scheduled for the city parks this week. The first will be given this evening in Riverside park, when the West Salem band will come for its third engagement of the season. The second comes Friday evening, when the La Crosse Municipal band will make its second public appearance, this time in Copeland park.

AUSTRALIANS DRAW FIRE OF SPIRITED GERMAN ASSAULTS

Teutons Bombard Heavily Following Repulse Monday of Four of Their Attacks

BRITISH FIRE IS CERTAIN

Diaries of Germans in Trenches Indicate Fire Cuts Fighters from Food and Water

LONDON, Aug. 8.—British troops pushed their lines forward to the outskirts of the village of Guillemont in a resumption of the Somme offensive last night. General Haig reported to the war office this afternoon. Fighting is proceeding in the outskirts of the town near the railway station.

The advance was made east of Trones wood, in conjunction with the French operating north of Hardecourt on the British right wing.

The Germans last night heavily bombarded the positions won by the Australians north and northeast of Pozieres but did not resume the counter attacks which resulted so disastrously yesterday.

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—Anglo-French forces continued their stubborn attacks against the German lines between Thiepval and the Somme last night, especially in the region of Pozieres, Bazentin-Le-Petit and south of Maurepas.

Bitter hand to hand fighting developed at some points but the fighting generally was favorable to the Germans it was announced officially this afternoon.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Threatened with enforced retreat from the strong Leipzig redoubt and the fortified village of Thiepval, the Germans are making every effort to dislodge the Australians from Hill 160, standing 500 feet above the Pobieres-Thiepval highway.

A heavy bombardment of this sector of the British front followed the repulse of four German attacks in (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

GENERAL ARMY BILL PASSED BY SENATE WITHOUT ROLL-CALL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—With most of its foes absent, the general army bill appropriating $267,000,000 for national defense by land passed the senate Tuesday without a record roll-call.

The total for preparedness is now $635,784,000. This includes $267,000,000 for the army; $315,000,000 for the navy; $25,000,000 for fortifications; $1,225,000 for West Point and $27,559,000 for general deficiencies.

BRIDE WITNESS OF TRAGEDY IN WHICH SPOUSE AND CHUM ARE TAKEN AWAY

Walter B. Rose Tries Twice to Rescue the Struggling Pair But Fails in the Effort

BOTH BODIES RECOVERED

Picnic Party on the Mississippi Ends in a Double Catastrophe

A step-off on the Mississippi claimed the lives of Walter O. Hosely, prominent Main street merchant, director of the chamber of commerce, and Miss Rena Coles, Chicago, Monday afternoon. Sky-larking in the water, Mr. Hosely and Miss Coles went over the edge of a sand-bar on the Wisconsin side, opposite Richmond, Minn., and died in spite of rescue attempts made by Walter B. Rose, who was in the water with them. Mrs. Hosely, a bride of only two months, witnessed the tragedy from the bank.

Both bodies were brought back to La Crosse Monday evening. The body of Miss Coles was recovered within a few minutes after the tragedy, having floated to a wing-dam a block below the sand-bar where the party went into the water. That of Mr. Hosely was found by Wm. Reid, Trempealeau, at 8:30, just at the spot where his wife and friend saw him disappear. When the body was recovered, it was evident that a cramp had caused him to drown. He was a good swimmer, and would undoubtedly have been able to save himself otherwise.

Miss Coles was an intimate friend of Mrs. Hosely. She came to La Crosse Saturday, to spend the weekend with her friend. She was to have returned on Sunday, but Mr. and Mrs. Hosely persuaded her to remain over for another day, in order to enjoy the new experience of a day's outing on the Mississippi river.

Mr. and Mrs. Hosely, Miss Coles and Mr. Rose left the city about 10:30 Monday morning in the Rose launch. They carried picnic baskets, and intended to spend the day along the river. Cruising up-river, they came to the long sandy beach which runs along the channel side of Pigeon Island. The day was hot, and the water and smooth sand so inviting that they decided to go bathing. The launch was tied up on the lower side of a wing-dam a block south of the beach, and the party hastened to the bathing place.

Had Marked Step-off
The treacherous step-off which caused the double tragedy was not unknown to the bathers, for before the women members of the party entered the water, Mr. Hosely and Mr. Rose had gone carefully around the limits of the sand-bar. They found the step-off at the end of the bar, and marked it to be avoided.

After three quarters of an hour in the water Mrs. Hosely, sitting on the beach beside her husband, whom she had covered with the sand, called to Miss Coles and Mr. Rose that lunch was ready. Mr. Hosely ran into the water to wash the sand from his bathing suit, and Mr. Rose made his way toward the shore. Mr. Hosely, meantime, had seized the hands of Miss Coles, and was laughingly drawing her out to deeper water. His back was turned, and unconsciously the laughing pair drew near the step-off.

"Look out for the step-off," called Mr. Rose.

He had scarcely spoken, when with the single cry "Step-off!" Mr. Hosely fell backward and disappeared under the water. Miss Coles clung to him as he went down and was drawn into the current with him.

Girl Grips Hosely
The two came to the surface at once, struggling madly. Miss Coles had seized Mr. Hosely about the waist, and his swimming skill was useless in her desperate grip. They thrashed about in the water, and the current began to carry them downstream from the edge of the bar.

Mr. Rose, although an inexperienced swimmer, plunged across the bar to the step-off and dashed into the water. He reached the struggling pair, and Miss Coles pulled him under with her free arm. He extricated (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Barron's

WE CLOSE AT NOON ON WEDNESDAY.
IN THE PIECE GOODS SECTION OF THE BARGAIN BASEMENT
For Wednesday Morning Only

Bates, Toile Du Nord, Red Seal Gingham in pieces up to 20 yards.
Light colors, dark colors, plaids, checks and stripes. Buy your Fall gingham

Now at 10c per yard

You save 5c on every yard.
LOTS OF OTHER BARGAINS EQUALLY AS GOOD.

How Thin People Can Put On Flesh

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of it? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed through your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food didn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of the folk who are thin. Their digestive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every one of those single Sargol tablets. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy "stay-there" fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to charge weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and Hoeschler Bros. and all other good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.

FAMOUS BOOK IS PUT INTO FILMS

The quaint story of the adoption, education and later-day romance of Miss Petticoats, granddaughter of an old New Bedford whaling captain, has been immortalized on the screen through the efforts of William A. Brady, who has had the famous story of "Miss Petticoats" adapted to motion pictures, and filmed under the direction of Harley Knoles, with a strong cast, headed by Alice Brady, supported by such star players as Arthur Ashley, Johnny Hines, Alec B. Francis and Mildred Havens.

A company consisting of 28 actors and actresses invaded the quiet city of New Bedford, on the rocky coast of the state of Massachusetts, and there proceeded to film the story of Miss Petticoats, who, in the story in Dwight Tilton's book, is a New Bedford girl, the granddaughter of a fishing schooner captain. The life of the girl while on the old fishing vessel, in the cotton mills, and while secretary and companion in a fashionable home has been photographed in its entirety in the atmosphere and locale used by the author in the book. An old schooner was prepared, where the scenes were filmed, and Miss Brady, the star in this feature photoplay, spent several days in one of the big mills watching the girls at work, later doing work herself. It is not exaggerating matters in the least in saying that no motion picture has yet been produced in which the producing company was so successful in procuring exactly the required locale for all its scenes as this feature version of "Miss Petticoats" which is the attraction coming at the Bijou theater on Wednesday only, this week.

Resinol Soap

a friend to poor complexions

Resinol Soap is not only unusually cleansing and softening, but its regular use helps nature give to the skin and hair that beauty of perfect health which it is impossible to imitate. Tendancy to pimples is lessened, redness and roughness disappear, and in a very short time the complexion usually becomes clear, fresh and velvety.

The soothing, restoring influence that makes this possible is the Resinol which this soap contains and which physicians have prescribed for over twenty years, in Resinol Ointment, in the care of skin and scalp troubles. If the skin is in bad condition through neglect or an unwise use of cosmetics, use a little Resinol Ointment at first. Resinol Soap and Ointment are sold by all druggists. For sample free, write to Dept. 30-K, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

—Washington Star.

AID GIVEN FARMERS BENEFITS BANKERS RUSSELL DECLARES

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 8.—"Wisconsin bankers occupy a most progressive position which they have assumed in aiding rational agricultural development."

This was the statement of Dean H. L. Russell, Tuesday afternoon before the group of 500 bankers, who are here attending the annual convention.

"Bankers and commercial clubs are joining hands in helping to finance the needs of the settler with reference to the introduction of livestock and other agricultural requirements. The rural credit problem in Wisconsin is being solved by home talent in a most sane and healthful way."

One of the features of the opening of the convention Tuesday morning was the address of S. M. Smith of Janesville, president of the association.

"A rural credit law is now a part of our banking system," said Mr. Smith. "How it will work out, no one at this time can say, but it will complicate banking and credit problems and will mean more expense and red tape supervision and reports. I do not like to appear a destructive critic, but it seems to me that this law is unnecessarily cumbersome and will not aid the situation that it is claimed demanded it."

At the agricultural college Tuesday afternoon there were talks on live stock by Dr. A. S. Alexander; on cow testing by A. J. Glover, Fort Atkinson, and a bovine tuberculosis administration by Dean H. L. Russell, C. P. Norgard, commissioner of agriculture, and Dr. O. H. Eliason, state veterinarian.

Ladies attending the convention will be given special demonstration work in home economic subjects at the home economic building. Supper tonight will be at Bernard's park, following a boat ride around Lake Mendota.

WOULD PROBE CHARGES AGAINST HIGH OFFICERS

LONDON, Aug. 8.—That distinguished British officers have been accused in the mysterious charges in circulation recently was officially confirmed by War Minister Lloyd George in offering a bill for an investigation of the charges in the house of commons Monday afternoon.

OIL MAY DROP FURTHER

LIMA, Ohio, Aug. 8.—That further reductions may be made in crude oil prices throughout the country, was indicated Monday when Kansas and Oklahoma oil was cut ten cents per barrel. The new price is $1.15.

It's well enough to put your trust in Providence, but it's unwise to go around looking for holes for Providence to pull you out of.

MIKAMI, JAP. STARS IN EASTERN TENNIS

Hashishiro Mikami.

Hashishiro Mikami, Jap tennis star and doubles partner of the better known Kumagai, has been showing a new burst of speed in his eastern matches. He had been considered not the strongest singles player of the two, but has been besting some of the fastest of the eastern stars.

PROPERTY DAMAGED NEAR SPRING GROVE IN BIG WIND STORM

Farm Buildings Hurlled from Foundations by Wind Coming on Heels of Down-pouring Rain

SPRING GROVE, Minn.—(Special)—A heavy wind storm, accompanied by torrents of rain occurred about two miles north of Spring Grove Friday morning at 7 o'clock and in its path of destruction demolished Ole J. Arneson's $5,000 new barn which he has just finished erecting. The loss is fully covered by insurance. Mr. Arneson's silo was entirely demolished and buildings hurled in the air and dropped ten or fifteen feet from their foundations.

John Gran's silo was also demolished and Martin Ikes' wind mill was leveled to the ground. George P. Arnsen reports the loss of his corn crib and silo and Conrad Roverud of his silo. Reports of other damage have not been made.

Local and Personal
Bernt O. Garness of Newhouse, was a caller here on Friday Friday.

Peter Oefstedahl and family autted to Canton Friday afternoon. Mr. Spenser of Chicago called here Friday on George P. Arnsen. Mr. Clifford of Caledonia, was a business caller of this village Friday.

Lars Hoel is enjoying a vacation at La Crosse this week. Miss Krause of Winona is spending the week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Gifford Guburd.

E. O. Steneroden of Wilmington, was a visitor here Friday. O. K. Bagley called here Friday afternoon and reported that the wind was very severe in Black Hammer Friday morning.

Natural Eloquence
Oh, let me roar and shout things.
Nor chide my thoughtless way.
If I thought more about things
I might have less to say.
—Washington Star.

HARVEST HANDS RETURN TELLING OF POOR CROPS

Laborers from Northwest Harvest Fields Say Crops Are Exceptionally Poor and There Is No Work

M'GREGOR, Iowa.—(Special).—For the last ten days many carloads of laborers bound for the harvest fields of the northwest have been passing through McGregor over the Milwaukee road. Several who went earlier in the season were in McGregor yesterday. They were returning east as they said they found crops too poor to warrant staying in South Dakota where they had gone. According to their story crops are poor in that section except corn which is in pretty good condition. They said that a hot wave coming when the wheat was in the milk had damaged it beyond hope. Thousands of harvest hands who have gone out there looking for work are stranded as they tell the story and are coming back as fast as they can. 775 boarding the east bound freight train on which they left the Dakotas.

Local and Personal
F. W. Myer of Fort Wayne, Ind., has been in Clayton county and McGregor this summer gathering data for a history of Clayton county. The work has now gone to press and it is claimed by those who have seen the manuscript and illustrations that the book will be much the best historical record that has been made of the county. The only Clayton county history now in existence was written thirty-five years ago.

While playing tag Friday evening with her brothers and sisters the nine year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McMillan fell into a ditch and fractured her right arm just above the elbow. The McMillan family live on a farm six miles south of McGregor.

A thunder shower which fell Friday night gave this vicinity the first rain of appreciable amount which has fallen in five weeks.

M. Ragley, wife and baby have taken a cottage on the heights for the remainder of the season. Mr. Ragley is one of the engineers on the improvement work on the Milwaukee at North McGregor.

The Misses Heck have let the contract for a new residence on their lot on Main street.

Families from West Union, Garavillo and Cedar Rapids are among those who are occupying summer cottages on McGregor Heights.

A fine new addition to the flotilla of launches at the McGregor dock is the Kiowa built and owned by Dr. W. Knapp. The boat accommodates eight to ten passengers and will be for hire.

Services at the Congregational church have been discontinued for the month of August to give Rev. Cutler pastor of the church a holiday.

Mrs. Lyle Bean and little son from Waterloo are guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Rice.

Friends have received word of the marriage at Fairhope, Ala., of Miss Olive Wood to Mr. James Gaston and Miss Nettie Pohman to Mr. Axel Johnson. The two young ladies were residents of McGregor until a few years when they went to Fairhope where their families have fruit ranches.

Miss Eva R. Jordan has been in Detroit the past week, called there by the illness of her sister Mrs. Strong.

Miss Vera Brennan arrived home Friday from New York city where she had been visiting her brother Jack.

Mrs. Hermine Karberg of Chicago has been the guest of Mrs. Otto Klein and family for several days. Mr. Bruce had a pocketbook containing quite a sum of money while teaching his boy to swim at the dock.

SUMMER WEARINESS Horsford's Acid Phosphate Quickly relieves hot weather languor, exhaustion and nervousness.

'UNDILUTED AMERICANISM'
SLOGAN OF HYPHENATES

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 8.—"Undiluted Americanism" was adopted as its slogan by the convention of the Central German-American alliance here, following spirited sessions in which President Wilson was charged with "sympathy for his motherland, England," and his foreign policies drastically criticized.

30 Cents per Pound

More of it sold in Wisconsin than any other one brand.

"Old Time Coffee" is composed of coffee grown under most favorable conditions and selected for "cup" quality. 30 years' experience in blending gives it the rich aroma and superior flavor. Cleaned twice before roasting and once after, roasted in pure air, it comes to you fresh and full flavored. That's why more Old Time Coffee is sold in Wisconsin than any other one brand.

John Hoffman & Sons Co.
Milwaukee

Note: Our name on Canned Foods guarantees highest quality always

GREAT DECLINE IN CROPS IS THE FEDERAL FORECAST

Wheat Crop, It Is Estimated, Will Be 38.6 Per Cent Less Than That of Last Year

IS THE WORST IN YEARS

Oats One Big Crop to Show Increase, Estimated Crop Being 1,674,000,000 Bushels, as Against 1,540,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—A "measured" crop of about 654,000,000 bushels of wheat was forecasted today by the department of agriculture. The crop in prospect declined 105,000,000 bushels from July 1 to August 1, it was stated.

The estimated decline is 38.6 per cent over last year's crop.

The greatest decline in crops in years is forecasted in the estimates. Corn, which last year reached a yield of 3,055,000,000 bushels, will this year reach, but 2,777,000,000 bushels, it is predicted. A great decline in barley is forecasted, while the estimated rye yield is placed at 41,900,000 bushels against 49,200,000 last year.

Oats shows an increase, the forecasted yield being 1,674,000,000 against 1,540,000,000 last year.

Winter estimates: Wheat, 455,000,000 bushels against 655,000,000 last year. Spring wheat, 199,000,000 bushels against 357,000,000 bushels last year.

All wheat, 654,000,000 bushels against 1,012,000,000 bushels last year.

Corn, 2,777,000,000 bushels against 3,055,000,000 bushels last year.

Oats, 1,674,000,000 bushels against 1,540,000,000 bushels last year.

Barley, 195,000,000 bushels against 237,000,000 last year.

Rye, 41,900,000 bushels against 49,200,000 last year.

Buckwheat, 17,000,000 bushels against 15,800,000 last year.

White potatoes, 384,000,000 bushels against 359,000,000 last year.

Sweet potatoes, 71,000,000 bushels against 73,300,000 last year.

Tobacco, 1,197,000,000 pounds against 1,061,000,000 last year.

Flax, 14,100,000 bushels against 13,500,000 last year.

Rice 34,200,000 bushels against 28,900,000 last year.

Hay, tame, 84,600,000 tons against 85,200,000 last year.

Cotton, 12,900,000 bales against 11,200,000 bales last year.

Sugar beets, 7,570,000 tons against 6,510,000 last year.

Apples, 71,600,000 barrels against 76,700,000 last year.

Peaches, 40,300,000 bushels against 50,000,000 last year.

Crop conditions, August 1, were: Spring wheat, 81.4; corn, 79.4; oats, 40.1; barley, 75.3; rye, 83.4; buckwheat, 89; white potatoes, 95.4; sweet potatoes, 87.1; flax, 178.1; hay, tame, 106.6 a ton; cotton, 12.6 a pound; apples, 2.60 a barrel (July 15); peaches, 19.1 barrels (July 15).

Estimated yield per acre of crops: Winter wheat, 13.8 bushels; spring wheat, 11.2 bushels; all wheat, 12.9 bushels; corn, 25.6 bushels; oats, 31.4 bushels; barley, 25.1 bushels; rye, 15.3 bushels; buckwheat, 20.9 bushels; white potatoes, 100.3 bushels; sweet potatoes, 96.5 bushels; tobacco, 355.3 pounds; flax, 8.9 bushels; hay, tame, 1.61 tons; cotton 173.4 pounds; sugar beets, 10.7 tons.

The price August 1, in cents per bushel unless otherwise indicated. All wheat, 107.1; corn, 79.4; oats, 40.1; barley, 75.3; rye, 83.4; buckwheat, 89; white potatoes, 95.4; sweet potatoes, 87.1; flax, 178.1; hay, tame, 106.6 a ton; cotton, 12.6 a pound; apples, 2.60 a barrel (July 15); peaches, 19.1 barrels (July 15).

"When men are rightly occupied their amusement grows out of their work, as the color petals out of a fruitful flower."—John Ruskin.

Say Zu Zu to the Grocerman and hand him a nickel. He'll come back with the snappiest ginger snaps you ever put in your mouth. Spicy, crisp and always fresh.

ZU ZU
GINGER SNAPS
NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

END OF PHILLY STRIKE IN SIGHT

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—The end of the strike of car men in this city is in sight, according to officials of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit before hostilities have hardly begun. Thomas E. Mitten, president of the affected concern, declared today that fifty-two of the strikers have already returned.

On the other hand union officials not only deny this, but claim 1,200 motormen and conductors have quit.

WILSON WILLING MEXICO BE ISSUE OF THE CAMPAIGN

By ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—President Wilson will accept Mexico as the campaign issue if Republican Candidate Hughes and his followers continue to indicate they desire the fight for the presidency waged on this question.

This was the declaration of those close to the president Tuesday as preparations were begun for the fight which will determine whether the democrats are to remain in power. President Wilson has agreed to open the democratic campaign around September first regardless of congress.

INSIST ON HUGHES TALKING AT TOWNS ALONG UPPER RIVER

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 8.—Commenting on Charles Evans Hughes' reported abandonment of plans to talk at river towns from Winona to St. Paul, John R. Mitchell of the republican arrangement committee today said such talks had been heavily advertised and that his committee would insist on Hughes talking.

GRAIN THIRD DAMAGED

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 8.—The grain in parts of North Dakota, Minnesota and South Dakota has been damaged one-third by blight, heat and rust, Louis W. Hill, head of the Hill railroad interests, said late this afternoon. Western North Dakota and Montana crops generally are good, he said. South Dakota was hard hit by heat.

GERMANY MAKES PREPARATIONS FOR WINTER CAMPAIGN

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—Though the feeling exists in some quarters that peace may come before Christmas with the defeat of the Anglo-French offensive, Germany is making every preparation for another winter campaign.

In large storehouses in Berlin thousands of army overcoats fresh from the manufacturers, are being packed away, ready for shipment to the front. Several thousand auto trucks are also being gotten ready for winter fighting.

HUGHES WILL TALK FROM REAR OF HIS TRAIN AT WINONA

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 8.—Charles Evans Hughes begins to stump the northwest at Winona, Minn., at 7:55 a. m. Wednesday. His first speech of a whirlwind series extending from St. Paul west to the coast will be from the rear platform of his special Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul train at Winona.

At Winona, the Hughes party will be met by Chester A. Congdon, Minnesota member of the republican national committee; Eric L. Thornton of the republican state central committee, and C. A. Severance, prominent St. Paul republican.

Hughes and Mrs. Hughes will lunch privately at the St. Paul hotel and will deliver an open air address on the parade grounds of the Minneapolis army. He and Mrs. Hughes will dine privately Wednesday evening and at 8:30 p. m. address a mass meeting in the St. Paul municipal armory.

TRAIN KILLS RACINE MAN

RACINE, Wis., Aug. 8.—Charles Umland, 67 years old, was instantly killed Monday night when he attempted to cross the Rapids road in front of a passenger train on the Northwestern road. His body was literally ground to pieces.

LAKE GIVES UP BODY

RACINE, Wis., Aug. 8.—The waves gave up their prey today when the body of William Heperman was washed up on the shore north of the public bathing beach. He disappeared Sunday while swimming.

EVERY DRUGGIST CARRIES A FULL STOCK OF S.S.S.

You'll Recognize S.S.S. Cartons

On the shelves of your drugist by the absence of any showy designing—more so will you recognize why S.S.S. is the Standard Blood Purifier after giving it an opportunity to rebuild and strengthen your "run down" blood with its wonderful tonic qualities.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.
ATLANTA, GA.

THERE IS HEALTH FOR YOUR BLOOD

25% Forced Out Sale 25%

We must vacate our present location before September 1st and in order to make room for our new stock in our new location (607 Main Street) we are going to sacrifice all our stock of

Electric Fixtures, Glassware, Heating Devices, Lamps, Washing Machines, Batteries, etc., at a 25% DISCOUNT.

for two weeks, from Monday, August 7th, to and including Saturday, the 19th.

The Electric Shop

ARTHUR HOLBEK, Manager
Successors to W. A. Grimes & Co.
Corner Sixth and Main

25% 25%

THE LA CROSSE TRIBUNE

Published Every Afternoon Except Sunday at 201-203 South Fifth Street, La Crosse, Wis.

A Newspaper of the People

A. M. BRAYTON, F. H. BURGESS, Ed. and Pub. Bus. Mgr. Daily by Carrier.....$3.00 Per Year Entered as Second-class Matter, June 22, 1904, at the Postoffice at La Crosse, Wis., under the Act of Congress of 1879. THE TRIBUNE IS A MEMBER OF THE LEE NEWSPAPER SYNDICATE. Both Phones—Business Office 323-1 Editorial Department 323-2 Advertising Representatives—Cone, Lorenzen & Goodman, Advertising Building, Chicago, 225 Fifth Avenue, New York. Bumble Building, Kansas City, Mo.

THE LA CROSSE TRIBUNE Sworn Detailed Statement for the Month of July

JULY 1916 DAILY AVERAGE 9847

1—Sat. 9,618	16—Sunday. 9,998
2—Sunday. 9,841	17—Mon. 9,857
3—Mon. 9,526	18—Tues. 9,871
4—Tues. 9,551	19—Wed. 9,906
5—Wed. 9,582	20—Thur. 9,916
6—Thur. 9,614	21—Fri. 9,934
7—Fri. 9,642	22—Sat. 9,934
8—Sat. 9,674	23—Sunday. 9,998
9—Sunday. 9,841	24—Mon. 9,857
10—Mon. 9,702	25—Tues. 9,871
11—Tues. 9,731	26—Wed. 9,906
12—Wed. 9,754	27—Thur. 9,916
13—Thur. 9,787	28—Fri. 9,934
14—Fri. 9,811	29—Sat. 9,934
15—Sat. 9,826	30—Sunday. 9,998
16—Sunday. 9,841	31—Mon. 9,857

Total circulation 256,203

Average 9,847

Circulation August 1. 10,320

I, Frank H. Burgess, business manager of the La Crosse Tribune, do solemnly swear that the actual number of copies of the paper named, printed and circulated during the month of July, 1916, was as above stated.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this first day of August, 1916.

Notary Public.

WEATHER U.S. Weather Bureau

Sunset tomorrow, 7:19 p. m. Sunrise tomorrow, 5:02 a. m.

W. L. Pct. Yesterday's Temperatures High, 86; low, 63; precipitation, 0.

Forecast: For Wisconsin: Fair tonight and probably Wednesday. Warmer Wednesday.

For Minnesota: Fair tonight and warmer west portion. Wednesday partly cloudy; probably showers in northwest portion. Warmer east and south portions.

For Iowa: Fair tonight and Wednesday. Warmer Wednesday and in west and central portions tonight.

Weather Conditions The warmest section this morning is over the north Atlantic states.

In the central and upper Mississippi valley, central states and upper lake region it is cooler, while in the northern plains states and Rocky mountain districts the temperature has again risen. Scattered showers have occurred in the northwest, and lake region while heavier rains are reported from the central districts and in southern New Mexico.

Roswell, N. H., reports a fall of 5.48 inches. The pressure is highest over Florida and lowest north of Montana.

This low will cause somewhat higher temperature in this section Wednesday but fair weather is probable for tonight and Wednesday.

DAILY RIVER BULLETIN Flood Stage Height Change.

St. Paul14 5.3 —0.6 La Crosse12 5.5 —0.2 St. Louis30 10.2 —0.1 New Orleans18 10.0 —0.3

River Forecast St. Paul to La Crosse: The river will fall during the next 48 hours.

TELEGRAPH STRIKE RUMORED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 8.—Rumors of a telegraph strike were current here this afternoon after a meeting yesterday of the Kansas City local of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America. W. B. Roberts, president of the local, said no decision was taken but that the sentiment of the men here favored a walkout unless an eight-hour day was granted with an increase of pay.

NOTED EDUCATOR DEAD

GREEN CASTLE, Iowa, Aug. 8.—Dr. John P. John, former president of De Pauw university and noted lecturer, died at his home here Monday of hardening of the arteries.

The Searchlight

SMOKING BY MACHINERY As tobacco testing includes a study of the ash and the aroma of the burning weed, a cigar has to be smoked in the presence of the expert tester to enable him to judge it. A cigar smoking machine has been devised for tobacco testing and one of them has lately been installed in the tobacco division of the Department of Agriculture. This machine will burn out four perfect cigars in an hour. It includes a simple blower outfit and a device which measures the air pressure that would be put upon the cigar in ordinary human respiration, as this point indicates in part the burning quality of the tobacco.

M'GOVERN OR HATTON—WHICH?

William H. Hatton and Francis E. McGovern are seeking the support of the progressive republicans of Wisconsin for the republican nomination for governor. To be nominated, either must get a substantial majority of the progressive vote.

Now the progressive republicans are interested in principles rather than in men, and therefore it is of vital importance that they unite upon a single candidate. In order to do so they must think alike, and if there is a right and a wrong in the case, and if we can rely upon the progressives* to think rightly, they will naturally unite upon a single conclusion and attain the end they desire.

It becomes necessary here to deal with the personal phase of the situation as it touches the working out of the principles for which progressive republicanism stands. The thing to do is to select that one of the two men who from his past record gives greater promise of becoming a useful agency for the development of good government. We shall grant the progressivism and the capability of both men, and deal with those elements that go to constructive work.

We expect there will be no challenge of the statement that HARMONY is the greatest essential of our largely co-operative method of government administration. A man who will work with others, who is ready to recognize the authority of the majority, who refuses to permit purely personal grievances to interfere with the progressive program, is the need of the hour.

In this particular McGovern and Hatton are antithetical. The former's ambition brooks no interference. He has permitted an accumulation of resentments created where differences of opinion raised obstacles to his own plans, to create a party schism and to foster animosity fatal to cohesive party undertakings. Let us enumerate.

In 1908 McGovern entered the race for United States senator against Stephenson after Hatton had come out. Senator La Follette declined to indicate a preference between the two, and while the claim for the senator's support lay with Hatton because of his great legislative service, and because La Follette had already gone to the front for McGovern in a political fight, McGovern became openly hostile to La Follette because he was not again made the favorite.

In 1910 it was known that Tom Morris and McGovern contemplated seeking the progressive republican franchise for governor. In order to eliminate the danger of having two candidates in the field, it was agreed that conferences should be held and plans for the withdrawal of one of them should be made. In the meantime it was understood that neither would make a formal announcement. Before any settlement could be reached McGovern announced his candidacy. Then, in the interest of party principles that would have been jeopardized had both entered the race, Morris withdrew. Upon the assumption that Senator La Follette had inclined toward Morris, McGovern's resentment grew.

In the republican national convention of 1912 McGovern was a delegate instructed for Senator La Follette. For the president of the convention, the senator's chief opponent was Theodore Roosevelt. In defiance of political principle, McGovern became Colonel Roosevelt's candidate for temporary chairman.

Despite the action of Senator La Follette in taking the stump for McGovern in order to defeat the stalwart nominee, this selfish and unfair move further disorganized the progressive.

The progressive organization would by now have reached the stage of disintegration were it not for one fact—the fact of McGovern's wanting influence. Bitterness had blinded his reason. Still a progressive in principle, he was not almost every man's enemy. Leadership in that cause was valuable.

Long before the conclusion of the late campaign of the Wisconsin legislature the strong leadership and important services of Senator Otto Bosshard had made him the recognized choice of the progressive republicans for governor. Many there were who urged him to announce his candidacy at the close of the legislative session. Bosshard deferred action pending some means of guarding against duplicate candidacies. McGovern was held in which there was substantial agreement, and within a day after a final conference between the two men, McGovern announced himself a candidate. His action was taken upon a "call" expressed by fragments of his old office-holding machine.

Again did the Wisconsin progressives swallow their chagrin and proceed to treat McGovern as one entitled to their consideration. Under the leadership of Hon. W. W. Goodland, of Madison, a great conference was called at Madison to agree upon a candidate. Mr. McGovern was especially anxious to be publicly declined to participate. The conference—the most widely representative of its kind ever held—met. Senator Bosshard announced that in order to establish the good faith of the meeting he would withdraw, regardless of the attitude of McGovern. The standing McGovern's refusal to participate, a large number of his friends had terminated the conference and made a decision for their man. The outcome was that W. H. Hatton was endorsed unanimously.

Mr. McGovern must know that he could not have been nominated without the support of a majority of the men who endorsed Bosshard in the first meeting. He must now know that he has not the ghost of a show without the support of a large percentage of the historic gathering that later endorsed Hatton. But he is still a candidate.

The Wisconsin progressives must unite upon one of these men to nominate either. Upon which one can more progressives unite?

After electing their man, the Wisconsin progressives have a great program to accomplish—a program requiring harmonious co-operation of the great minds of the state. With which of these men can most progress be made?

THE DEATH OF A NOBLE MAN

Harold Bell Wright, probably the ablest American novelist, has fresh from the presses a new story entitled, "When a Man's a Man". That title came to mind with the coming of yesterday's sad story. The Mississippi had collected its annual toll, and La Crosse paid with a man who was always a man.

It is empty to speak words of consolation to those to whom there is no human consolation. This is a case for Time, the Healer, and God, Who is Consolation. The soothing philosophy of "Thanatopsis" may help, but His Book is the Word of compassion whose leaves are not turned in vain by men and women in sorrow.

But while talk of sympathy has a hollow sound, at least may we pay to the departed a just obligation of appreciation. Walter O. Hosely was a dutiful and affectionate son. Than this, manhood has no firmer foundation, and it followed surely that he was a generous and affectionate brother and husband. With his fellows and business associates his relations were not only scrupulously honorable, but charming, with a tenderness and humor that drew friends to him and held them as in an embrace.

Year after year have we fed our "Water Babies" into the maw of the Father of Waters, but never have we paid dearer tribute to his tyranny.

BELL-ANS

Absolutely Removes Indigestion. One package proves it. 25cat all druggists.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

When Fashion Dictates "Thompson has made a discovery." "Indeed?" "Yes. He says that he had discovered that the more buttons there are on a woman's coat the greater the probability that it really fastens with hooks and eyes."—Puck.

The Question of Environment Prospective Tenant (viewing house)—"I think, after all, a flat would suit us better." The Caretaker—"Well, sir, for myself, I feel a flat so much like a prison; but then, of course, it all depends on what you're accustomed to."

His Idea of It The teacher, questioning her class about the graduation in the scale of existence, asked: "What comes next to man?" Little Tommy raised his hand anxiously. "Well, Tommy," interrogated the teacher, "what is it comes next to man?" Tommy, smarting under a sense of previous defeat, responded: "His undershirt, ma'am!"

Walter's Answer Walter had been to church and Sunday school alone for the first time. When he arrived home his mother asked him what he had learned at Sunday school. "I learned all about the twelve opossums," replied Walter proudly.

Remembered It was a case in which tram lines had failed to resist wear and tear for a reasonable period, and defendants alleged that the wet summer was the cause.

The eminent counsel had been brow-beating an obtuse old witness with a very bold head, trying to get evidence but obtaining none. At last the judge found it necessary to intervene.

"Answer the question, witness," he said, sharply. "Don't try to evade it. Did you or did you not notice anything extraordinary in the character of the past summer?"

The witness scratched his smooth, bald pate and sweet remembrance came.

"Come to think of it, I did, your lordship," he answered, affably. "It was a summer in which I was tormented much less than usual by the beastly little flies."—TIL-BITS.

LIGHTLY-CLAD BATHERS RUIN BEACH CONCESSIONS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 8.—When city officials a few weeks ago raised the embargo on beauty and announced that fair bathers would be allowed to promenade from hotels to beach in bathing costumes, they started something they had to stop.

Fair nymphs with undraped knees and ultra-low neck bathing suits took advantage of this concession to promenade the board walk and all the other attractions began to lose money.

Today policemen were instructed to shoo the too lightly clad gazelles back to the beach.

Never have an idle hour or an idle pound.—Old Saying.

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE

(By Niksab)

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL DRIVE

Skirting the Bay of Guanabara is a seaside drive which seems in its four miles the very essence of beauty. It is the Avenida Beira Mar, the famous Avenida of Rio de Janeiro. The massive emerald mountains which skirt the bay make a fitting setting for the semicircular sweep of the drive, with its stately homes, its luxuriant gardens and the blue and white breakers that beat its flanks.

The eye meets a riot of color wherever it turns. Overflowing the gardens, covering the walls and falling in veritable cataracts from the houses, tropical flowers lavish themselves in a lovely abandon. Begonias and pinks, jasmine and dahlias, azaleas, camellias and chrysanthemums are everywhere. Beautiful oystis trees, thousands of roses, and delicate orchids abound. And all seem to be singing together in a chorus of brilliance and fragrance.

With such an inspiration it is no wonder that human flowers also flourish along this drive, and one catches tantalizing glimpses of dark eyes and laughing red lips, in flower-framed windows.

For all its perfection work on the Avenida Beira Mar was begun not more than ten or twelve years ago, and completed in a few years—a feat which is little short of marvelous, when one considers the infinite time and money and red tape usually necessary in the completion of any public work.

Statistics are hard colorless things applied to the Avenida Beira Mar. One thinks of it rather as an idea of beauty which materialized somehow in a form far surpassing the expectations of its creators. They build better than they knew. And the memory of what they built will linger long in the hearts of those who have seen and idled along the most beautiful of driveways.

PRUDENCE OF THE PARSONAGE

By ETHEL HUESTON Copyright 1915 The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"I won't go to bed," said Lark, looking up at the doctor with agonized eyes. "I won't go to bed while Carol is sick."

"Give her a cup of something hot to drink," he said to Fairy curly. "I won't drink anything," said Lark. "I won't drink anything, and I won't eat a bite of anything until Carol is well. I won't sleep, either." The doctor took her hand in his, and deftly pushed the sleeve above the elbow.

"You can twist my arm if you like, but I won't eat, and I won't drink, and I won't sleep." The doctor smiled. Swiftly inserting the point of his needle in her arm, he released her. "I won't hurt you, but I am pretty sure you will be sleeping in a few minutes." He turned to Fairy. "Get her ready for bed at once. The little one can wait."

An hour later, he came downstairs again. "Is she sleeping?" he asked of Fairy in a low voice. "That is good. You have your work cut out for you, my girl. The little one here will be all right, but this twin is in nearly as bad shape as the one upstairs."

"Oh, Doctor! Larkie, too!" "Oh, she is not sick. But she is too intense. She is taking this too hard. Her system is not well enough developed to stand such a strain very long. Something would give way—maybe her brain. She must be watched. She must eat and sleep. There is school tomorrow, isn't there?"

"But I am sure Lark will not go, Doctor. She has never been to school a day in her life without Carol. I am sure she will not go!"

"Let her stay at home, then. Don't get her excited. But make her work. Keep her doing little tasks about the house, and send her on errands. Talk to her a good deal. Prudence will have her hands full with the other twin, and you'll have all you can do with this one. I'm depending on you, my girl. You mustn't fail me."

That was the beginning of an anxious week. For two days Carol was in delirium most of the time, calling out, crying, screaming, frightenedly. And Lark crouched at the foot of the stairs, hands clenched passionately, her slender form tense and motionless.

It was four in the afternoon, as the doctor was coming down from the sick room, that Fairy called him into the dining-room with a suggestive glance.

"She won't eat," she said. "I have done everything possible, and I had the nurse try. But she will not eat a bite. I—I'm sorry, Doctor, but I can't make her."

"What has she been doing?" "She's been at the foot of the stairs all day. She won't do a thing I tell her. She won't mind the nurse. Father told her to keep away, too, but she does not pay any attention. When I speak to her, she does not answer. When she hears you coming down, she runs away and hides, but she goes right back again."

"Can your father make her eat? If he commands her?"

"I do not know. I doubt it. But we can try. Here's some hot soup."

"I'll call father."

So Lark was brought into the dining room, and her father came down the stairs. The doctor whispered an explanation to him in the hall.

"Lark," said her father, gently but very firmly, "you must eat, or you will be sick, too. We need all of our time to look after Carol today. Do you want to keep us away from her to attend to you?"

"No, father, of course not. I wish you would all go right straight back to Carrie this minute and leave me alone. I'm all right. But I can't eat until Carol is well."

Her father drew a chair to the table and said, "Sit down, and eat that soup at once, Larkie."

Lark's face quivered, but she turned away. "I can't eat that. You don't understand. I can't eat—I really can't. Carrie's my twin, and—oh, father, don't you see how it is?"

He stood for a moment, frowning at her thoughtfully. Then he left the room, signing for the doctor to follow. "I'll send Prudence down," he said. "She'll manage some way."

"I must stay here until I see her eat it," said the doctor. "If she don't do it, she must be kept under morphine for a few days. But it's better not. Try Prudence, by all means."

So Prudence, white-faced, eyes black-circled, came down from the room where she had served her sister many weary hours. The doctor was standing in the center of the room. Fairy was hovering anxiously near Lark, rigid at the window.

"Larkie," whispered Prudence, and with a bitter cry the young girl leaped into her sister's arms.

Prudence caressed and soothed her tenderly. "Poor little Larkie," she murmured, "poor little twinnie!—But Carol is resting pretty well now. Lark. She's coming through all right. She was conscious several times today. The first time she just looked up at me and smiled and whispered, 'Hard luck, Prue.' Then a little later she said, 'Tell Larkie I'm doing fine, and don't let her worry.' Pretty soon she spoke again, 'You make Lark be sensible, Prue, or she'll be sick, too.' Once again she started to say something about you, but she was too sick to finish. 'Larkie is such a—', but that was as far as she could go. She was thinking of you all the time, Lark. She

MARVEL FLOUR

Sold Under Our Full Guarantee SATISFACTION OR MONEY BACK

MANUFACTURED BY LISTMAN MILL CO. — LACROSSE, WIS.

NEWS NOTES from MCWIELAND

6V DAISY DEAN

Enter the motion picture news weekly as the finder of soldiers reported missing. The Pathe Gazette of England, corresponding to The Pathe News of this country, recently was the means of restoring to his family a soldier who was on the missing list for months and who was believed to be dead. The Gazette showed some pictures of wounded soldiers, and the lost man was identified on the screen by one of his friends. He was traced to the hospital, where it was learned that a wound in the head had deprived him of his memory so that he had even forgotten his name and was known only by a number.

Theda's Latest Vampire Stunt Theda Bara, well known vampire lady, received a dainty pair of bed-room slippers. With them was this note:

"Dear Miss Bara: I knitted these slippers myself for you. I have seen you many times in moving pictures. You're a dear. These slippers represent a small token of my appreciation of you and your work."

Miss Bara sent a letter of thanks beginning "Dear Little Friend," because the donor appeared to be a little girl. Then came another letter.

"I'm not a little girl," read the second letter, "but a grown-up, man-sized plumber."

"Some vampiring," commented members of Miss Bara's company.

Lillian Gish As Chorus Girl

"Diana of the Follies" is the title of a Triangle picture starring Lillian Gish which has just been filmed. Diana, a chorus girl, marries a philosopher who has a theory that education depends largely on environment, and that by marrying the chorus girl and constantly associating with her, he can change her from the light-headed girl she is to an intelligent woman. As the plot is unraveled, he finds his theory incorrect. Sam de Grasse has the role of the theorist, with Howard Gaye, Lillian Langdon, Wilbur Higby, William deVal, and Wilhelmina Seigman as members of the cast.

Alice Joyce now woos terpsichore. She can row, swim, ride and play tennis, but is not versed in plain and fancy dancing. Her part in "The Battle Cry of War" calls for a special dance, and rather than have the scene cut from the script she is at present studying under a New York dancing master.

"Anton the Terrible" is being produced for Paramount, with Theodore Roberts and Thomas Meighan co-stars.

Have you been eating? You must eat lots, and then take a good run out-of-doors toward bedtime, so you will sleep well. It will be a good tonic for Carol to see you bright and fresh and rosy."

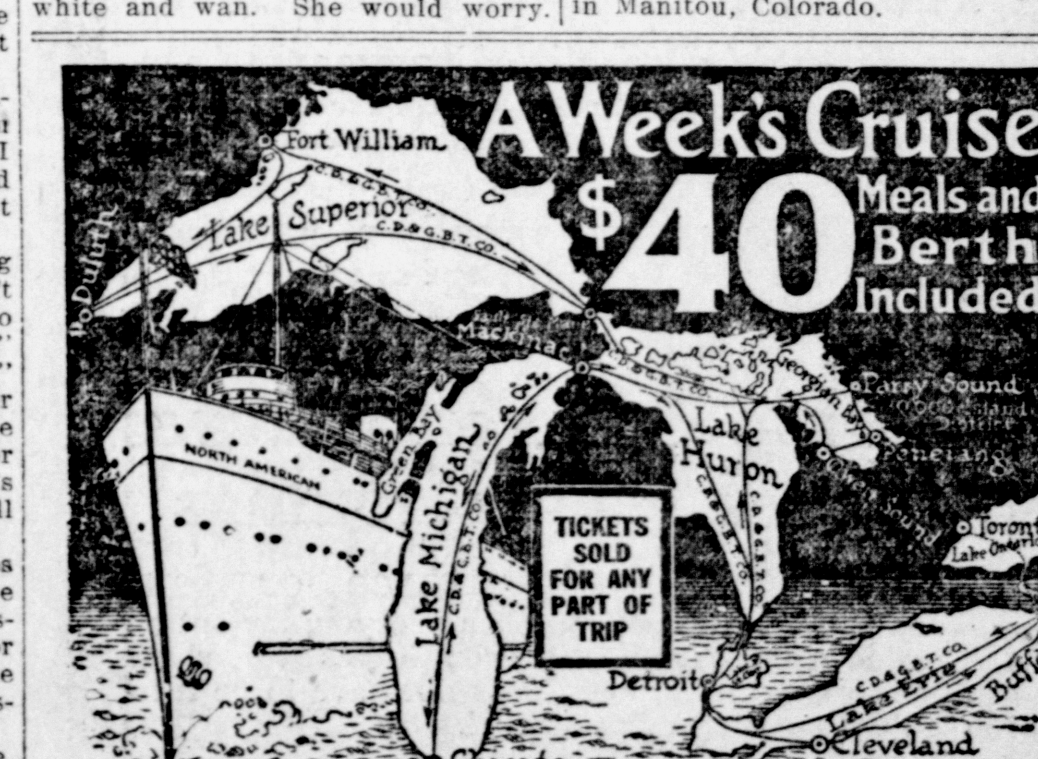

(To Be Continued)

GOVERNOR TO VISIT HOTEL WHERE HE ONCE WAS BELLHOP

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 8.—Here's a tip to the gloriously liveried bell-boys of the Palace hotel in Denver: Governor Ferguson admitted that when he takes his vacation a few weeks hence he will include Denver in his itinerary, just to see how different it will be at the Brown Palace when he returns there as a governor, —where he once was "Front." He also used to be a bell-boy at a hotel in Manitou, Colorado.

Tomorrow, Prudence? Honestly, may I go up tomorrow? You're not just fooling me, are you? You wouldn't do that?"

"Of course I wouldn't. Yes, you really may, if you'll be good and make yourself look better. It would be very bad for Carrie to see you so white and wan. She would worry."

On 4 Lakes—2,200 Miles of Beautiful Scenery, Shore Line, Islands, Rivers and Bays on one of the Big, New Cruising Ships "North American" — "South American"

Cruises Weekly from Chicago, Buffalo, Detroit, Cleveland, Duluth or Georgian Bay Ports and Return

Stops of several hours made at all principal points of interest—ample time to see the sights. The New Ships "North American" and "South American"—Passenger Service Exclusively—are equipped to give a service equal to the best Atlantic liners. These magnificent steamships have many innovations for travel, comfort and amusement—a ball-room, an orchestra, children's open air playgrounds and deck games. All these are free. Steamer chairs and steam rugs available. Dining Service the Best a Master Steward and Chef Can Produce

12 Days' Cruise, $75—3,600 Mile Trip

Call or write for pamphlet and full information about

The Lake Trips That Have No Equal Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay Transit Co., 314 S. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

Nestlé's Food

2nd Best
The Best is Mother's Milk

North Side Briefs

O'Neil Shoe Store—U buy cheaper Miss Sybil Drake, 1548 Kane street has returned from a visit in Jamestown, N. D.

Mrs. C. A. Walker, who has been visiting Mrs. R. Blanchard, 612 Rose street, has returned to her home at Kilbourn, Wis.

Mrs. P. Winge, 1331 Wood street, will entertain the Ladies Aid society of the Bethel Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors.

George Jenks, Galesville, is renewing north side acquaintances.

Mrs. James Larson, Port Angeles, Wash., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. A. Forss, 1342 Kane street.

Mrs. E. E. Byers, Akron, Ohio, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Ritter, 1126 Charles street.

Mrs. Levi Parker, 1220 Caledonia street, returned from a visit in Dubuque.

Mr. and Mrs. James Endreas have returned from 1553 Berlin street to Winona.

The Misses Lillie and Selma Quail,

Holmen, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lokken, 1222 Charles street.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stortz, 1639 Loomis street, a daughter.

Mrs. Robert Mellem, 1437 Charles street, has returned from a visit in Westby.

Miss Margaret Christianson, who spent the past few days camping on French Island has returned to her home, 1832 Kane street.

Guy Hom has returned to his home in Onalaska after a visit with friends on the north side.

Thomas and Dorothy Casserly, have returned to their home in Chicago after a visit at the home of Mrs. M. Riley, 1502 Wood street.

Misses Adeline and Edna Pruetz, 1403 George street are visiting relatives and friends in Seneca.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Selchow and children, 1342 Charles street, are visiting relatives and friends in Baraboo.

T. Miller, who has been confined to his home, 816 Logan street, with illness is again able to be about.

Mrs. Ben Halvorson and son, have returned to their home, 1640 Berlin street, after a visit with relatives and friends in Cahoon.

Telephone 323 for Want Ads.

Of Interest To Women

News items of every character of interest to women welcome to space in this department. Write or phone Women's Editorial Staff.

Miss Alice Wheeler,
Miss Cora M. Bangsberg.

THE TRIBUNE
Both Phones 323

PICNIC SUPPER AT CHURCH

The last meeting for the year of the official board of the First Methodist church at the church parlors last evening was made more of a social occasion than customary and a picnic supper and social time preceded the business session. A goodly number were in attendance.

DINNER

Miss Edna Simonton, 1215 King street, was hostess at a pleasant dinner party yesterday. There were eleven guests. The affair was complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. William Bartel of Washington, D. C.; Miss Anne Bartel of Seattle, and Miss Helen Bartel of Seattle.

WHELPLEYS ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Whelpley entertained at dinner Sunday at their cottage at Eagle Bluff. Their guests were Messrs. and Mesdames John M. Holley, Will F. Goodrich, Andrew Lees and Harry Curtis, Miss Helen Dorset, Mrs. E. J. Williams of New York city and Mr. G. Van Steenwyk.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Boehm and son left today for a motor trip which they expect will extend over the next two weeks. They will visit Milwaukee, and from there they motor to a number of the lakes and cities in the northeastern part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Bartel of Washington, D. C., who have been visiting relatives in the city, left today for Marshfield, where they will visit Mr. Bartel's sister, Mrs. Margaret Noil.

Mrs. Albert Samofsky and sister, Miss Catherine Lenz of Chicago, are guests of their father and sister, Elizabeth, at their home, 513 South Ninth street. They will remain for the rest of the summer.

Miss Marian O'Connell of Tacoma, Neb., is a guest of Mrs. Carl B. Noelke, 1002 King street.

The Misses Frances and Helen Galloway of New York city, nieces of Mr. John Dengler, are visiting at the Dengler home.

John M. Holley is in Madison on a business trip.

Miss Harriet Chamberlain has returned from Chicago, where she spent three weeks in the interest of the Marinello company.

Summer Colonists Give Preparedness Cabaret

BAR HARBOR, Maine, Aug. 8.—The preparedness cabaret, another summer diversion for society folk at their cottages here and something of an innovation altogether, will be staged here tonight. The preparedness cabaret will be followed by the neutrality ballet under the direction of John Murray Anderson. This is the first of a series of specially named cabaret performances. Among the patrons and patronesses are: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Damrosch, Mr. and Mrs. John Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Anson, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas and others.

OLD ACCIDENT IS PARTLY BLAMED FOR FASS DEATH

John Fass, at one time an employee at the Burlington shops, died at 4 o'clock Sunday of heart trouble at his home, 1629 Charles street. It is believed an accident, suffered several years ago at the Burlington shops, hastened death, as Mr. Fass never fully recovered.

Surviving, besides the widow, are four daughters, Evelyn, Lillian, Charlotte and Ruth; six sisters, Mrs. William Moos and Mrs. Richard Goldsmith, Sand Lake; Mrs. Arthur Drake, La Crosse; Mrs. Rose Goldsmith, La Crosse; Mrs. John Krebs, La Crosse, and Miss Matilda Fass, La Crosse, and two brothers, Henry, of Springfield, O., and William, Sand Lake.

The funeral will be held at nine o'clock Wednesday morning at St. James church. Burial will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

Awakened By Smoke Family At M'Gregor Barely Escape Death

M'GREGOR, Ia.—(Special).—Two fires resulting in serious losses occurred here about the same hour on succeeding nights, the cause being unknown in each instance. Last evening shortly before midnight the tenant's residence on the large Jersey Stock farm of the Kinsley Brothers near McGregor burned. The occupants, T. Russell, wife and two children and the wife's sister and baby, were in bed asleep when the fire broke out. They were awakened by the smoke and flames and were able to get out in safety. Nothing was saved except the few clothes they carried in their arms as they ran

Suffrage Leaders Are Gathering In Colorado Springs

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 8.—Prominent women suffragists are already arriving in considerable numbers and committee meetings are being held in preparation for the National Woman's party conference, which will be opened here Thursday. While the conference is primarily for officers and leaders in the twelve suffrage states, it is expected that hundreds of women of the rank and file of suffrage workers throughout the country will attend.

Woman's part in the forthcoming presidential campaign in the movement for equal suffrage, promising the most active participation of women in national politics in American history, will be planned by the conference. Whether support to the democratic, republican or the new prohibition party will be given by women favoring a national suffrage amendment, is expected to be definitely decided before the delegates adjourn.

The three days of the conference have been divided into, first, a conference on the present status of the suffrage amendment; second, into a conference on the election policy to be adopted in the campaign; and third, into a conference on the coming campaign.

A fine array of talent has been obtained to address the various meetings, consisting of prominent women who have become famous for their devotion and labor along different lines of human activity.

Gratification is expressed by the Woman's party leaders over the stand taken by Mr. Hughes, the republican presidential nominee, in favor of woman suffrage.

It has already been decided that the Woman's party shall conduct its campaign this fall along the most up-to-date lines. Chicago will be the center of the campaign activities.

From the general headquarters in that city tons of campaign literature will be sent broadcast throughout the country. Political cartoons by Mrs. Nina E. Allender and pamphlets appealing to the voting women of the suffrage states.

A speakers' bureau will be maintained and its work conducted along the same lines as that of the similar organizations of the national political parties. The services of many women who have established reputations as stump speakers have already been enlisted. Among the number are Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, Mrs. Charlotte Perkins, Mrs. Rheta Childe Dorr, Miss Crystal Eastman, and Miss Rose Winslow. The speakers will be carefully routed so that every nook and corner of the twelve suffrage states will be reached. At the coming conference plans will be laid for the raising of a half million dollar fund to meet the expenses of the extensive campaign outlined by the party.

Women Vote in Nevada Primaries

CARSON CITY, Nev., Aug. 8.—Nevada's new primary law was tried out for the first time today, the voters of all parties balloting for delegates to their respective state conventions. The results are awaited with intense interest, since the primary marks the beginning of what promises to be one of the most notable political campaigns in the history of the state. The big prize to be fought for in the November election will be the United States senatorship now held by Key Pittman. Senator Pittman is a candidate for renomination on the democratic ticket. He is not without opposition in his own party, however, and his chances of returning to Washington are further imperilled by a united republican party which is planning to put up a hard fight to encompass his defeat. Other factors that will add to the interest and uncertainty of the coming election will be the vote of the women, who are to exercise their ballot rights for the first time in Nevada, and the increasing strength of the socialist party.

AUTO RIDES IN NIGHTIES

AURORA, Ill., Aug. 8.—Auto rides in nighties are in vogue here during warm weather. In fashionable districts women were seen hurrying from their home in night gowns and climbing into autos. They rode until daylight.

Telephone 323 for Want Ads.

from the house. The loss is placed at $3,000. This is the second loss the Kingsley Brothers have had this summer. On June 1 their barns were damaged by a tornado.

The second fire destroyed night before last the large barn near Turner Park owned by the M. T. Kennedy estate and used by W. B. Pilkington, drayman and ice dealer. The five horses stabled in it at the time were saved. Adam Davis, a driver in Mr. Pilkington's employ, in assisting in their rescue had his right hand badly burned and was somewhat overcome by smoke. The three auto trucks owned by Mr. Pilkington were not in the barn and escaped without damage. Several buggies, sleighs, harnesses and some household furniture stored in the loft were burned. The loss on the building is partially covered by insurance.

CALEDONIA GETS REVENGE LICKING RUSHFORD TEAM

CALEDONIA, Minn.—(Special).—On Sunday, August 7, Caledonia re-revenged their 1 to 0 defeat of two weeks ago at the hands of the Rushford team, by just reversing the score. Caledonia's lone run was made in the first frame on a single and a combination of errors. Frequently during the latter part of the game, Caledonia had men on bases but were never able to push them around. Eiken had the game completely in his hands at all times, never once being in danger as not a single Rushfordite ever advanced beyond second. He struck out five men and allowed five hits, while Shonsby for Rushford struck out eight and was touched for seven good bingles. Schleich nailed two doubles and Williams and Solberg each got two singles.

Local and Personal

E. J. Duffy, Joseph McCarthy and Joseph R. Dunn motored to Winona Saturday in the former's car to take in the Ringling Brothers' circus.

On Tuesday, August 8, at 8 p. m., at the Gem theater, will be shown the nineteenth chapter of "The Diamond from the Sky," entitled, "Fire, Fury and Confusion."

Miss Gladys Whitbeck returned Saturday morning from Chicago, where she has been attending summer school. She was obliged to come home by way of Preston on account of the washout near Freeburg, owing to the heavy rain here Friday night.

It is reported that five large barns burned down during the recent electrical storm in this vicinity. This means a big loss to a farmer after having put up a lot of hay.

On Wednesday evening a supper will be given at the lawn near the city hall for the benefit of the band. The W. R. C. has charge of same. Everybody should turn out and help a good cause.

Miss Margaret Oestreicher of La Crosse, who has been visiting several days with her aunt, Mrs. J. P. Gergler, returned to her home last Saturday.

Mrs. Thomas Welsh of Freeburg was a visitor here on Monday.

Ed Hayes left Monday morning for Lewiston, Minn., where he is contemplating moving his family, having bought a saloon at that place.

The Misses Armella Roble and Emma Mae Sperry of Minneapolis, arrived here Saturday to visit with relatives and friends.

Mr. E. Moe left Monday evening for Holmen, Wis., to spend a week with his parents.

Mrs. Charles Leighton and children of Austin, Minn., are visiting the Flynn and Leighton families.

Miss Alice Welsh of Wyckoff, Minn., is here on a visit with her aunt, Mrs. B. S. Foster.

Wm. Benevise and Leo Miller left Friday for Jamestown, N. D., where they expect to work in the harvest fields.

Ralph Robbins was an over Sunday visitor with his family. He is employed on the state road work.

Mr. Steward, our new agricultural teacher, arrived here last week.

MAYR'S WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR STOMACH TROUBLE ONE DOSE WILL CONVINCE

Gall Stones, Cancer and Ulcers of the Stomach and Intestines. Auto-Intoxication, Yellow Jaundice, Appendicitis and other fatal ailments result from Stomach Trouble. Thousands of Stomach Sufferers owe their complete recovery to Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. Unlike any other for Stomach Ailments. For sale by Hoeschler Bros. and druggists everywhere.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision for over 30 years. Allow no one to deceive you in this. Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments, and endanger the health of Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It contains neither Opium, Morphia nor other Narcotic substance. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic, all Teething Troubles and Diarrhoea. It regulates the Stomach and Bowels, assimilates the Food, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

from Royalton, Minn., to take up his work here.

Mrs. Phil Schmitt left last week for a visit with relatives at Dubuque and other points in Iowa.

Mrs. T. M. Abbotts and son Harold have returned from the visit to her sisters, Mrs. Anton Schmid at Duluth and Mrs. Dan Engelman at Austin, Minn. Her father also resides with her sister at Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lippie are in the city visiting friends, Mrs. Lippie was formerly Miss Mary Ann Quinlan, by which name she is better known here.

Married, at St. Peter's German Catholic church, Tuesday, at 9 a. m., Robert Plourd and Mary Longueville, Father M. Borresch officiating. They were attended by Eli Longueville and Margaret Longueville, brother and sister of the bride.

Mr. Edgar P. Somsch and Miss Irene Phillips of La Crosse were married this morning at St. James church, Father Murphy officiating.

Mr. Sass returned Monday from an extended visit at New Albin la., with her daughter, Mrs. Meyer.

Houston, Minn.

HOUSTON, Minn.—(Special).—A party of ten persons Mr. and Mrs. Ingvald Gaustad, A. Loken, Burns, Hrambal, Adolph Jordshaugen, Arthur Peterson, Alma Grassy, Constance Loken and Blanche and Edna Ekren motored to Lanesboro Sunday where they attended the Saengerfest.

The Misses Agnes and Ruth Osgard, after a two weeks' visit with relatives in Milwaukee, returned home Sunday evening.

"Barron's Colts" defeated the Preston baseball team on the Houston diamond Sunday by a score of 8 to 4.

Miss Effie Benson of Union Ridge was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Nellie Johnson Sunday.

Amiel Magnusson spent Sunday at Lanesboro.

Miss Alma Lee, who is an operator at the People's Telephone Exchange, is taking a two weeks' vacation from her duties.

The Misses Ilah Chapel and Ruby Knutson returned from Winona Sunday where they have been visiting with the former's sister, Mrs. C. Wahl.

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Schonlan of Lewiston are the guests of the C. F. Schonlan home.

Miss Carolyn Hanson accompanied by Martha Jaastad of Lanesboro left Monday evening for Milwaukee, where they will enter a millinery establishment.

Miss Lillian Ekren, after an extended visit with relatives and friends in Chicago arrived home Friday evening.

Edward Hanson and Martin Sorum of Looney Valley were Lanesboro visitors Sunday.

Mr. Kingsley of Money Creek was a business caller in this city Monday.

Arthur Peterson, who has been visiting with relatives here the past week returned to his home in Stillwater Monday.

Mrs. Charles Sanders was a La Crosse caller Monday.

Clint Burfield of Crystal Valley was a business caller here Saturday.

Mrs. W. P. Raymond of Minneapolis is the guest of her daughter Mrs. Art Dyer.

Mr. Joe Mills is employed at plastering the Hawkin's home at Money Creek.

Georgina and Allie Johnson are visiting relatives at Whalan, Minn.

Protect Yourself!

AT STORES AND FOUNTAINS

ASK FOR and GET

HORLICK'S

THE ORIGINAL

MALTED MILK

Buy it in the sealed glass jars. The Best is always the Cheapest. Substitutes cost YOU same price.

Iron in Cool Comfort These Hot Summer Days

Ironing day loses its disagreeable features and most of its hard work for the woman who does her ironing the cool, quick, convenient way—with an Electric Iron.

The Electric Iron is really a household necessity. It saves so many steps, so much fuss and bother, and so much time, no home should be without it.

An Electric Iron Assures Quick, Clean Ironings

If you are still using three or four irons that heat up your kitchen and you, try out an Electric Iron. An Electric Iron leaves no sooty marks on dainty dresses, does not have to be handled with pads, wastes no fuel.

You can iron in any room in the house or out on the porch—wherever there is an Electric Iron socket. An Electric Iron is downright economy. Costs but one-third of a cent per hour.

Price $3.00. 50c Down; 75c Per Month

Call 112 and we'll deliver your Iron.

WISCONSIN-MINNESOTA LIGHT and POWER CO.

J. N. MONCRIEFF, Mgr.

222 Main Street.

DIPLOMATS PAY TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF YUAN SHI KAI

Above: Catafalque being carried by native bearers. Below: Tuan Chi Jui, premier of China, in uniform at left, with members of staff who marched directly behind the catafalque containing body of Yuan Shi Kai.

The funeral procession of Yuan Shi Kai, the late president of China, which was attended by official representatives of all the nations, was held behind the walls of Tartar in China's forbidden city. Throughout the world Yuan was respected by foreign governments, mainly through his expert handling of the difficult Chinese situations which have followed one another in recent years in rapid succession.

CHERRIES

Car Due Tomorrow

Cantaloupes

AND

Watermelons

JOHN C. BURNS

FRUIT HOUSE

The FASHION SHOP

F. A. REIMAN

EXCLUSIVE GARMENT STORE

Corner Fifth and Main Streets

Going Away

For A While?

Then you will want the TRIBUNE to follow, you will want to keep in touch with the old place.

We can send it anywhere. Phone or drop us a card. Subscription price by mail, 25 cents per month.

Going To Move?

We will move your piano and household effects with care and satisfaction. The fact that all the leading piano dealers employ us to move their pianos should prove an incentive for you to engage us in moving.

YOUR PIANO

GATEWAY CITY TRANSFER CO.

214-216 Vine St. Phones 179

MINDORO

MINDORO, Wis.—(Special).—The Young People's Christian Endeavor society was organized at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening.

Pat Malone, an anti-Catholic lecturer, lectured in the town hall Tuesday and Wednesday evening of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ebbie Erickson and William Kepple were business callers at West Salem Wednesday.

Mrs. August Severson and children visited at Oscar Olson's last week.

Miss Hattie Hanson entertained a

PERSONALS

Hansen's Shoe Repair works, 304 South 4th.

Joseph H. Gardner, with United Cigar Stores company in Minneapolis, spent several days at his home here.

Charles H. Hoeschler returned Monday evening from a business trip to Minneapolis.

25 per cent discount on children's dresses. Huntton Co.

C. S. Boley, formerly a resident of this city, now located in Boston, is visiting friends here.

Otto Kracklauer, former resident of La Crosse, now living in Detroit, Mich., is spending his vacation here.

Mrs. Clara Stathem and daughter Lorna spent Sunday in Onalaska as guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Pierce.

Come to the Congregational and Presbyterian excursion to Winona Wednesday, Aug. 9, 1:30 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boley, Minneapolis, are here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Boley's mother, Mrs. Henry Nein.

T. A. Mason, Morehead, Minn., was a business visitor in La Crosse on Monday.

Hack calls day and night. Gateway City Transfer Co. Phone 179.

C. Nipperman, Mankato, Minn., spent Monday at a local hotel.

J. H. Markley, Northfield, Minn., spent Tuesday here transacting business and visiting friends.

C. Behnke, Dubuque, Iowa, was a business visitor in La Crosse on Tuesday morning.

F. H. Ritzlaff and Harry Engelbret, New Uum, spent Monday in La Crosse visiting friends. They returned to their homes on Tuesday.

Miss F. M. Elston and Miss L. B. Loberman, Duluth, Minn., were visitors with friends in La Crosse on Monday.

Miss Cornelia Simpson and Miss Dorothy Simpson, Winona, Minn., spent Monday visiting friends in La Crosse.

T. H. Hart, Tomah, was a Monday business caller in the city.

HAY PASTURE

H. S. BURROUGHS,

Grand Crossing Farm

New Phone 1070-M

MYSTIC WORKERS' DANCE

AT K. P. HALL

WED., AUG. 9.

Members free. Others 35c

Everybody Welcome.

LEADING MEN BEFORE PUBLIC IN IMPENDING RAILROAD STRIKE

Left to right, top: Judge W. L. Chambers, Warren S. Stone and Judge Martin A. Knapp. Bottom: G. W. W. Hanger, Harry A. Wheeler, Timothy Shea and United States Senator Newlands.

Prominent men before the country connected with the expected railroad strike are members of the board of mediation and conciliation, Judges Martin A. Knapp and W. L. Chambers, and G. W. W. Hanger. Harry A. Wheeler is the man who warned President Wilson on behalf of the chamber of commerce. The prominent figures on the side of the union men are Warren S. Stone and Timothy Shea, assistant to Mr. Stone. Senator Newlands heads the committee which after considering whether the matter should be referred to the interstate commerce commission, refused to so commit it.

I WILL PREPARE

The Prescription of your Doctor for you, with good reliable remedies and at a moderate price. I carry everything that the Doctors nowadays prescribe, and use care and caution in the compounding. As this is the principal part of my present business, I can serve you first rate.

Yours Respectfully,

CHAS. BEYSCHLAG,

Prescription Druggist, 503 Main.

Tomah, Wis.

TOMAH, Wis.—(Special).—Among the Sunday visitors at Spring Bank were Mrs. Alois Fix, Mrs. Charles Schreiter, Mrs. E. C. Van Wie and Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Talbot.

Mrs. J. P. Reinhardt is spending a few days with Miss Edith Barber at Warrens.

Lyla Bates, Ruth Diemer, Edwin Fitzpatrick and Earl Madden spent Sunday at Spring Bank.

James McCurdy of Milwaukee is visiting friends and relatives here. Mrs. McCurdy has been spending a month at Warrens with her parents. They expect to return Tuesday.

Louie Barnes, John Goerbing and George Krick furnished music for a dancing party at the Indian school Saturday evening.

Miss Myrtle Leenhouts of Milwaukee is a guest of Miss Hazel Wells at Spring Bank park.

Will Snodgrass is spending a few days with friends at Wood Lake, Wis.

W. A. Fox of Valley Junction was a business caller here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Bennett motored to Mather Monday.

Earl Madden, who has been in Milwaukee, is spending a few days with friends and relatives.

Alfred Bongers spent Sunday at Mauston.

Harold and Gerand Finnerty are visiting their mother, who is ill at a Chicago hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Helemke, Mrs. Emma Bongers and family expect to make an extended visit to Appleton, taking the trip in a car.

The day program for Wednesday at the Indian school institute is the same as for August 8: 8 a. m., address by Lester C. Randolph, "That Delightful Fellow, the American Boy."

Odis McJin of Villey Junction spent Monday in Tomah.

The D. D.'s entertained Miss Dora Hirschheimer of La Crosse at a picnic supper Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baumgarten left for Minneapolis on business.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Robertson, a six pound boy.

The Misses Ethel and Ethlyn Johnson to Valley Junction spent Monday here.

Mr. Charles of Mather was a Monday caller here.

Rev. and Mrs. Voges of Ridgeville were Tomah shoppers Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gerke, Jr., of Norwalk spent the day here.

"Don't Go Fishing"

Robert Nicke while on a fishing trip was taken ill very suddenly with an attack of gallstones.

Tomah shoppers on Monday were: William Hoffman, Meadow Valley; Henry Zeman of Wyeville; Mr. C. Steinholt of Wyeville, and Archie Case of Mather.

Mrs. L. S. Barnes and son Louie motored to Wyeville Sunday. They expect to leave for Watpaca about August 13 to visit Miss Lulu Burlin, who is spending the summer on the Chain-o-Lakes.

The team belonging to Lou Wainer became frightened by an auto and ran for several blocks, throwing the occupants out of the buggy but fortunately none were injured.

The ball game between Tomah and Ontario resulted in a victory for Tomah. Score, 9 to 5. Batteries for Tomah: Everson, Henry and Benjamin. Umpire, Rex Gonderzick. This was one of the most interesting games here this season.

SAYS EMPLOYMENT KEEPS CHILDREN FROM JAIL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—One means of keeping children out of jail is to keep them in cotton mills, according to Senator Overman of North Carolina, opposing the child labor bill. He submitted figures in the senate Monday to prove that fewer children—14 to 16 years of age—are jailed in this state where they are allowed to work than in forty-five other states of the union. Per 100,000 the figures in 1910, he said, were: Massachusetts, 779; Rhode Island, 199; Missouri, 122; North Carolina, 15.

SECRETARY OF NATIONAL LUMBER MANUFACTURERS LEAPS TO HIS DEATH

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 8.—George K. Smith, for years secretary of Yellow Pine Manufacturers' association, and secretary of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, leaped to his death Tuesday from a fifteenth story window of the Boatmen's bank building.

TO TELL WILSON SEPT. 2

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—In a four and a half hour conference Monday afternoon President Wilson and Chairman McCormick and Vice Chairman Cummings of the democratic national committee tentatively agreed upon Saturday, September 2, as the date for notifying Wilson of his nomination.

WOULD HEAD MINERS

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—In a brief statement here Monday John H. Walker, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, announced his candidacy for the presidency of the United Mine Workers of America.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE BAREFOOT CLASSICS

By Frederic J. Haskin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—In various newspaper pictorial supplements and studio windows and other places where photographs are exhibited there recently appeared a charming picture of about half a dozen young women in diaphanous chiffon draperies standing on the deck of a motorboat speeding past the palisades of the Hudson.

Ten years ago that picture would have been hard to explain unless there had been a fire in one of the high class young ladies' finishing schools in that section, compelling the inmates to take to the boat with a few window curtains by way of clothes.

Today the explanation is easy. They are classic dancers, on the way home from a country frolic. Classic dancing is all the go in New York on and off the stage. Its eminently respectable and even scholarly standing is shown by the fact that one of the leading women's colleges of America recently celebrated its commencement by giving an outdoor pageant in which the classic garb and dance played a leading part. Instead of reading essays on Etruscan art and Greek antiquities, the girl graduates took off their shoes and stockings and things and got out on the lawn and gave their own interpretation of how the ancients looked and acted.

Isadora Duncan seems to have started the craze. Her beautiful barefoot dancing captivated New York, and inspired thousands of women with a desire to do likewise. Forthwith, as though by magic, studios of Greek dancing sprang up all over town. Society took it up. Schools and colleges added it to their curricula. Municipal playgrounds and Young Women's Christian associations employed teachers of it. It seemed as though the young women of America had just been waiting for a chance to romp in her bare feet.

There seems to be no doubt but what she has benefited immensely by the experience. For one thing, many fat women have danced themselves thin. Also, many sickly girls have danced their way to health. According to the exponents of the new art, it is the normal and natural exercise for women. Physical culture is too mechanical while athletics are too strenuous for many. Barefoot dancing affords an opportunity for spontaneous, rhythmic movement, giving full play to grace and originality, without making heavy demands upon the strength.

The Greek ancestry of this barefoot dancing is a little hard to trace. In a typical studio devoted to the new art you will see a few prints and bas-reliefs of Greek dancers, introduced by way of classical atmosphere. The Athenian damsels seem to be going through a sort of light and airy piping, to the accompaniment of pipes. In the same studio you will see a great many photographs of the modern interpreters—vigorous young ladies in the characteristic light costume, racing down the country roads, romping in pastures, posing precariously on mountain tops with a sunrise for an illuminating background, and balancing daintily on one foot while pointing at the back of the neck with the other. In a word, the modern stunt is Greek by name and very American in its strenuousness and inventiveness.

Heleen Moller is a typical and very graceful teacher and practitioner of this new art. She says that she has looked up the Greek dances in the public library and derived a lot of inspiration from them. Personally, she hales from Bird Island, Minn., population four hundred, and is of Swedish and German parentage. Out in Bird Island she went barefooted until she was a great big girl. Also she did not have many other children to play with, so she got in the habit of romping with her father's pointer dogs. Thus she learned to run and leap in her bare feet; and developed great strength and agility.

When she was about twenty years old everyone told her that she had great dramatic talent and that she ought to go to New York and train herself for the stage. Accordingly to New York she came and set herself to study singing and the piano.

They put her in small stuffy rooms and made her practice scales. There was very little air to breathe or room to move about. She missed the plains around Bird Island, and the pointer dogs. Furthermore she realized that it was going to be a long way to fame by the road she was then traveling.

It was about that time that Isadora Duncan had made classic dancing a fad. Miss Moller saw her and knew at once what she wanted to do. She also observed that all the people in New York who were doing things and making money came from somewhere in the west or somewhere in the south, and that their self-confidence and hustle seemed to be their assets. She had both of these qualities in large bunches. So she hired a large "duplex" studio-apartment overlooking Central park, pulled off her shoes and stockings and danced. She had no teachers and no steps. She simply frolicked to the music as she had formerly frolicked with Fido and Rover, and being naturally graceful she frolicked gracefully.

Stories of achievement are always short after the hero or heroine once gets started. Soon some one came to see Miss Moller frolic, and then some more came, and then someone wanted a lesson, and in no time at all, Miss Moller was a specialist in the "Greek classic" dances; interpreting the great composers, training people for the stage, dancing fat women lean and lean women fat, and sick women healthy. Her friends continued to come and see her—at two dollars a head. She gets thirty dollars an hour for teaching classes. A large number of her pupils are successful on the stage.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE BAREFOOT CLASSICS

By Frederic J. Haskin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—In various newspaper pictorial supplements and studio windows and other places where photographs are exhibited there recently appeared a charming picture of about half a dozen young women in diaphanous chiffon draperies standing on the deck of a motorboat speeding past the palisades of the Hudson.

Ten years ago that picture would have been hard to explain unless there had been a fire in one of the high class young ladies' finishing schools in that section, compelling the inmates to take to the boat with a few window curtains by way of clothes.

Today the explanation is easy. They are classic dancers, on the way home from a country frolic. Classic dancing is all the go in New York on and off the stage. Its eminently respectable and even scholarly standing is shown by the fact that one of the leading women's colleges of America recently celebrated its commencement by giving an outdoor pageant in which the classic garb and dance played a leading part. Instead of reading essays on Etruscan art and Greek antiquities, the girl graduates took off their shoes and stockings and things and got out on the lawn and gave their own interpretation of how the ancients looked and acted.

Isadora Duncan seems to have started the craze. Her beautiful barefoot dancing captivated New York, and inspired thousands of women with a desire to do likewise. Forthwith, as though by magic, studios of Greek dancing sprang up all over town. Society took it up. Schools and colleges added it to their curricula. Municipal playgrounds and Young Women's Christian associations employed teachers of it. It seemed as though the young women of America had just been waiting for a chance to romp in her bare feet.

There seems to be no doubt but what she has benefited immensely by the experience. For one thing, many fat women have danced themselves thin. Also, many sickly girls have danced their way to health. According to the exponents of the new art, it is the normal and natural exercise for women. Physical culture is too mechanical while athletics are too strenuous for many. Barefoot dancing affords an opportunity for spontaneous, rhythmic movement, giving full play to grace and originality, without making heavy demands upon the strength.

The Greek ancestry of this barefoot dancing is a little hard to trace. In a typical studio devoted to the new art you will see a few prints and bas-reliefs of Greek dancers, introduced by way of classical atmosphere. The Athenian damsels seem to be going through a sort of light and airy piping, to the accompaniment of pipes. In the same studio you will see a great many photographs of the modern interpreters—vigorous young ladies in the characteristic light costume, racing down the country roads, romping in pastures, posing precariously on mountain tops with a sunrise for an illuminating background, and balancing daintily on one foot while pointing at the back of the neck with the other. In a word, the modern stunt is Greek by name and very American in its strenuousness and inventiveness.

Heleen Moller is a typical and very graceful teacher and practitioner of this new art. She says that she has looked up the Greek dances in the public library and derived a lot of inspiration from them. Personally, she hales from Bird Island, Minn., population four hundred, and is of Swedish and German parentage. Out in Bird Island she went barefooted until she was a great big girl. Also she did not have many other children to play with, so she got in the habit of romping with her father's pointer dogs. Thus she learned to run and leap in her bare feet; and developed great strength and agility.

When she was about twenty years old everyone told her that she had great dramatic talent and that she ought to go to New York and train herself for the stage. Accordingly to New York she came and set herself to study singing and the piano.

They put her in small stuffy rooms and made her practice scales. There was very little air to breathe or room to move about. She missed the plains around Bird Island, and the pointer dogs. Furthermore she realized that it was going to be a long way to fame by the road she was then traveling.

It was about that time that Isadora Duncan had made classic dancing a fad. Miss Moller saw her and knew at once what she wanted to do. She also observed that all the people in New York who were doing things and making money came from somewhere in the west or somewhere in the south, and that their self-confidence and hustle seemed to be their assets. She had both of these qualities in large bunches. So she hired a large "duplex" studio-apartment overlooking Central park, pulled off her shoes and stockings and danced. She had no teachers and no steps. She simply frolicked to the music as she had formerly frolicked with Fido and Rover, and being naturally graceful she frolicked gracefully.

Stories of achievement are always short after the hero or heroine once gets started. Soon some one came to see Miss Moller frolic, and then some more came, and then someone wanted a lesson, and in no time at all, Miss Moller was a specialist in the "Greek classic" dances; interpreting the great composers, training people for the stage, dancing fat women lean and lean women fat, and sick women healthy. Her friends continued to come and see her—at two dollars a head. She gets thirty dollars an hour for teaching classes. A large number of her pupils are successful on the stage.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE BAREFOOT CLASSICS

By Frederic J. Haskin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—In various newspaper pictorial supplements and studio windows and other places where photographs are exhibited there recently appeared a charming picture of about half a dozen young women in diaphanous chiffon draperies standing on the deck of a motorboat speeding past the palisades of the Hudson.

Ten years ago that picture would have been hard to explain unless there had been a fire in one of the high class young ladies' finishing schools in that section, compelling the inmates to take to the boat with a few window curtains by way of clothes.

Today the explanation is easy. They are classic dancers, on the way home from a country frolic. Classic dancing is all the go in New York on and off the stage. Its eminently respectable and even scholarly standing is shown by the fact that one of the leading women's colleges of America recently celebrated its commencement by giving an outdoor pageant in which the classic garb and dance played a leading part. Instead of reading essays on Etruscan art and Greek antiquities, the girl graduates took off their shoes and stockings and things and got out on the lawn and gave their own interpretation of how the ancients looked and acted.

Isadora Duncan seems to have started the craze. Her beautiful barefoot dancing captivated New York, and inspired thousands of women with a desire to do likewise. Forthwith, as though by magic, studios of Greek dancing sprang up all over town. Society took it up. Schools and colleges added it to their curricula. Municipal playgrounds and Young Women's Christian associations employed teachers of it. It seemed as though the young women of America had just been waiting for a chance to romp in her bare feet.

There seems to be no doubt but what she has benefited immensely by the experience. For one thing, many fat women have danced themselves thin. Also, many sickly girls have danced their way to health. According to the exponents of the new art, it is the normal and natural exercise for women. Physical culture is too mechanical while athletics are too strenuous for many. Barefoot dancing affords an opportunity for spontaneous, rhythmic movement, giving full play to grace and originality, without making heavy demands upon the strength.

The Greek ancestry of this barefoot dancing is a little hard to trace. In a typical studio devoted to the new art you will see a few prints and bas-reliefs of Greek dancers, introduced by way of classical atmosphere. The Athenian damsels seem to be going through a sort of light and airy piping, to the accompaniment of pipes. In the same studio you will see a great many photographs of the modern interpreters—vigorous young ladies in the characteristic light costume, racing down the country roads, romping in pastures, posing precariously on mountain tops with a sunrise for an illuminating background, and balancing daintily on one foot while pointing at the back of the neck with the other. In a word, the modern stunt is Greek by name and very American in its strenuousness and inventiveness.

Heleen Moller is a typical and very graceful teacher and practitioner of this new art. She says that she has looked up the Greek dances in the public library and derived a lot of inspiration from them. Personally, she hales from Bird Island, Minn., population four hundred, and is of Swedish and German parentage. Out in Bird Island she went barefooted until she was a great big girl. Also she did not have many other children to play with, so she got in the habit of romping with her father's pointer dogs. Thus she learned to run and leap in her bare feet; and developed great strength and agility.

When she was about twenty years old everyone told her that she had great dramatic talent and that she ought to go to New York and train herself for the stage. Accordingly to New York she came and set herself to study singing and the piano.

They put her in small stuffy rooms and made her practice scales. There was very little air to breathe or room to move about. She missed the plains around Bird Island, and the pointer dogs. Furthermore she realized that it was going to be a long way to fame by the road she was then traveling.

It was about that time that Isadora Duncan had made classic dancing a fad. Miss Moller saw her and knew at once what she wanted to do. She also observed that all the people in New York who were doing things and making money came from somewhere in the west or somewhere in the south, and that their self-confidence and hustle seemed to be their assets. She had both of these qualities in large bunches. So she hired a large "duplex" studio-apartment overlooking Central park, pulled off her shoes and stockings and danced. She had no teachers and no steps. She simply frolicked to the music as she had formerly frolicked with Fido and Rover, and being naturally graceful she frolicked gracefully.

Stories of achievement are always short after the hero or heroine once gets started. Soon some one came to see Miss Moller frolic, and then some more came, and then someone wanted a lesson, and in no time at all, Miss Moller was a specialist in the "Greek classic" dances; interpreting the great composers, training people for the stage, dancing fat women lean and lean women fat, and sick women healthy. Her friends continued to come and see her—at two dollars a head. She gets thirty dollars an hour for teaching classes. A large number of her pupils are successful on the stage.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE BAREFOOT CLASSICS

By Frederic J. Haskin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—In various newspaper pictorial supplements and studio windows and other places where photographs are exhibited there recently appeared a charming picture of about half a dozen young women in diaphanous chiffon draperies standing on the deck of a motorboat speeding past the palisades of the Hudson.

Ten years ago that picture would have been hard to explain unless there had been a fire in one of the high class young ladies' finishing schools in that section, compelling the inmates to take to the boat with a few window curtains by way of clothes.

Today the explanation is easy. They are classic dancers, on the way home from a country frolic. Classic dancing is all the go in New York on and off the stage. Its eminently respectable and even scholarly standing is shown by the fact that one of the leading women's colleges of America recently celebrated its commencement by giving an outdoor pageant in which the classic garb and dance played a leading part. Instead of reading essays on Etruscan art and Greek antiquities, the girl graduates took off their shoes and stockings and things and got out on the lawn and gave their own interpretation of how the ancients looked and acted.

Isadora Duncan seems to have started the craze. Her beautiful barefoot dancing captivated New York, and inspired thousands of women with a desire to do likewise. Forthwith, as though by magic, studios of Greek dancing sprang up all over town. Society took it up. Schools and colleges added it to their curricula. Municipal playgrounds and Young Women's Christian associations employed teachers of it. It seemed as though the young women of America had just been waiting for a chance to romp in her bare feet.

There seems to be no doubt but what she has benefited immensely by the experience. For one thing, many fat women have danced themselves thin. Also, many sickly girls have danced their way to health. According to the exponents of the new art, it is the normal and natural exercise for women. Physical culture is too mechanical while athletics are too strenuous for many. Barefoot dancing affords an opportunity for spontaneous, rhythmic movement, giving full play to grace and originality, without making heavy demands upon the strength.

The Greek ancestry of this barefoot dancing is a little hard to trace. In a typical studio devoted to the new art you will see a few prints and bas-reliefs of Greek dancers, introduced by way of classical atmosphere. The Athenian damsels seem to be going through a sort of light and airy piping, to the accompaniment of pipes. In the same studio you will see a great many photographs of the modern interpreters—vigorous young ladies in the characteristic light costume, racing down the country roads, romping in pastures, posing precariously on mountain tops with a sunrise for an illuminating background, and balancing daintily on one foot while pointing at the back of the neck with the other. In a word, the modern stunt is Greek by name and very American in its strenuousness and inventiveness.

Heleen Moller is a typical and very graceful teacher and practitioner of this new art. She says that she has looked up the Greek dances in the public library and derived a lot of inspiration from them. Personally, she hales from Bird Island, Minn., population four hundred, and is of Swedish and German parentage. Out in Bird Island she went barefooted until she was a great big girl. Also she did not have many other children to play with, so she got in the habit of romping with her father's pointer dogs. Thus she learned to run and leap in her bare feet; and developed great strength and agility.

When she was about twenty years old everyone told her that she had great dramatic talent and that she ought to go to New York and train herself for the stage. Accordingly to New York she came and set herself to study singing and the piano.

They put her in small stuffy rooms and made her practice scales. There was very little air to breathe or room to move about. She missed the plains around Bird Island, and the pointer dogs. Furthermore she realized that it was going to be a long way to fame by the road she was then traveling.

It was about that time that Isadora Duncan had made classic dancing a fad. Miss Moller saw her and knew at once what she wanted to do. She also observed that all the people in New York who were doing things and making money came from somewhere in the west or somewhere in the south, and that their self-confidence and hustle seemed to be their assets. She had both of these qualities in large bunches. So she hired a large "duplex" studio-apartment overlooking Central park, pulled off her shoes and stockings and danced. She had no teachers and no steps. She simply frolicked to the music as she had formerly frolicked with Fido and Rover, and being naturally graceful she frolicked gracefully.

Stories of achievement are always short after the hero or heroine once gets started. Soon some one came to see Miss Moller frolic, and then some more came, and then someone wanted a lesson, and in no time at all, Miss Moller was a specialist in the "Greek classic" dances; interpreting the great composers, training people for the stage, dancing fat women lean and lean women fat, and sick women healthy. Her friends continued to come and see her—at two dollars a head. She gets thirty dollars an hour for teaching classes. A large number of her pupils are successful on the stage.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE BAREFOOT CLASSICS

By Frederic J. Haskin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—In various newspaper pictorial supplements and studio windows and other places where photographs are exhibited there recently appeared a charming picture of about half a dozen young women in diaphanous chiffon draperies standing on the deck of a motorboat speeding past the palisades of the Hudson.

Ten years ago that picture would have been hard to explain unless there had been a fire in one of the high class young ladies' finishing schools in that section, compelling the inmates to take to the boat with a few window curtains by way of clothes.

Today the explanation is easy. They are classic dancers, on the way home from a country frolic. Classic dancing is all the go in New York on and off the stage. Its eminently respectable and even scholarly standing is shown by the fact that one of the leading women's colleges of America recently celebrated its commencement by giving an outdoor pageant in which the classic garb and dance played a leading part. Instead of reading essays on Etruscan art and Greek antiquities, the girl graduates took off their shoes and stockings and things and got out on the lawn and gave their own interpretation of how the ancients looked and acted.

Isadora Duncan seems to have started the craze. Her beautiful barefoot dancing captivated New York, and inspired thousands of women with a desire to do likewise. Forthwith, as though by magic, studios of Greek dancing sprang up all over town. Society took it up. Schools and colleges added it to their curricula. Municipal playgrounds and Young Women's Christian associations employed teachers of it. It seemed as though the young women of America had just been waiting for a chance to romp in her bare feet.

There seems to be no doubt but what she has benefited immensely by the experience. For one thing, many fat women have danced themselves thin. Also, many sickly girls have danced their way to health. According to the exponents of the new art, it is the normal and natural exercise for women. Physical culture is too mechanical while athletics are too strenuous for many. Barefoot dancing affords an opportunity for spontaneous, rhythmic movement, giving full play to grace and originality, without making heavy demands upon the strength.

The Greek ancestry of this barefoot dancing is a little hard to trace. In a typical studio devoted to the new art you will see a few prints and bas-reliefs of Greek dancers, introduced by way of classical atmosphere. The Athenian damsels seem to be going through a sort of light and airy piping, to the accompaniment of pipes. In the same studio you will see a great many photographs of the modern interpreters—vigorous young ladies in the characteristic light costume, racing down the country roads, romping in pastures, posing precariously on mountain tops with a sunrise for an illuminating background, and balancing daintily on one foot while pointing at the back of the neck with the other. In a word, the modern stunt is Greek by name and very American in its strenuousness and inventiveness.

Heleen Moller is a typical and very graceful teacher and practitioner of this new art. She says that she has looked up the Greek dances in the public library and derived a lot of inspiration from them. Personally, she hales from Bird Island, Minn., population four hundred, and is of Swedish and German parentage. Out in Bird Island she went barefooted until she was a great big girl. Also she did not have many other children to play with, so she got in the habit of romping with her father's pointer dogs. Thus she learned to run and leap in her bare feet; and developed great strength and agility.

When she was about twenty years old everyone told her that she had great dramatic talent and that she ought to go to New York and train herself for the stage. Accordingly to New York she came and set herself to study singing and the piano.

They put her in small stuffy rooms and made her practice scales. There was very little air to breathe or room to move about. She missed the plains around Bird Island, and the pointer dogs. Furthermore she realized that it was going to be a long way to fame by the road she was then traveling.

It was about that time that Isadora Duncan had made classic dancing a fad. Miss Moller saw her and knew at once what she wanted to do. She also observed that all the people in New York who were doing things and making money came from somewhere in the west or somewhere in the south, and that their self-confidence and hustle seemed to be their assets. She had both of these qualities in large bunches. So she hired a large "duplex" studio-apartment overlooking Central park, pulled off her shoes and stockings and danced. She had no teachers and no steps. She simply frolicked to the music as she had formerly frolicked with Fido and Rover, and being naturally graceful she frolicked gracefully.

Stories of achievement are always short after the hero or heroine once gets started. Soon some one came to see Miss Moller frolic, and then some more came, and then someone wanted a lesson, and in no time at all, Miss Moller was a specialist in the "Greek classic" dances; interpreting the great composers, training people for the stage, dancing fat women lean and lean women fat, and sick women healthy. Her friends continued to come and see her—at two dollars a head. She gets thirty dollars an hour for teaching classes. A large number of her pupils are successful on the stage.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE BAREFOOT CLASSICS

By Frederic J. Haskin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—In various newspaper pictorial supplements and studio windows and other places where photographs are exhibited there recently appeared a charming picture of about half a dozen young women in diaphanous chiffon draperies standing on the deck of a motorboat speeding past the palisades of the Hudson.

Ten years ago that picture would have been hard to explain unless there had been a fire in one of the high class young ladies' finishing schools in that section, compelling the inmates to take to the boat with a few window curtains by way of clothes.

Today the explanation is easy. They are classic dancers, on the way home from a country frolic. Classic dancing is all the go in New York on and off the stage. Its eminently respectable and even scholarly standing is shown by the fact that one of the leading women's colleges of America recently celebrated its commencement by giving an outdoor pageant in which the classic garb and dance played a leading part. Instead of reading essays on Etruscan art and Greek antiquities, the girl graduates took off their shoes and stockings and things and got out on the lawn and gave their own interpretation of how the ancients looked and acted.

Isadora Duncan seems to have started the craze. Her beautiful barefoot dancing captivated New York, and inspired thousands of women with a desire to do likewise. Forthwith, as though by magic, studios of Greek dancing sprang up all over town. Society took it up. Schools and colleges added it to their curricula. Municipal playgrounds and Young Women's Christian associations employed teachers of it. It seemed as though the young women of America had just been waiting for a chance to romp in her bare feet.

There seems to be no doubt but what she has benefited immensely by the experience. For one thing, many fat women have danced themselves thin. Also, many sickly girls have danced their way to health. According to the exponents of the new art, it is the normal and natural exercise for women. Physical culture is too mechanical while athletics are too strenuous for many. Barefoot dancing affords an opportunity for spontaneous, rhythmic movement, giving full play to grace and originality, without making heavy demands upon the strength.

The Greek ancestry of this barefoot dancing is a little hard to trace. In a typical studio devoted to the new art you will see a few prints and bas-reliefs of Greek dancers, introduced by way of classical atmosphere. The Athenian damsels seem to be going through a sort of light and airy piping, to the accompaniment of pipes. In the same studio you will see a great many photographs of the modern interpreters—vigorous young ladies in the characteristic light costume, racing down the country roads, romping in pastures, posing precariously on mountain tops with a sunrise for an illuminating background, and balancing daintily on one foot while pointing at the back of the neck with the other. In a word, the modern stunt is Greek by name and very American in its strenuousness and inventiveness.

Heleen Moller is a typical and very graceful teacher and practitioner of this new art. She says that she has looked up the Greek dances in the public library and derived a lot of inspiration from them. Personally, she hales from Bird Island, Minn., population four hundred, and is of Swedish and German parentage. Out in Bird Island she went barefooted until she was a great big girl. Also she did not have many other children to play with, so she got in the habit of romping with her father's pointer dogs. Thus she learned to run and leap in her bare feet; and developed great strength and agility.

When she was about twenty years old everyone told her that she had great dramatic talent and that she ought to go to New York and train herself for the stage. Accordingly to New York she came and set herself to study singing and the piano.

They put her in small stuffy rooms and made her practice scales. There was very little air to breathe or room to move about. She missed the plains around Bird Island, and the pointer dogs. Furthermore she realized that it was going to be a long way to fame by the road she was then traveling.

It was about that time that Isadora Duncan had made classic dancing a fad. Miss Moller saw her and knew at once what she wanted to do. She also observed that all the people in New York who were doing things and making money came from somewhere in the west or somewhere in the south, and that their self-confidence and hustle seemed to be their assets. She had both of these qualities in large bunches. So she hired a large "duplex" studio-apartment overlooking Central park, pulled off her shoes and stockings and danced. She had no teachers and no steps. She simply frolicked to the music as she had formerly frolicked with Fido and Rover, and being naturally graceful she frolicked gracefully.

Stories of achievement are always short after the hero or heroine once gets started. Soon some one came to see Miss Moller frolic, and then some more came, and then someone wanted a lesson, and in no time at all, Miss Moller was a specialist in the "Greek classic" dances; interpreting the great composers, training people for the stage, dancing fat women lean and lean women fat, and sick women healthy. Her friends continued to come and see her—at two dollars a head. She gets thirty dollars an hour for teaching classes. A large number of her pupils are successful on the stage.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE BAREFOOT CLASSICS

By Frederic J. Haskin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—In various newspaper pictorial supplements and studio windows and other places where photographs are exhibited there recently appeared a charming picture of about half a dozen young women in diaphanous chiffon draperies standing on the deck of a motorboat speeding past the palisades of the Hudson.

Ten years ago that picture would have been hard to explain unless there had been a fire in one of the high class young ladies' finishing schools in that section, compelling the inmates to take to the boat with a few window curtains by way of clothes.

Today the explanation is easy. They are classic dancers, on the way home from a country frolic. Classic dancing is all the go in New York on and off the stage. Its eminently respectable and even scholarly standing is shown by the fact that one of the leading women's colleges of America recently celebrated its commencement by giving an outdoor pageant in which the classic garb and dance played a leading part. Instead of reading essays on Etruscan art and Greek antiquities, the girl graduates took off their shoes and stockings and things and got out on the lawn and gave their own interpretation of how the ancients looked and acted.

Isadora Duncan seems to have started the craze. Her beautiful barefoot dancing captivated New York, and inspired thousands of women with a desire to do likewise. Forthwith, as though by magic, studios of Greek dancing sprang up all over town. Society took it up. Schools and colleges added it to their curricula. Municipal playgrounds and Young Women's Christian associations employed teachers of it. It seemed as though the young women of America had just been waiting for a chance to romp in her bare feet.

There seems to be no doubt but what she has benefited immensely by the experience. For one thing, many fat women have danced themselves thin. Also, many sickly girls have danced their way to health. According to the exponents of the new art, it is the normal and natural exercise for women. Physical culture is too mechanical while athletics are too strenuous for many. Barefoot dancing affords an opportunity for spontaneous, rhythmic movement, giving full play to grace and originality, without making heavy demands upon the strength.

The Greek ancestry of this barefoot dancing is a little hard to trace. In a typical studio devoted to the new art you will see a few prints and bas-reliefs of Greek dancers, introduced by way of classical atmosphere. The Athenian damsels seem to be going through a sort of light and airy piping, to the accompaniment of pipes. In the same studio you will see a great many photographs of the modern interpreters—vigorous young ladies in the characteristic light costume, racing down the country roads, romping in pastures, posing precariously on mountain tops with a sunrise for an illuminating background, and balancing daintily on one foot while pointing at the back of the neck with the other. In a word, the modern stunt is Greek by name and very American in its strenuousness and inventiveness.

Heleen Moller is a typical and very graceful teacher and practitioner of this new art. She says that she has looked up the Greek dances in the public library and derived a lot of inspiration from them. Personally, she hales from Bird Island, Minn., population four hundred, and is of Swedish and German parentage. Out in Bird Island she went barefooted until she was a great big girl. Also she did not have many other children to play with, so she got in the habit of romping with her father's pointer dogs. Thus she learned to run and leap in her bare feet; and developed great strength and agility.

When she was about twenty years old everyone told her that she had great dramatic talent and that she ought to go to New York and train herself for the stage. Accordingly to New York she came and set herself to study singing and the piano.

They put her in small stuffy rooms and made her practice scales. There was very little air to breathe or room to move about. She missed the plains around Bird Island, and the pointer dogs. Furthermore she realized that it was going to be a long way to fame by the road she was then traveling.

It was about that time that Isadora Duncan had made classic dancing a fad. Miss Moller saw her and knew at once what she wanted to do. She also observed that all the people in New York who were doing things and making money came from somewhere in the west or somewhere in the south, and that their self-confidence and hustle seemed to be their assets. She had both of these qualities in large bunches. So she hired a large "duplex" studio-apartment overlooking Central park, pulled off her shoes and stockings and danced. She had no teachers and no steps. She simply frolicked to the music as she had formerly frolicked with Fido and Rover, and being naturally graceful she frolicked gracefully.

Stories of achievement are always short after the hero or heroine once gets started. Soon some one came to see Miss Moller frolic, and then some more came, and then someone wanted a lesson, and in no time at all, Miss Moller was a specialist in the "Greek classic" dances; interpreting the great composers, training people for the stage, dancing fat women lean and lean women fat, and sick women healthy. Her friends continued to come and see her—at two dollars a head. She gets thirty dollars an hour for teaching classes. A large number of her pupils are successful on the stage.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE BAREFOOT CLASSICS

By Frederic J. Haskin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—In various newspaper pictorial supplements and studio windows and other places where photographs are exhibited there recently appeared a charming picture of about half a dozen young women in diaphanous chiffon draperies standing on the deck of a motorboat speeding past the palisades of the Hudson.

Ten years ago that picture would have been hard to explain unless there had been a fire in one of the high class young ladies' finishing schools in that section, compelling the inmates to take to the boat with a few window curtains by way of clothes.

Today the explanation is easy. They are classic dancers, on the way home from a country frolic. Classic dancing is all the go in New York on and off the stage. Its eminently respectable and even scholarly standing is shown by the fact that one of the leading women's colleges of America recently celebrated its commencement by giving an outdoor pageant in which the classic garb and dance played a leading part. Instead of reading essays on Etruscan art and Greek antiquities, the girl graduates took off their shoes and stockings and things and got out on the lawn and gave their own interpretation of how the ancients looked and acted.

Isadora Duncan seems to have started the craze. Her beautiful barefoot dancing captivated New York, and inspired thousands of women with a desire to do likewise. Forthwith, as though by magic, studios of Greek dancing sprang up all over town. Society took it up. Schools and colleges added it to their curricula. Municipal playgrounds and Young Women's Christian associations employed teachers of it. It seemed as though the young women of America had just been waiting for a chance to romp in her bare feet.

There seems to be no doubt but what she has benefited immensely by the experience. For one thing, many fat women have danced themselves thin. Also, many sickly girls have danced their way to health. According to the exponents of the new art, it is the normal and natural exercise for women. Physical culture is too mechanical while athletics are too strenuous for many. Barefoot dancing affords an opportunity for spontaneous, rhythmic movement, giving full play to grace and originality, without making heavy demands upon the strength.

The Greek ancestry of this barefoot dancing is a little hard to trace. In a typical studio devoted to the new art you will see a few prints and bas-rel

TONIGHT

And each night this week

at the

Gateway City Rink

Location on State St.

The Vernons

The World's Greatest Skaters

Exhibition at 9 O'Clock

Admission 10c.

Usual Skating Before and After Performance.

RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP NOW ABOUT 900 AS CAMPAIGN IS NEARING TRIUMPHANT CLOSE

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

La Crosse Chapter The American Red Cross and Subscription to The American Red Cross Magazine.
J. M. HOLLEY, Treasurer.

Date.....

I hereby apply for membership in La Crosse Chapter of the American Red Cross (which includes subscription to the Red Cross Magazine) and enclose the sum of $1 therefor.

NAME

Address

With returns still incomplete, the Red Cross membership campaign has rolled up a membership of 863, and it is conservatively estimated that, with portions of several wards to come, the list will finally pass the nine hundred mark.

It is interesting to note that La Crosse has contributed something like three times its pro rata. The national society set its mark at one million. Since there are approximately 100 millions of people in the United States, the ratio is one member to each 100 people. Whereas La Crosse's pro rata upon that basis, estimating its population at 32,000, is 320, the city has actually given nearly 900 members.

As it has not been possible for the canvassers to reach every citizen, and doubtless there are many who have not been solicited, who would like to join the Red Cross, the committee requests any who so desire to fill out, and mail with check for $1.00, to Treasurer J. M. Holley, or to any bank in the city, the blank which appears at the beginning of this story.

MEXICO WILLING OTHER THAN MILITARY AFFAIRS BE GIVEN CONSIDERATION

By CARL D. GROOT (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The first direct notice that Mexico is willing to include other subjects than military matters in the coming conference, was given to Acting Secretary of

WILSON IN PERIL OF REFUGEES MAD FOR INTERVENTION

Bitterness against President Wilson among American refugees from Mexico renders the president's life unsafe. Villa did not participate in the Columbus raid, but was 150 miles from the scene of the massacre.

The border states, although solidly democratic, show great Hughes strength and may be carried by the republican candidate.

The people of the border attach a sentimental significance to the coming of the northern boys "to fight for them", and are treating the militiamen with utmost courtesy.

Sentiment in Texas is with Villa rather than with Carranza, and Mexicans generally desire intervention to save them from exploitation.

Villa was never wounded, is in perfect health, and could be brought in without bloodshed by the Texas rangers.

Above are a few of the highlights in an interview with Hon. Thomas Morris, who has just returned from a visit to his son, Howard, a private in the Third Wisconsin Infantry, at Camp Wilson, Texas. Much of the information was secured from Captain McDonough, second in command of the Texas Rangers, a man celebrated in border history.

An Interesting Character Mr. Morris spent much of four days with Captain McDonough. The latter has a wide acquaintance with leaders in Northern Mexico, is intimate with Villa, and has figured in many exciting episodes on both sides of the border. Perhaps his most interesting experience was the capture of the Allen brothers, whose sensational shooting of a judge on the bench of a Virginia court and members of an opposing feud faction in the court room, created great excitement some years ago. Captain McDonough obtained leave of absence and trailed the brothers for months, eventually capturing the pair single handed.

People Cordial Mr. Morris found a gratifying friendship for the northern boys in Texas. The coming to fight in the south's behalf of the sons of the men in blue who fought the gray, has stirred a sentiment of nationality that has not existed since the civil war, and the southern people are extending a cordial hospitality most pleasant to the northern boys. The talk of poor food for the Wisconsin brigade, Mr. Morris found utterly without foundation. Upon his arrival he met the Third regiment on the ten-mile hike in which they forded three rivers, and said they were in excellent condition. The cool nights make the heat less oppressive than it is in Wisconsin.

Bitter Toward Wilson That feeling among the refugees, many of them grown used to lawless ways through their residence in Mexico, is so bitter as to cause a menace to the safety of President Wilson, is the opinion of many Texans, and is shared by Captain McDonough. They think Huerta should have been recognized. They regard Carranza as a venial grafter, and deem Villa more the patriot, although too lacking in education for the presidency. Now they demand intervention, and declared the people of Mexico, in the main, are tired of being exploited, and also desire intervention.

Now a story that Carranza has transferred five millions of dollars from New York to Spanish banks, has aroused interest and is interpreted to mean that his flight impends.

Villa Not in Raid Captain McDonough is absolutely certain that the Columbus raiders were Carranzistas. He says that late in the night of the previous day he was himself with Villa 150 miles from Columbus, and that Villa could not possibly have reached Columbus in time for the raid. He says he will accept a commission from the United States to bring Villa to Texas, and will agree to do it without bloodshed.

Mr. Morris had a pleasant visit with his son, Howard, and with Captain F. H. Fowler they were entertained in the homes of San Antonio clients and friends of Mr. Morris. Howard Morris has been transferred from Company B to the Third Regiment band.

Several other Germans, whose diaries or letters were found, complained that the barrage fire from British guns cut them off from the rest of the world and that they had been unable to obtain food or drink. One officer wrote in his diary that he had sent an appeal for water, that his men were suffering more severely from lack of water in the heat than from lack of food.

North of Roelincourt two parties of British raiders entered the German line Monday night and blew up dugouts.

Ten enemy aeroplanes on Monday attempted bomb dropping expeditions behind the British front. Four British planes gave battle, driving them back in haste. Two of the Germans were driven down behind their own lines.

French Advance on Hill 139 PARIS, Aug. 8.—North of the Somme, the French Monday night, moving forward jointly with the British in an attack directed against the village Guillemont, made progress east of Hill 139 and north of the village of Hardecourt, the war office announced. Forty prisoners were taken in this region.

Germans Twice Repulsed Along the north bank of the river, the Germans twice attacked newly won French positions east of Monacu farm, but each time were repulsed, losing heavily. The French took 230 prisoners in yesterday's fighting around Monacu farm.

FINED FOR ASSAULT Christina Karib, North La Crosse woman charged with assaulting Emily Kassir, was found guilty by a jury in county court on Monday afternoon and fined $5 and costs.

DECLARES ARMENIANS EAT HUMAN FLESH BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 8.—Rather than starve to death, Armenians are eating human flesh, according to a cable dispatch received Tuesday by the American committee for Armenian and Syrian relief.

The dispatch is from "a high diplomatic authority in Turkey."

Drummers flee in pajamas when fire is found raging

The Park hotel, at Sparta, Wis., formerly known as the Winslow house, erected about 1860, and once of the first hotels in Monroe county, was destroyed by fire early on Tuesday morning. The loss is said to be about $10,000.

Several traveling men were forced to flee from their rooms in pajamas and night shirts, with what small part of their clothing they could gather in their arms.

It was feared for a time that the uncompleted Milwaukee railroad station, near the blazing structure, would catch fire. When a wind fanned the flames dangerously near the new station, officials of the road telephoned the La Crosse fire department.

Chief Fred C. McGlatchlin was requested to send a fire engine to Sparta. The road officials offered free transportation.

Want Mayor's Word Chief McGlatchlin told the railroad men that he would send apparatus and men if a request came to him from Mayor S. P. Stiles of Sparta. Mayor Stiles was awakened at his home. He concluded that the La Crosse department would not be necessary.

A steamer from Hose company No. 3 and the Central department truck were driven to the Milwaukee station here. An engine and two flat cars were made ready for the trip to Sparta. Word was not sent to Chief McGlatchlin to come.

Building Total Loss Stringent efforts of the Sparta volunteer fire department saved the lower part of the structure, although John Spurgeon, owner of the hotel, stated that the building and contents were a total loss. Only a few pieces of furniture were carried out before the flames overpowered members of a small rescue party.

Clerk Finds Fire The fire was discovered by Eugene Oakes, night clerk at the hotel, at about 2:45 on Tuesday morning. Oakes had escorted a traveling man to his room, and had returned to the lobby. He sat reading for a few minutes, and then walked towards the hotel kitchen.

As he opened the kitchen door, stifling smoke forced him back. He ran to the office and gave the alarm. Oakes then began shouting "fire" through the hotel corridors and rapping on doors.

It is believed that the fire started in the basement under the kitchen from a poorly insulated electric wire. It had gained to an extent that when the Sparta fire department arrived, the lower part of the building was in flames. Several streams were played upon the structure. They did little good, although all surrounding buildings, including the new Milwaukee station, were saved.

Australians draw fire of spirited German assaults

Monday's fighting. The cannonading was going on last night as if in preparation for another desperate German assault.

Documents found in German trenches captured in the recent British advance around Pozieres give convincing proof of the devastating effect of the bombardment that preceded the Australians' advance.

"They seem to know our dugouts better than we do ourselves," wrote one German soldier, commenting on the accuracy of the British artillery, in what may have been his last letter home.

"Shelling has been so violent they have been unable to bring us food," wrote another. "Our artillery fire is weak compared with the enemy's."

Cut Off From Supplies Several other Germans, whose diaries or letters were found, complained that the barrage fire from British guns cut them off from the rest of the world and that they had been unable to obtain food or drink. One officer wrote in his diary that he had sent an appeal for water, that his men were suffering more severely from lack of water in the heat than from lack of food.

DRUMMERS FLEE IN PAJAMAS WHEN FIRE IS FOUND RAGING

The Park hotel, at Sparta, Wis., formerly known as the Winslow house, erected about 1860, and once of the first hotels in Monroe county, was destroyed by fire early on Tuesday morning. The loss is said to be about $10,000.

Several traveling men were forced to flee from their rooms in pajamas and night shirts, with what small part of their clothing they could gather in their arms.

It was feared for a time that the uncompleted Milwaukee railroad station, near the blazing structure, would catch fire. When a wind fanned the flames dangerously near the new station, officials of the road telephoned the La Crosse fire department.

Chief Fred C. McGlatchlin was requested to send a fire engine to Sparta. The road officials offered free transportation.

Want Mayor's Word Chief McGlatchlin told the railroad men that he would send apparatus and men if a request came to him from Mayor S. P. Stiles of Sparta. Mayor Stiles was awakened at his home. He concluded that the La Crosse department would not be necessary.

A steamer from Hose company No. 3 and the Central department truck were driven to the Milwaukee station here. An engine and two flat cars were made ready for the trip to Sparta. Word was not sent to Chief McGlatchlin to come.

Building Total Loss Stringent efforts of the Sparta volunteer fire department saved the lower part of the structure, although John Spurgeon, owner of the hotel, stated that the building and contents were a total loss. Only a few pieces of furniture were carried out before the flames overpowered members of a small rescue party.

Clerk Finds Fire The fire was discovered by Eugene Oakes, night clerk at the hotel, at about 2:45 on Tuesday morning. Oakes had escorted a traveling man to his room, and had returned to the lobby. He sat reading for a few minutes, and then walked towards the hotel kitchen.

As he opened the kitchen door, stifling smoke forced him back. He ran to the office and gave the alarm. Oakes then began shouting "fire" through the hotel corridors and rapping on doors.

It is believed that the fire started in the basement under the kitchen from a poorly insulated electric wire. It had gained to an extent that when the Sparta fire department arrived, the lower part of the building was in flames. Several streams were played upon the structure. They did little good, although all surrounding buildings, including the new Milwaukee station, were saved.

Australians draw fire of spirited German assaults

Monday's fighting. The cannonading was going on last night as if in preparation for another desperate German assault.

Documents found in German trenches captured in the recent British advance around Pozieres give convincing proof of the devastating effect of the bombardment that preceded the Australians' advance.

"They seem to know our dugouts better than we do ourselves," wrote one German soldier, commenting on the accuracy of the British artillery, in what may have been his last letter home.

"Shelling has been so violent they have been unable to bring us food," wrote another. "Our artillery fire is weak compared with the enemy's."

Cut Off From Supplies Several other Germans, whose diaries or letters were found, complained that the barrage fire from British guns cut them off from the rest of the world and that they had been unable to obtain food or drink. One officer wrote in his diary that he had sent an appeal for water, that his men were suffering more severely from lack of water in the heat than from lack of food.

North of Roelincourt two parties of British raiders entered the German line Monday night and blew up dugouts.

Ten enemy aeroplanes on Monday attempted bomb dropping expeditions behind the British front. Four British planes gave battle, driving them back in haste. Two of the Germans were driven down behind their own lines.

French Advance on Hill 139 PARIS, Aug. 8.—North of the Somme, the French Monday night, moving forward jointly with the British in an attack directed against the village Guillemont, made progress east of Hill 139 and north of the village of Hardecourt, the war office announced. Forty prisoners were taken in this region.

Germans Twice Repulsed Along the north bank of the river, the Germans twice attacked newly won French positions east of Monacu farm, but each time were repulsed, losing heavily. The French took 230 prisoners in yesterday's fighting around Monacu farm.

FINED FOR ASSAULT Christina Karib, North La Crosse woman charged with assaulting Emily Kassir, was found guilty by a jury in county court on Monday afternoon and fined $5 and costs.

DECLARES ARMENIANS EAT HUMAN FLESH BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 8.—Rather than starve to death, Armenians are eating human flesh, according to a cable dispatch received Tuesday by the American committee for Armenian and Syrian relief.

The dispatch is from "a high diplomatic authority in Turkey."

Drummers flee in pajamas when fire is found raging

The Park hotel, at Sparta, Wis., formerly known as the Winslow house, erected about 1860, and once of the first hotels in Monroe county, was destroyed by fire early on Tuesday morning. The loss is said to be about $10,000.

Several traveling men were forced to flee from their rooms in pajamas and night shirts, with what small part of their clothing they could gather in their arms.

It was feared for a time that the uncompleted Milwaukee railroad station, near the blazing structure, would catch fire. When a wind fanned the flames dangerously near the new station, officials of the road telephoned the La Crosse fire department.

Chief Fred C. McGlatchlin was requested to send a fire engine to Sparta. The road officials offered free transportation.

Want Mayor's Word Chief McGlatchlin told the railroad men that he would send apparatus and men if a request came to him from Mayor S. P. Stiles of Sparta. Mayor Stiles was awakened at his home. He concluded that the La Crosse department would not be necessary.

A steamer from Hose company No. 3 and the Central department truck were driven to the Milwaukee station here. An engine and two flat cars were made ready for the trip to Sparta. Word was not sent to Chief McGlatchlin to come.

Building Total Loss Stringent efforts of the Sparta volunteer fire department saved the lower part of the structure, although John Spurgeon, owner of the hotel, stated that the building and contents were a total loss. Only a few pieces of furniture were carried out before the flames overpowered members of a small rescue party.

Clerk Finds Fire The fire was discovered by Eugene Oakes, night clerk at the hotel, at about 2:45 on Tuesday morning. Oakes had escorted a traveling man to his room, and had returned to the lobby. He sat reading for a few minutes, and then walked towards the hotel kitchen.

As he opened the kitchen door, stifling smoke forced him back. He ran to the office and gave the alarm. Oakes then began shouting "fire" through the hotel corridors and rapping on doors.

It is believed that the fire started in the basement under the kitchen from a poorly insulated electric wire. It had gained to an extent that when the Sparta fire department arrived, the lower part of the building was in flames. Several streams were played upon the structure. They did little good, although all surrounding buildings, including the new Milwaukee station, were saved.

Australians draw fire of spirited German assaults

Monday's fighting. The cannonading was going on last night as if in preparation for another desperate German assault.

Documents found in German trenches captured in the recent British advance around Pozieres give convincing proof of the devastating effect of the bombardment that preceded the Australians' advance.

"They seem to know our dugouts better than we do ourselves," wrote one German soldier, commenting on the accuracy of the British artillery, in what may have been his last letter home.

COMPANY L SPARTA BENEFIT SOCIAL IS BIG SUCCESS

SPARTA, Wis.—(Special.)—The ice cream social, given Saturday evening for the benefit of members of Company L, was a decided success. The original plan was to have the social on the lawn at the Lewis house, but owing to the threatening weather, it was thought best to have it in the Armory. The ladies began serving in the afternoon and by nine o'clock at night, their supply was exhausted. The receipts reached over sixty dollars.

Miss Copper Weds A quiet wedding took place August 1st in the parlor of the parsonage of the Evangelical church when Miss Zelma J. Copper of Chippewa Falls, and Mr. Lyman C. Sanders of Sparta, were united in marriage by Rev. J. Schneller.

The young couple will reside on a farm near the city, whither the good wishes of their friends will follow them.

Ice Cream Social The ladies of the Catholic church will have an ice cream social on the church lawn, West Oak street, next Thursday afternoon and evening. If the weather should be bad, the social will be postponed until Friday. Everybody invited.

Street Improvement W. D. Graves started the curb and gutter work on West Montgomery street last week, and has the two blocks to Merrill street over half completed. J. D. Teasdale is doing the curb work from Merrill to Black River street. When this is completed, the street will be paved with brick.

New Janitor Ed Laxton, who has been employed by the Home Lumber company is now janitor at the federal postoffice building in place of Mr. Day, who has served in that capacity since the death of Alva Goodman.

Traveling West S. C. Letson, owner of the Sparta Furniture house, and his wife, left Saturday morning for a trip in the west, expecting to be gone about six weeks. They stopped in Minneapolis en route and will then go to Glacier National park and to the coast, before returning home.

Attend Convention O. H. Duxrud, clerk of the circuit court, is in Milwaukee attending a convention of the circuit court clerks which convenes there this week.

O. J. Jackson, county clerk is looking after his office, while he is away.

Property Changes Charles Wood has purchased the Henry Wagner home on Pine street. Judson Webster has bought the Akend head place.

John Canney has purchased the Webster place, and is making a number of improvements upon it.

Visitors at Trout Falls Among those who went to Trout Falls Sunday looking for a cool spot were John Youngman and wife, Mrs. Hoffman, Miss Naomi Fitzgerald, W. T. Jefferson and family, Mrs. Clara Fanning and daughter, Thelma, T. C. Longwell, Harry Masters, and wife, Dr. Barlow and wife, R. J. Taylor and wife, Miss Margaret Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fisher, Misses Olive and Ethel Burrows and E. B. Bell.

Local and Personal Miss Gertrude Madden was a La Crosse caller Sunday.

John C. Davis of Viroqua, assessor of income taxes, is in the city on business.

Clyde Smith from Cashton, was a Sunday caller here.

Mr. Fred McWhithy of Tomahawk, is visiting old time friends in the city.

Mrs. Ruth Ford White and daughter returned to their home in Oakland, Cal., today after spending a month here with friends and relatives.

Miss Mabel Talbot of Tomah, is a guest at the Enckhausen home.

Mrs. John Humphrey had a throat operation at St. Mary's hospital Saturday.

James Spradling, editor of the Monroe County Democrat, is ill at his home with quinsy.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Duffer, a daughter Friday, Aug. 4th.

Mrs. C. C. Newton, who has been visiting relatives and friends in the city for several weeks, started Saturday on her return to Los Angeles, Cal. She will stop in Minneapolis and other points enroute.

Margaret Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis T. Hill, is ill in St. Mary's hospital.

The Misses Florence and Alice Lawson have returned home from a visit in Minneapolis and Charles City, Iowa.

H. G. Oaks of Tunnel City, was a Sunday visitor in the city.

N. J. Kemp and wife and grandson, Harry Kemp, drove down from Minneapolis, and are visiting relatives in the city.

Rev. L. A. Brenner and family went on an auto trip to Austin, Minn., and Charles City, Iowa, where they will visit relatives.

Mrs. D. J. McTavish, who has been visiting her sister in Michigan for two or three weeks, is expected home tomorrow.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

One of the largest farm real estate transfers filed with Register of Deeds A. E. Thompson recently was the sale on Tuesday of 202 acres of land in Hamilton township, near the Village of West Salem, for $16,000. The property was sold by Dietrich Krucke to Sidney Clark.

Property in the village of West Salem was on Tuesday transferred by Ella M. Waite to Julia Van Zandt. The consideration was $2,800.

BRIDE WITNESS OF TRAGEDY IN WHICH SPOUSE AND CHUM ARE TAKEN AWAY

(Continued from Page 1.)

himself and floundered back to the step-off.

"Walter's face," he told a TRIBUNE representative, "seemed to be begging me to get them, and I tried again. This time Walter seized me by the arm and pulled me under again. When I broke loose and came up, I was so exhausted I could hardly swim. I struggled to the bank, and fell exhausted. When I got to my feet again, they were still struggling in the water. I threw a couple of big tree-branches out to them, but they didn't notice them. Then went down again, and when they came up, Miss Coles had stopped fighting. She had released her hold on Walter, and was floating down stream, her head out of the water.

Walter sank and came up again, twice. He didn't speak. I think the cramp had him then, for though I shouted at him, and encouraged him to try for the shore, he didn't move his arms. Then he disappeared and did not come up again."

Launch Strikes on Dam The only boat available was the high powered launch far downstream. Mr. Rose ran for it, while Mrs. Hosely, on the sandbar, had waded out as far as she could, and stood calling for help. Reaching the boat, Mr. Rose toyed the mooring loose and started the engine. In his haste to round the end of the dam and get to the scene, he ran the boat high and dry on the rocks.

Mrs. Hosely's cries, in the meantime, had attracted the attention of two Indians who were haying on the Wisconsin side. One came running, and seeing the situation, dashed back to a slough where his canoe lay. He picked it up, tore back through the brush and launched it above the dam. The body of Miss Coles was floating near the dam, and he hauled it up on shore. Then he paddled out to the point where Mr. Rose was marooned, and brought him in. The two worked for half an hour, to no avail. It is believed that Miss Coles, who was known to have a weak heart, died of heart failure. There was scarcely any water in her lungs.

Go for Help At length, despairing of resuscitating Miss Coles, Mr. Rose worked the launch off the dam, and took Mrs. Hosely to the houseboat of Jule Freas, a mile down river. The wife and daughter of a fisherman nearby took the frantic wife under their care, and Mr. Rose, Mrs. Freas and M. Rosenstein, who was visiting at the Freas houseboat, started for Trempealeau. The fisherman went back to the scene of the drowning with a net, to search for Mr. Hosely's body.

At Trempealeau, word of the tragedy was telephoned to La Crosse. Gus B. Rose started at once for Richmond in an automobile, and his brother, with the others, led a party of rivermen back to the scene to search for the body. It was almost dark before the body was found. Both bodies were taken to Trempealeau, and brought back to La Crosse late Monday evening. Mrs. Hosely and the Rose brothers accompanying them.

Mr. and Mrs. Hosely were married Mr. 22 this year. Mrs. Hosely was the daughter of L. R. Wilbur, sergeant of police in Chicago, who arrived in La Crosse early this morning. Mrs. Wilbur did not accompany him. She remained in Chicago to go to comfort and look after the mother of Miss Coles, her neighbor, who is prostrated by grief.

Miss Coles was 24 years of age. Her home in Chicago was at 120 E. Thirtieth place. She was proprietor of a large millinery establishment at 3514 Indiana avenue. She had been a girlhood chum and lifelong friend of Mrs. Hosely.

Well-Known Business Man Mr. Hosely was one of the best known of the younger generation of business in the city. He was a native of La Crosse, having been born here thirty-eight years ago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Hosely.

He bought out the Fast Lewis cigar store on Main street two years ago, and had been running it successfully since that time. Previous to his purchase, he spent a year as a bond salesman in Chicago, during which time he met Miss Marion Wilbur, who became his wife.

Mr. Hosely was a prominent member of the Elks' club. At the recent organization of the new chamber of commerce, he was elected one of the directors, representing the merchants' bureau. Besides his wife and mother, he is survived by two brothers, Fred and Matt, and three sisters, Misses Alma, Lillian and Elsie.

Frederick Hosely arrived today from Wadena, where a telegram informing him of the tragedy intercepted him last night. Mr. Hosely, the oldest brother, has not yet been located. He left his home in Chicago some days ago for a vacation in the Maine woods, and is out of touch with the telegraph.

EXTRAVAGANCE IN PENSION AWARD IS LAID TO BRINDLEY

(Continued from Page 1.)

than $5,000 will be appropriated for the balance of the present year.

Schlachack Asks Funds District Attorney Otto Schlachack, at the afternoon session of the county board, answered Supervisor Guenther's charge that he had neglected to bring back Will Otto from Minnesota to care for his family by presenting a resolution for passage, which would authorize him to spend the necessary money to extradite the man. The district attorney said he is contemplating asking the Houston county authorities to examine the man for his sanity. If the investigation reaches the same conclusion as the La Crosse commission, Otto will be sent back to Wisconsin.

Brindley Did not take up any of the charges made against him by Guenther when he appeared before the board. He told them that for lack of funds he was forced to administer the mothers' pension money in a way he believed not in accordance with the intention of the legislature in passing the law. Fifteen thousand dollars is the amount that should be appropriated for the fund each year, the judge said. He said $12,000 is the absolute minimum for 1917. He urged the appropriation of $4,000 for the balance of the year.

How's This? We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Hall's Catarrh Medicine has been taken by catarrh sufferers for the past thirty-five years, and has become known as the most reliable remedy for Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the Blood on the Mucous surfaces, expelling the Poison from the Blood and healing the diseased portions.

After you have taken Hall's Catarrh Medicine for a short time you will see a great improvement in your general health. Start taking Hall's Catarrh Medicine at once and get rid of catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by all Druggists, 76c.

"S'MATTER, POP?"

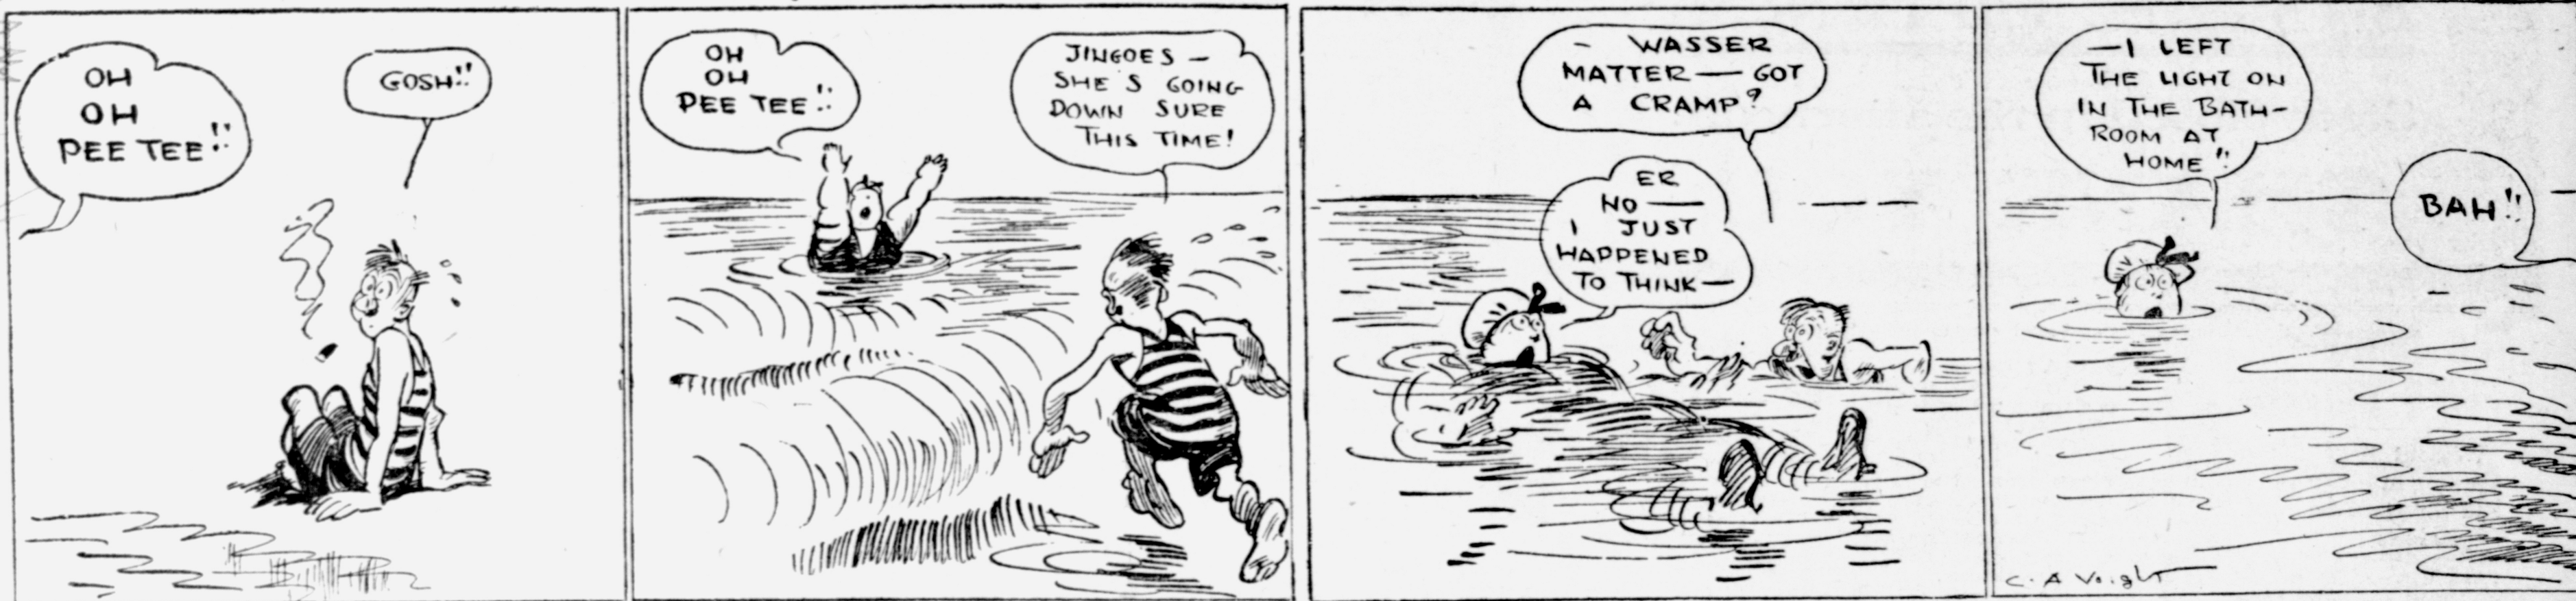

(Copyright 1916, Press Publishing Co.)

By C. N. PAYNE

PETHEY DINK—The Next Time It Goes Out He'll Let Her Drown

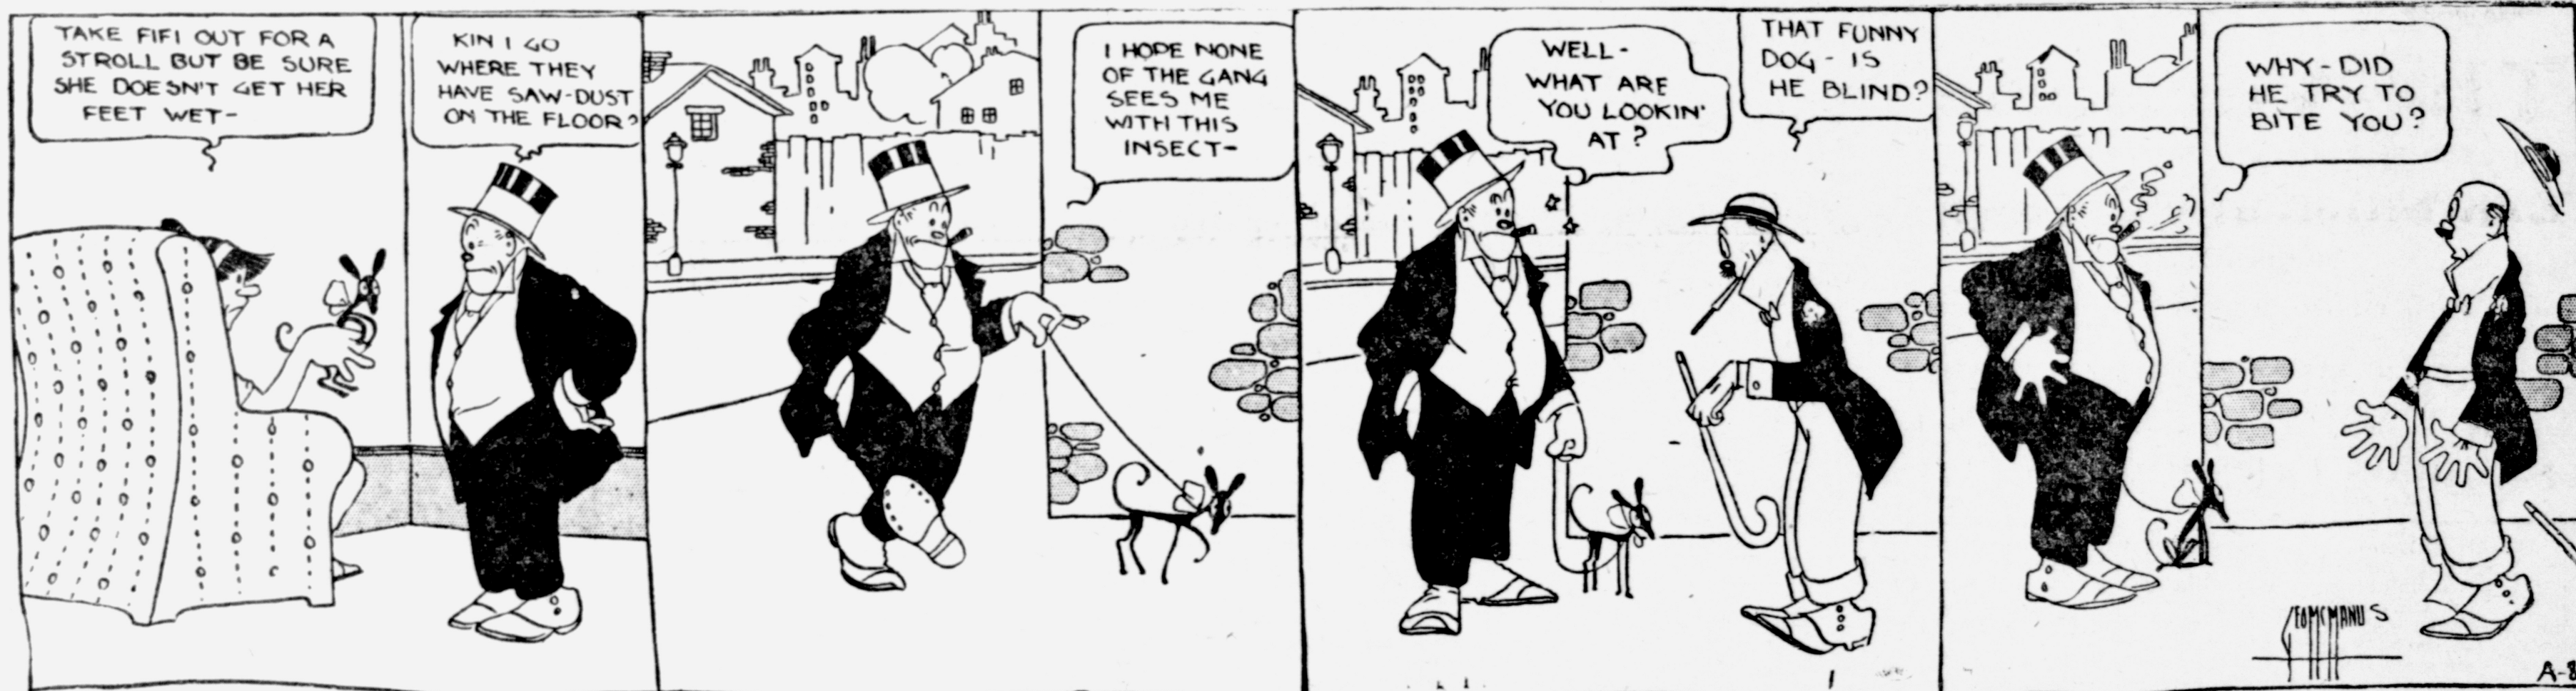

By C. A. VOIGHT

BRINGING UP FATHER

(Copyright 1916, International News Service)

By GEORGE McMANUS

The TRIBUNE'S
Daily
Short Story

THE LITTLEST BRIDESMAID

BY ISOLA FORRESTER

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"If Nancy were only just a little bit taller, she might do," Marjorie glanced at the youngest member of the Raleigh family speculatively. "I do think it was perfectly fiendish of Dell to disappoint me right at the very last minute. She knew I never could get another girl way up here in the mountains in time for the wedding."

"Don't you care, Margie," Nancy spoke up generously. "I'll be the rescue party. I can wear your high-heeled slippers if I stuff the toes and I'll do my hair way up high. I don't mind a bit."

"Listen to the magnanimous kitten," laughed Marjorie. "It's the chance of your young life, and you know it, too. I don't mind, but how about mother and Aunt Suzanne? Do you hear them saying yes?"

"I'll bet two cents to a collar button they'll have to," Nancy returned laughingly. She sat curled up in the window seat in the girls' favorite room for confabs, the little room at the head of the stairs that looked out over the broad mountain view below Stony Hedge. And she was most industriously cleaning her tennis shoes, for there were no personal maids in the Raleigh family. Maids and "sich like" didn't matter, Nancy was wont to remark hopefully. Not when one is the youngest of a bevy of beauties—Winifred, safely married well in Washington; Kitty, wife of young Captain Brainerd in the navy, and now Marjorie, bride-elect of Lansing Phillips, the consulting engineer for the big Graham-Stokes interests.

"You know I shall have to marry somebody perfectly wonderful to keep up the family record," Nancy would often say. "I can see him waiting for me, serene and splendid, with dad's consent and mother's sweet smile, and all you girls wishing you'd waited for my chance. It's much nicer being the youngest. You can profit by the others' experiences."

Marjorie had gone down to the veranda, where her mother sat planning the final arrangements for the wedding the next day, and presently Nancy heard the familiar voice call her down likewise for close inspection. The postman was just coming up the walk with the afternoon mail. "The high heels would add to her height," Mrs. Randall said musingly, "and there's a little dress you wore at the Farley lawn party. You remember, dear, it has a lace under-skirt and the overdress of white mull flowered in pink roses. With her big drooping white hat and pink roses—but have we any fresh enough?"

"Use real ones," suggested Nancy. "Oh, I'd love to, real lovely fresh ones, mother, dear, all around the brim and tucked in my waist, couldn't I?"

"It would be rather quaint. You could carry pink roses, too, and the other girls wear pink. It won't be noticeable."

So it was arranged, and Nancy trod on air in the seventh heaven while the dress was altered to fit her slim, alert figure. The wedding was to be at ten in the little ivy-covered chapel across the winding road from the Raleigh estate. Nancy, as she came downstairs with the other girls, intent on her slippers and new dignity, heard one of the men saying that Andy was late as usual. And it meant nothing at all to her who Andy was or why he was late. She almost tripped on the veranda steps, but caught her balance.

"You tore the lace," Vera Kennedy whispered—the girl just behind her—and Nancy, taking one backward glance at the telltale shred dangling, slipped out of line and made for the sitting room for a pin.

It did seem as if every pin had vanished. She searched wildly, keeping one eye on the window where the bridal procession could be seen moving sedately through the spacious bow-bordered path to the chapel.

"Did you lose some things?"

Nancy was on her knees before the lower desk drawers when the new voice startled her. It must be a belated guest, she thought, yet a very desirable one. He was tall and athletic and just dusty and rumpled enough to look refreshing after the groomed perfection of the others.

"Have you a pin?" asked Nancy. "I tore my skirt."

"Indeed I have," he retorted heartily. "Right here. Can I help the flower girl?"

"I'm not the flower girl," Nancy answered haughtily. "I am one of the bridesmaids."

"The littlest one," he added gravely, as she rose with the ruffle pinned safely in place. "Can you run? I've got to, because the ring's in my pocket and I'm late."

Nancy's blue eyes danced with sudden mischief. They went down the steps and the path on a run like children.

"You're Andy and you're always late," she said.

Then she thanked her lucky stars Marjorie could not see her, or her mother, as she slipped back into her place just as they reached the chapel. And he, this dilatory Andy, went around through the vestry door and appeared, calm and capable, beside her future brother-in-law as best man.

"You know, Nancy," Mrs. Raleigh said a few hours later, when it was all over and Marjorie started on the crest of matrimony's tide, "you look very winsome and sweet and acted very nicely. I was glad you didn't make yourself conspicuous at all."

"Yes'm," said Nancy demurely. And then, oddly enough, she went up to the little hall room, she the last of the Raleigh daughters, and just jumped into the cushions on the window seat, crying because Andy Kinkaid had called her the littlest bridesmaid. The hair done high and the slippers and grown-up dress had not deceived him. He had smiled at her amusedly and had been nice just to please her in her masquerade. That was all. And yet she was really going on eighteen. That was pretty nearly grown up.

It was nearly dusk when the car stopped outside.

Nancy looked out the window, trying to distinguish the two figures. One was surely her father and the other the dilatory Andy. And they came up the broad veranda steps like a couple of pals together. Nancy stood in the little room, her heart beating fast like a captured bird, listening. Then came her father's step on the stairs, and she ran to meet him.

"Go down and welcome Andy, Nan," he said, cheerily. "He's going to spend a week with us. His dad and I were chums through college. And listen, Nannie," as she started down, "I'll tell your mother why he's here myself, see?"

Nan caught at the big, strong hand on the banisters, and pressed it to her lips, then went softly, shyly down to the big, shadowy living room where he stood waiting.

"I never dreamed you—you'd be back so soon," she faltered.

"I couldn't wait for you to grow up, dear. And when Mr. Raleigh asked me there at the station if I wasn't Tad Morrison's boy, I knew the trail led back to your feet. So here I am." He paused and took her hands in his, waiting. "I won't hurry you, you know; I won't say anything at all until you give me the signal, but I just wanted to come back and look in your eyes and be sure you knew me as I did you."

Nancy's voice was almost a whisper, a very hurried but eager whisper.

"I did—the very minute you gave me the pin. But how soon you came true."

New Albin

On Wednesday, August 2, Major Lewis Barrett delivered a discourse on his missionary tour of Wisconsin. He told some interesting things about the human family.

A silver offering concluded the service.

Local and Personal

Jim Fitzgerald left Friday after a visit with relatives and friends here. Old friends are always glad to stretch Jim the welcome hand.

Mrs. Edward Collins and two sons autoed to Hanover on Tuesday, where they will visit relatives.

Mrs. Will Tipperly and son Edward spent the week in La Crosse.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bock returned home from their tour west. They report an enjoyable trip.

John Coleman is again able to be around after a serious illness. Every-

DENOUNCING MEDICINES

Wholesale denunciation of proprietary medicines is no more justifiable than wholesale denunciation of the medical profession. It is no more true that there are reputable physicians who unselfishly devote their lives to an unending struggle with disease than that there are standard remedies which do as good a work; often where the work of the good physician cannot reach. A good example is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which has for forty years been alleviating the sufferings of women and curing the ills peculiar to their sex.

one is glad to meet the smiling face of Miss Mary Dolan, with a company of friends autoed to Lansing on Wednesday. M. J. Cacanough acted as chauffeur.

Edward Pohlman came home Friday for a short vacation with home folks. Many are the greetings that he will receive from his numerous friends.

Mrs. J. Beardmore and Mrs. J. Siegfried returned Friday after a short visit with friends in La Crosse and Dakota.

Before you start out hunting trouble just sit down and figure out what you are going to do with it when you find it.

ON THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER
WITHIN THE REACH OF EVERY ONE

MORNING STAR

Will leave La Crosse for St. Paul every Monday at 7:00 a. m.
Will leave La Crosse for Davenport every Thursday at 2:00 p. m.
Write or call for illustrated folder. W. L. Yerly, Agt., La Crosse, Wis. Phones 223.

NORTHERN STEAMBOAT CO., DAVENPORT, IOWA.

HOTEL GREGORIAN
35th STREET
Bet. 5th Ave. & Broadway
300 Rooms, Each with Bath.
$2.00 to $3.50 Per Day.
Fireproof—Modern—Central
Meals: Table d'Hôte and à la Carte
We pay taxicab service from Grand Central or Penn. Stations.

L. C. Smith & Bros. Silent No. 8
A complete typewriter in every detail for the manufacturer, banker, merchant, or professional man. A typewriter minus the racket. Light running, ball bearing, long wearing. All devices inbuilt and attachments.
We carry a complete stock of new and Factory Rebuilt Typewriters. Typewriters Rented. Typewriter Supplies.
L. C. SMITH & BROS., TYPEWRITER CO.
229 Main Street, La Crosse, Wis. or 74 East 5th St., St. Paul, Minn.

SCOTT-ROSE CO.

418-420 MAIN STREET

ANNIVERSARY SALE

Ends Wednesday Noon

BARGAINS

for the Grand Finish

8:15 A. M. Till 12 Noon

Store closed in the afternoon.

THANK YOU.

VIROQUA JUDGE
FINES DRIVERS

Driving Without Rear Lights and Turning in the Center of Street Cause Arrests

VIROQUA, Wis.—(Special).—Judge S. R. Pollard was called home from the Business Men's camp at Coon Valley to preside in a number of small court matters which required immediate attention last week.

Most of the cases were automobile offenders. J. W. Thayer was fined eight dollars and fifty-five cents for turning his machine in the middle of the street. Fred Alexander, J. Jacobson, Olaf Walby and Gilbert Nelson were each fined four dollars and costs for running without the rear lights on their machines.

All are residents of Viroqua but the latter named, who lives near West Prairie. Four posted, men were brought before the court in an attempt to compel them to tell where they obtained intoxicants, but no incriminating evidence was secured.

Fred Pisha of Dilly was arrested on a charge of selling liquor without a license. Defendant waived examination and was bound over to circuit court.

Easiest Way to Remove Ugly Hairy Growths

(Beauty Culture)
Here is a method for removing hair or fuzz that is untamable and is quite inexpensive. Mix a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water and spread on hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes, rub it off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. No harm or inconvenience results from this treatment, but be careful to get genuine delatone.

First Band Concert

The first of the series of band concerts was given on the band stand on Main street Saturday night, postponed on account of Friday night's storm. The streets were thronged with people, who came out to enjoy the music, this being the first opportunity to hear the new band. The city council at their last meeting agreed to give the city band twenty-five dollars for each concert.

Local and Personal

Miss Clara Olson of Fargo, N. D., is home for a few weeks' visit with friends and relatives in the city.

Mrs. A. Wilberg and two daughters Dora and Myrtle of Chicago, are the guests of the Tuhus family in this city.

Mrs. Oscar Larson and children have returned from a month's visit with relatives at Minneapolis.

Miss Regina DeWitt has returned to her home at Viola after a two weeks' visit with relatives in the city.

Miss Alma Nelson of Richland Center is home for a two weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nichol Nelson of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Hook have returned home from Chippewa Falls, where Mrs. Hook has been receiving medical treatment for the past three months.

Mr. Henry Running is suffering from an infection of the hand caused by blood poisoning.

Miss Hazel Widmer of Rockton visited friends in Viroqua the latter part of the week. She has been engaged to teach in one of the grades for the coming year.

Herman Wolfram of Milwaukee arrived in the city Saturday for a short visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wolfram.

Miss Geneva Graves is home from Madison where she attended the school of journalism at the university.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Nuzum are the parents of a baby daughter.

Maybe a horse is said to have horse sense because the horse can't talk and make a fool of himself.

DIPLOMATIC DEFEAT OF ALLIES KAY OF HOPE TO GERMANS

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—Failure of the British to make any important headway in their great offensive on the Somme front and a fresh defeat for allied diplomats in Rumania have inspired the German public with fresh confidence.

All reports from Bucharest and Vienna indicate that the Balkan situation is again satisfactory to the central powers. Reports from Stockholm declare keen disappointment is felt in Petrograd over the failure of allied diplomats' latest maneuvers at Bucharest.

Satisfied that they could not induce Rumania to enter the war, the allies attempted another coup in the negotiations just closed. They asked that Russia be permitted to send troops through Rumania to invade Hungary, thus evading the Carpathian mountain barrier. Russia guaranteed to defend Rumania from attack should Austria declare war on Rumania.

Halting of the Russian advance in the southeast and the allies' failure to break through the German lines in the west were factors that aided Germany greatly at Bucharest. The allies, it is understood here, have now practically discontinued their efforts to win Rumania's favor.

145 NEW CASES

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—There were 145 new cases of infantile paralysis reported in New York in the last twenty-four hours, health officials announced. Forty-four deaths occurred. These figures bring the total cases to 5,168 and the total deaths to 1,143.

Telephone 323 for Want Ads.

CHAUTAUQUA AT WEST SALEM HAS STORM TROUBLES

Dust Is Followed by Terrific Rain and Then Tent is Blown Down in Heavy Wind

WEST SALEM, Wis.—(Special).—The Chautauqua week in West Salem has been none of the easiest. Beginning on Tuesday afternoon, it had the somewhat extreme heat and the ever increasing dust of the hot, dry spell to contend with. Then the change of weather came, wind and rain, and half the tent blew down, though not at an assembly hour, and wet up things somewhat.

When things were running nicely again the Friday night storm came just right to make it a question whether one had not better wear his bathing suit in the effort to get to the meeting. A very few turned out and the fine lecture on James Whitcomb Riley with its attendant cartoon and ventriloquism entertainment was presented to the very small audience just the same as though there had been a full audience.

The numbers have all been good and have been enjoyed by enthusiastic listeners, even though it is harvest time and hard for many to get in.

Village Improvements
Steadily the village is making its improvements. The village fathers have set themselves to the task of making the alley that runs back of the principle business block a little more what an alley should be. All of the usual accumulations that burden the back yard of the business section are cleared away. The alley itself is being graded, so that it will, in the future, drain as it should, and when it is paved it will be a credit to the town. This will be one of the best things the city authorities have done and one that will win universal approval.

Wind Hurts Farmers
The heavy rainfall and wind have caused quite a serious loss to the farmers, much grain and corn having been flattened down, some of it past reclamation. The threshing crews are held up for the time being, both the shocks and the fields themselves being too wet for threshing. Farmers in this region of heavy soil would be glad to spare some of the dampness they have been getting, letting those whose soils are lighter have the benefit.

Land Is Sold
A notable deal in real estate took place when William Van Sandt sold his fine farm, two miles from town on the Sparta road, to Henry Garsbers.

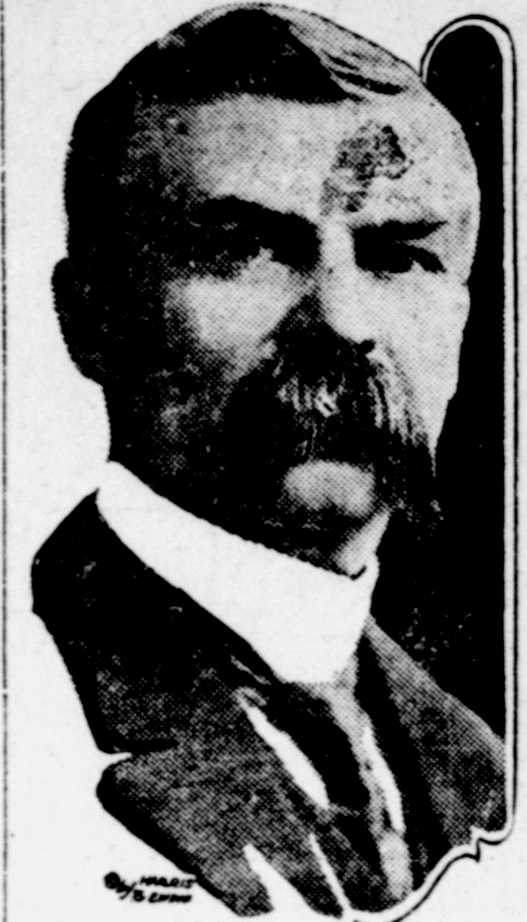

Mr. Van Sandt has bought the residence property belonging to Mrs. E. N. Waite of Bangor, and will take possession as soon as Harley Oakes can move his goods into his new house which is finished but not yet quite dry enough for occupancy.

Letter From Soldier
One of our citizens just received a post card from Niles Twining, who is with the Third regiment band of the Wisconsin Brigade, at San Antonio.

"A line to let you know that I haven't been sniped off by the Mexicans yet. It is quite warm here in the day time, but the evenings and mornings are great and one has to cover up pretty well at night. Don't know what we are here for, but will have to stay as long as they want us. We are all feeling fine and all of the West Salem boys stand the hikes well."

Plenty of other communications have been received here from our boys at the front. They are all as cheerful as this one. They are from boys who are accustomed to as good housing as any man could need and food that can be excelled nowhere. Their wives and mothers

MONTANA MAN HEADS
MID-WEST CAMPAIGN

Senator Thomas J. Walsh.
United States Senator Thomas J. Walsh has been selected by the Democratic national committee to take charge of the Wilson campaign at Chicago.

can cook meals fit for a king. Some of the grouchy talk in the newspapers seems suspiciously like the knocking that is known to characterize a certain class of traveling-men that has, perhaps, no more disagreeable national trait than that of kicking over service and food that are far better than what they live on at home. Maybe Uncle Samuel is sweet on the Wisconsin boys' get-up.

Local and Personal
W. A. Bradley, Geo. McDonald, S. L. McKee and R. M. Taylor were undertaking to have the unpaved streets upon which they live treated to a coat of crude oil, as an experiment, when the rain caused postponement. It is hoped that this experiment will prove a remedy for the dust and at least lessen the trials of mud and ruts when it is wet. If it proves to be a desirable change there is no doubt but that others will follow suit.

A shower of another kind is being anticipated for Monday afternoon, this one being planned by the ladies of the Federated church in honor of Miss Ethel Oltman, who has been very actively identified with the work of the said church, as accompanist and in other capacities.

Miss Oltman, it is understood, will be out of the teaching force of our school, in a short time, and in the larger force of home-makers whose teaching, with but a single pupil in hand, is yet a much more serious job.

Several of the lovers and members of the Camp Salem camp are scheduled to leave the early part of the week for their beautiful hunting lodge that bears the name of "Camp Salem," for a little stay in the tall timber.

The location is in northern Taylor county and the drive up through the country is a beautiful one, especially the northern end of the road, where the way is through the majestic Wisconsin woods and in and out among the gem-like lakes with which that region is dotted.

The people who attended the Federated church services on Sunday morning were given the great treat of hearing Dr. Charles F. Sheldon of the Jones Chautauqua system, who gave a splendid talk that cannot but be helpful to all who heard it.

Many friends here have been deeply grieved over the relapse of Mrs. Mary Quiggle, following her operation in La Crosse and the hopeful news of her condition immediate-

AT THE MOVIES

THE STAR
TODAY
Daring Marie Walcamp
The fearless actress in "The Railroad Bandit"
A 2 reel Railroad thriller
"Mr. Fuller Pep"
New powers Kinetic Cartoon picture.
A rousing L-KO comedy, and "The Hidden City of Crime"

Wednesday and Thursday—Big 7 reel show with Edwin August, Rupert Julian, Elsie Jane Wilson and Myrtle Gonzales.

THE DOME
"Sin's Penalty"
Broadway star feature, with Mary Anderson and Webster Campbell
"Selig News Tribune"
"The Sleuths"
Vim Comedy
COMING—Mme. Petrova in What Will People Say?

BIJOU
Last Times
Tonight
To See The

"The Evil Thereof"

A wonderful
PARAMOUNT PICTURE
With Frank Losee
WEDNESDAY
ALICE BRADY
in
MISS PETTICOATS

ly following the operation. The news of her death was not unexpected when it came, though it was received with profound sadness at the end of an heroic struggle that has led her through a long spell of sickness. The deepest sympathy is felt for the bereaved family. Funeral announcement will be given later.

SPEND VACATION
DOWN BIG RIVER

MAUSTON, Wis.—(Special).—Another party, Mr. and Mrs. L. E.
Meanwell of Madison, have been lured by nature to make their vacation a real one by devoting it to a canoe trip down the Lemonweir river from here and then down the Wisconsin river to Merimac. They are to camp in the "Dells" for a few days.
After some difficulty in getting their delayed kit and canoe, they finally left on Sunday morning. They were guests of friends here for several days.

Judge James O'Neill of Neills-ville held an extra session of circuit court here on Friday in the matter of the Cutler drainage hearing. A few other cases were disposed of.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dithmar of Madison were guests of friends one day last week. Mr. Dithmar who is assistant attorney general, had legal business at the court house.

August Paulus, janitor of the court house, is spending part of his annual vacation in Madison and vicinity.

Attorney Daniel H. Grady of Portage, had legal business in Judge O'- Neill's court on Friday.

Senator F. H. Hanson went to Madison on professional business on Monday.

Paul Grubb and wife have returned to their home at Edgerton, after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Grubb.

N. Grotenheim of Cedar Grove,
Grove stopped off here on his trip to Minneapolis to call on friends.

W. R. Raymond autoed from Milwaukee to Camp Douglas to spend Sunday with a relative, who is a recruit there. He was accompanied by his wife and party. They stopped here to call on old friends.

Sam Pharo of Madison was the week-end guest of friends and relatives. He returned Monday accompanied by Miss K. Morris.

Vernon Wright of Lyndon Station, was in the city on Saturday.
A barn of Dan Casey, seven miles from here was struck by lightning during the storm of Friday evening.
It was a total loss, covered by an insurance of $2,000.

Money is everything to the poor chap who hasn't a cent.

Today and Wednesday
LILLIAN GISH
IN

"The Lily and
The Rose"

AND "Fatty
AND Mabel Adrift"

With ROSCOE ARBUCKLE
and

"KEYSTONE" MABEL NORMAND

Children 5c Adults 10c
Matinees Any Seat 10c

MAJESTIC

THE CASINO

We can't show all of the pictures, so we show only THE BEST. Make us prove it. Come and see.

HAROLD
LOCKWOOD and
MISS MAY ALLISON

IN
"The Masked Rider"
Last Times Tonight

THE STRAND

SPECIAL — SPECIAL

Tomorrow Night
HAROLD LOCKWOOD and Miss May Allison

in
"The Masked Rider"

This picture, which, by the way, is one of the best Metros ever made, will be shown with

SPECIAL MUSIC

The way the picture will be put on and played will be worth going miles to see.

Tomorrow Night Only

THE VERNONS AT SKATING RINK

The Gateway City Roller rink on State street, is offering a most unusual attraction this week. The Vernons, skaters extraordinary, are entertaining the patrons with striking examples of the skating art.

This is the first appearance of the Vernon, and the reception which was accorded them last evening marked them as being instantly popular. The Hestiation Waltz, The Electric Dance, and various other novelties, together with a large variety of new stunts in trick skating, round out the repertoire of this clever couple.
The Vernons will perform at the Gateway City Rink each night this week.

SEES VOTE ON SUFFRAGE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senatorial callers at the White house today believed that this session of congress will see a vote on the suffrage question. Efforts are being made to bring the federal amendment up for a vote without discussion.

However, it is better to be alone than to be bored.

Hair Often Ruined
By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulstified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulstified coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

Oh, Man! By Briggs

PERSISTENT USE OF THE

TRIBUNE WANT ADS

WILL SELL ALMOST ANY SALEABLE ARTICLE

PHONE 323 AND HAVE OUR "WANT AD MAN" CALL FOR YOUR AD.

CLASSIFIED WANT AD RATES

Under any classification one-half cent per word for each insertion. No single insertion for less than fifteen cents.

A MONTHLY RATE of fifty cents per line per month is made on standing ads. Nothing less than three lines accepted under this rate.

TELEPHONE YOUR AD. To the TRIBUNE office any time before noon, and it will be inserted the same day.

BOTH PHONES 323

WANTED—MALE HELP

WISCONSIN CIVIL SERVICE—A non-assembled examination for the combined position of matron and gretian (Wales Sanatorium) will be held September 2, 1916. Entrance salary $900 a year and complete maintenance. Minimum age 25; preferred ages 30 to 45. A good training in dietetics and some supervisory experience are prerequisite. 8 8 10

WANTED—Ten laborers at once at Cochrane, Wis. Work until the snow flies. Also three or four carpenter finishers. Must be first class. H. P. Nelson & Son, Cochrane, Wis. 8 7 9

WANTED—Young man, 18 to 20 years old, to work in office. Reliable Steam Laundry, 117-119 N. 6th St. 8 7 8

WANTED—Young man with some experience in meat cutting. Good waiter. People's Market. 8 8 10

WANTED—Assemblers. Apply to Mr. Vanhorn, Sta-Rite Engine Company. 8 7 9

WANTED—Men at quarry. Steady work. $2.25 per day. La Crosse Stone Co. 8 1 1

WANTED—Engineer at Reliable Steam Laundry, 117-119 North Sixth. 8 8 8

WANTED—Deck men. Apply Wednesday morning. Steamer G. W. Hill. 8 8 8

WANTED—First class cabinet makers. Steady work. Ori J. Sorenson. 8 8 10

WANTED—Office boy, 300 South Third street. 8 8 10

WANTED—Car repairers at C. B. & Q. shops. 8 3 15

WANTED—Orderly at Lutheran hospital. 8 2 1

WANTED—Yardman. Northwestern hotel. 8 7 9

WANTED—Porter at 230 Pearl. 8 7 17

WANTED—FEMALE HELP

WANTED—Maid for general housework; no washing or ironing. Mrs. A. L. Goetzman, 207 West Ave. So. 8 8 9

FOR SALE—Household goods, including gas range, Jewell heater and ice box. 508 North Seventh. Phone 867-C. 8 7 9

WANTED—Girl for second work, who has had some experience. Apply Mrs. Henry Gund, 1509 King. 8 7 1

WANTED—Girls, 16 years or over, to work in our factory. La Crosse Knitting works. 7 6 1

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework, small family. Mrs. Scott, 1418 Madison. 8 7 9

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Mrs. Calvin Baker, 300 West avenue south. 8 4 10

WANTED—Girls at Modern Steam Laundry. Good pay. Steady work year around. 8 1 14

WANTED—Shirt finisher and hand ironer, at Modern Steam Laundry. 8 8 10

WANTED—A girl to wash dishes, at the Wilson house, corner Sixth and Cass. 8 8 8

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework, 221 South Tenth. 7 22 1

WANTED—Kitchen girls. New Dairy Lunch, 307 Main. 8 3 16

WANTED—Chamber maid. Hotel Stoddard. 8 8 1

WANTED—Dish washer. Home restaurant. 8 4 1

WANTED—Girls. La Crosse Paper Box Co. 8 5 18

REAL ESTATE

For Sale or Trade

FOR SALE—Fine 200 acre farm, 5 miles from Genoa; over 100 acres under cultivation, balance timber and pasture. Fine large house, two good barns, tobacco shed, granary, hay sheds and other out-buildings. Well fenced; part with woven wire. Artesian well water in buildings as well as piped to all pastures. On main traveled road. R. F. D. and telephone service, one-half mile to school and church. Will consider house in city, balance on ten years' time at 5 per cent. Address Lock Box 4, Genoa, Wis. 8 2 8

BRICK FLAT at 221 N. Seventh St. (including large barn, now used as a garage). $6,300. Rental income now $55 per month. Building in first class condition. Hardwood floors lower flat, running water in seven bedrooms, city heat and good furnace, sleeping porch. Lot 60x120. Terms. Inquire of Mrs. Devine, on premises. New phone 854-M. 8 2 8

FOR SALE—Farm and cut-over land in northern Wisconsin. Some improved. Will sell in tracts to suit. Prices from $10 to $22 per acre. Address Box 248, Onalaska, Wis. 8 8 1b

FARM BARGAIN—Near Winona, Minnesota. 131 acres, most all under cultivation. Good buildings. If you are looking for a good farm, here it is. Price reasonable. W. D. Young, owner, Galesville, Wis. 8 1 31

FOR SALE—Frame residence, beautifully located, central residence district, shady boulevard, electricity, gas, water; half block from car, six blocks from business district. Address K. E. care Tribune. 7 19 1

FOR SALE—Beautiful summer cottage lots, at Lake View. High and dry from flood, fine shade trees, grass and lake and river front. Inquire of Henry Benz, 1623 Avon St. New phone 1953-A. 7 17 8 16

FOR SALE—Summer cottage locations in "Shore Acres" on Mississippi. Buy now, build later. $100 buys acre. Terms if desired. W. V. Kidder, 114 North Fifth. 3 27 1

FARM of 130 acres, one mile west of Appleton, Wis.; good location and buildings, with or without personal property. A. Fairbanks, Appleton, Wis., Route 2. 8 8 17

FOR SALE—At once, barber shop, two chairs, good business. Also 26 foot launch. Leaving town. Inquire 1935 Mormon Coulee Road. 8 7 9

FOR SALE—First class lot on Hill-view, facing park, across from city greenhouses. Call 907-M or address L. T. care of Tribune. 4 12 1

FOR SALE—Seven room house with bath. Inquire 920 Main street. 7 15 8 14

CORNER LOT, 21st and Vine, $350. 208 South 23rd. 1628-Black. 7 10 8 9

FOR SALE

Aerotruster engine and boat, complete outfit. Can be run anywhere a boat will float. Also easily attached on bicycles or bob sled in winter. Only reason for selling owner called to Mexican border. Will trade for horse, live stock, farm implements, household goods, etc. Write or call evenings for engine demonstrations. Frank Bedessem, 431 North West avenue, La Crosse. 8 4 10

FOR SALE—29-room hotel business, with bar in connection. Centrally located to all R. R. depots. Retiring account of ill health. Write M. A. S. care Tribune, La Crosse, Wis. 8 5 9 4

FOR SALE—Set of low pitch clarinets for orchestra and band, in good condition. Price reasonable. Paul Witzke, 125 South Third St. New phone 675-R. 8 3 1

FOR SALE—Young milch cow, $60; heifer calf, $15; 7 year old mare with fully, $125; 15 months old Guernsey bull, $60. 2023 Berlin. 8 7 8

COLUMBIA double disc records, 65c. Second hand records, 25c up. Klays Bros. Piano Co., 603 Main. 7 17 8 16

ORGANS FOR SALE—$5 and up. Phonographs, $15 and up. Klays Bros. Piano Co., 603 Main. 7 17 8 16

FOR SALE—Cheap, power concrete mixer with side loader and elevator. H. S. Burroughs, 7 29 8 9

FOR SALE—Dining table, chairs and rugs. Inquire 623 Pine. 8 8 1

FOR SALE—A rubber tired survey in good condition. Call 1918-M new phone. 7 20 1

FOR SALE—New oak dining table and six chairs, $25; cost $50.00. 8 12 King. 8 4 1

COLUMBIA new double disc records, 65c. Weiss Book Store, 533 Main. 8 3 9 2

FOR SALE—Clay and best quality black dirt. La Crosse Stone Co. 8 1 1

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Strictly modern flat; new building, hardwood finish throughout. City heat, hot water. Nicely arranged. 425 Jay street. 8 5 12

FOR RENT—Seven room house, electric light, gas for cooking, water, bath. Six blocks from Main and Fifth, five minute car service. Address S. E. Tribune. 8 7 1

THE SECOND story in the building No. 219 and 221 Main St., suitable for light manufacturing or mercantile business. C. F. Klein, 310 Pearl street. 7 28 1

FOR RENT—Modern 5 room furnished flat, heated, large rooms, well lighted and ventilated. Enquire 111 North Fourteenth. 8 7 1

FOR RENT—Store with basement, modern, on paved street, 1219 West avenue south. Inquire 803 So. Eleventh. 8 7 19

FOR RENT—Several delightful cool rooms, to men only, at Y. M. C. A. For rates apply at office, 7th and Main. 7 6 1

FOR RENT—One seven room apartment, hot water heat, fine porch, very modern; and garage. Inquire 950 Cass. 8 8 1

SIX unfurnished rooms for rent, $16 South Fifth street. Call between 6 and 7 o'clock evenings. 7 21 1

FOR RENT—Six room partly modern house with sleeping porch. 216 South 24th street. 8 4 10

FOR RENT—Unfurnished house-keeping rooms for man and wife, $12. 328 North Eighth. 8 7 21

FOR RENT—Furnished light house-keeping rooms to reliable parties only. 510 South Fourth. 8 8 10

FOR RENT—Eight room modern house. Inquire 1128 South Sixth. New phone 1182-A. 8 5 1

FOR RENT—Five room furnished modern flat for light housekeeping, at 712 Cass street. 8 8 14

FOR RENT—Six room house, modern except heat, 625 South Sixth. New phone 439-C. 8 1 14

FOR RENT—Two front office rooms on second floor. Baker-Niehuys Co. 4 29 1

EIGHT ROOM modern house for rent. Inquire Fred Dittman, 1101 State. 7 15 1

FOR RENT—80 acre farm, cash or on shares. 617 Vine street. 8 7 10

FOR RENT—Modern six room upper flat, city heat. 515 South Fifth. 8 7 1

FOR RENT—House, all modern. Call 403 South Tenth. 7 22 1

FOR RENT—Boyd cottage at Dresbach. Apply 612 Main. 8 2 1

FOR RENT—Modern furnished rooms. 832 Mill street. 8 2 8

FOR RENT—Furnished rooms, 130 South Seventh street. 8 3 1

FOR RENT—Five room upper flat at 1333 Perry St. 7 6 1

FOR RENT—One large furnished room. 631 State. 7 31 1

FOR RENT—Rooms. Inquire 935 Market. 8 4 10

FOR RENT—Five room cottage, fine location. 320 North Eighth. 8 7 9

FOR RENT—Two large rooms, 1607 Loomis. 8 4 10

MISCELLANEOUS

HOTEL CLERK with six years experience in prominent hotel, wants position at once. Also experience as office or store clerk. Callahan, Jefferson Hotel. 8 7 8

I WILL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE for any debts contracted by my wife, Mrs. Louise Parmenter, formerly Miss Louise Bock. E. G. Parmenter. 8 7 11

CALL UP 1695-C for all kinds of auto livery work, hospital calls, city and country driving. Careful driving guaranteed. 8 4 1

CARPENTER WORK WANTED by an experienced carpenter, 1112 Winnebago street. New phone 376-A. 7 10 8 9

FORD TAXI SERVICE—Long distance runs, cheap. Call office 4232. A. Eggen. 8 2 8

WANTED—Quart and pint bottles at once. Call us up. Frommes Chemical Co. 8 8 8

WANTED—To buy or rent, a tent, 10 by 12 or thereabout. Call new phone 1870-C. 8 8 10

WANTED—Toy poodle, male, about one year old. Enquire 503 Main street. 8 5 1

PLAIN SEWING at 1519 King St., above garage. Phone 735-R. 7 21 8 20

WANTED—Farm horse, must be cheap. H. S. Burroughs, 8 7 12

TO DO WASHINGS. Call 735-R. 8 2 9 1

UMBRELLA REPAIRING

UMBRELLAS repaired and recovers; parasols a specialty. Mrs. C. A. Cordell, 1530 Miss. N. 1728-M. 7 26 8 25

CUT RATE SHIPPING

CUT RATES on household goods to Pacific coast and other points, superior service at reduced rates. The Boyd Transfer Co., Minneapolis, Minn. 8 8 1

LOST

LOST—Sterling silver friendship pin, set with brilliants, between Main on Fifth and Sixth and Jackson. Return to Tribune. Reward. 8 5 1

LOST—Last week, Masonic watch charm with monogram on back. Finder please call 617-R or notify 1108 State. 8 7 9

LOST—Boot for automobile top. Phone 1777-M. Reward. 8 7 9

STOVES AND FURNITURE

SECOND-HAND furniture and stoves. Bell Furniture Co., 216 So. Third. 3 17 1

FURNITURE, STOVES, etc., bought and sold. Dailey's, 625 So. Third. 1697-M. 7 22 8 21

PRINTING

500 BUSINESS CARDS, envelopes, statements or noteheads, $1.15; 1,000, $1.90. Lain, the Printer, 208 North Second. 8 7 9 6

RESTAURANTS

BEST of everything to eat. Short orders all hours, night and day. 228 Pearl. Fred W. Harris. 8 7 9 6

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

STONE QUARRY and farm land, $50 acres, close to city limits. Retiring from business. Phone 579-A. 8 8 14

FINANCIAL

FOURTH BUILDING ASSOCIATION lends money on real estate. Study its monthly payment plan. 5 4 1

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Second hand Ford roadster. First class condition. Had excellent care. $250. Cash or bankable note. Do not ask for out in this price. No time for demonstration unless you are prepared for quick action if car is satisfactory. Leigh Toland, care of "W. B. U." 8 7 5

CLEANERS AND DYERS

LET US CLEAN and press your suit. Fancy dresses, gloves, etc., specialty. Quick service. Work called for. Pitzner's. Phone 201-M. 3481. 7 24 8 23

Daily Markets

(Quoted by John C. Burns.)

Wholesale

Blueberries, 16 qt. case	$2.60
Oranges, Sunkist Valencia, 150 size	$4.50
Oranges, Sunkist Valencia, 175 size	$4.50
Oranges, Sunkist Valencia, 200 size	$4.50
Cider, clarified, box	$3.75
Cider, clarified 1/2 bb.	$4.00
Cider, steam refined	$4.00
Cider, crab apple bbl.	$5.50
Bananas	$1.50, $2.00, $2.50
Lemons, 300 to 360 box	$9.00
Peaches, per box	$1.00
Plums, crate	$1.75
Watermelons	.30c
Potatoes, new, bu.	.90c
Pears, Clapps, box	$2.50
Pears, Bartlett, box	$3.00
Prunes, tragedy, crate	$1.75
Elberta Peaches, bu.	$2.50
Onions, 100 lbs.	$3.00
Red raspberries, 24 pt.	$2.25
Cantaloupes, 45 crates	$3.00
Cantaloupes, 54 crates	$2.50
Grapes, 4 bask. crate	$1.75
Cherries, 16 qt. case	$2.40

Livestock

(Quoted by Farmers' Co-operative Packing Company)

Hogs	$7.50 to $9.00
Cows	$3.00 to $5.50
Steers	$4.00 to $6.50
Heifers	$4.50 to $6.00
Calves	$5.00 to $8.00
Sheep	$3.50 to $4.00
Spring Lambs	$7.00 to $8.00

Poultry

Chickens	.13 to .14c
Turkeys	.16c
Ducks	.12 to .13c
Geese	.12 to .13c

Provisions

Lard	.14 to .15c
Shoulders	.13 1/2 to .14c
Picnics	.14 to .14 1/2c
Bacon	.18 to .22c
Ham	.19 to .20c
Dried beef	.24 1/2 to .28 1/2c

Grain

(Quoted by Farmers' Co-operative Market Co.)

Corn	.75 to .85c
Oats	.40 to .50c
Wheat	.90 to 1.00c
Rye	.80 to .85c
Barley	.65 to .75c

Flour and Feed

(Quoted by Listman Mill Co.)

Patents	$7.60
Straights	$7.40

Brain, per ton, 100 lb. sacks $24.00
Shorts, per ton, 100 lb. sacks $25.00
White Middlings, per ton, 100 pound sacks $30.00
Red Dog, ton, 100 lb. sacks $32.00

Butter and Eggs

(Quoted by Hawley Com. Co.)
Creamery butter, pound .29 to .30c
Dairy butter, pound .25 to .26c
Eggs, fresh, dozen .25c

Cheese
(Henry Andereg.)
Fancy full cream Brick Cheese, in cases .16 to .17c
Wisconsin Daisies .16 to .17c
Wisconsin Limburger .18 to .20c
Wisconsin Swiss, round .22 to .25c
Full Swiss, block .24 to .25c
Primo .27 to .28c
Mysost .8 1/2c
German Hand Cheese, per box .90c

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—New York's surface street car strike has ended. All existing strikes were declared settled this afternoon when Chairman Straus of the public service commission announced the employers' agreement had been accepted by all the companies.

New York resumed normal street car traffic after more than a week of the biggest street car strike in the city's history. Normal schedules began Tuesday following settlement of the difficulties between employees and traction magnates at a long night session.

Although company heads refused specifically to agree to recognition of the union—the Amalgamated Association of Street & Electric Railway Employees of America—they conceded the big issue the men fought for. This was the right of the men to organize and promise to receive committees representing the organization.

The victory was the greatest ever won by the union. It was the third union victory in the big cities in a little over three years. The other triumphs were in Boston and Chicago. Where extreme violence marked the Boston affair, the peaceful victory won a year ago in Chicago was exceeded in orderliness by the New York triumph.

Mayor Mitchell and Oscar Straus of the public service commission were responsible for the settlement.

WILSON'S LETTER

ON POLAND'S IN VON JAGOW'S HANDS

We Close Tomorrow at Noon

DOERFLINGER'S

Look for Yellow Cards For Bargains

A Grand Sweeping Clean-Up Sale on All Wash Skirts

Skirts that were wonders at the regular price of $1.50, $1.75 and $1.98. Your unrestricted choice for this one-half day tomorrow morning, for 98c

Another lot that were great values and big sellers at the regular prices of $4.98, $5.00 and $5.85, in pinks, blues, and greens. The newest stripes, choice for tomorrow morning $3.98

WAISTS

One big lot women's Waists, 75 dozen in an endless variety of styles and materials, values up to $1.00, choice for Wednesday morning 48c

Two Big Specials in Summer Yard Fabrics For Wednesday Morning

36 inch Poplar Cloths 25c Yard

This is less than the wholesale price today. Comes in all staple colors and white, fine for summer outing dresses and bathing suits. Retail for 35c a yard. Priced for Wednesday morning, yard 25c

36 inch Cheney Foulards 98c Yard

These always in demand Foulards sell regularly for $1.50 yard. Shown in a splendid range of floral print designs, all desirable staple colorings. The water spot proof material. Do not miss this splendid bargain. Special for Wednesday morning only per yard 98c

<h4>Handkerchiefs</h4> Men's all linen hem-stitch'd Handkerchiefs at 10c	<h4>FRUIT JARS</h4> Pint or quart fruit Jars. This price includes the dozen rubbers. Pints 39c Quarts 45c	<h4>Ironing Boards</h4> $1.50 Ironing Boards, special while they last at $1.23	<h4>Minnows</h4> $1.25 Dowagiac Minnows just half price.. 63c
<h4>Umbrellas</h4> Steel rod Umbrellas, with good water proof cover, at 49c	<h4>CROQUET SET</h4> 6 ball Croquet Set, varnished mallets and balls, to close out, set $1.23	<h4>Soap</h4> Swift's Pride Laundry Soap, per bar 2½c Limit 10 bars.	<h4>Olives</h4> Fancy Queen Olives, special Wednesday morning per pint 13c
<h4>Towels</h4> Huck Towels, large size 22x44, worth 20c, Wednesday a. m., 12½c	<h4>LAWN MOWER</h4> 3 Lawn Mowers left. These are the regular $8 Mowers, special while they last $5.00	<h4>ICE BOX</h4> Our $16.75 Ice Box, side icer, ice capacity 75 pounds, Wednesday a. m., $11.00	<h4>VASELINE</h4> 2 ounce screw top jar of Vaseline, Wednesday a. m. 3c
<h4>Ice Chest</h4> A $10 Ice Chest, galvanized lined, to close out at $7.95

"THE MAN OF GALILEE"

BY CARL THOMTAY

A $50,000 PAINTING

ON EXHIBITION ON OUR THIRD FLOOR

DON'T MISS IT.

Genoa, Wis.

GENOA, Wis.—(Special).—Mrs. Louis Monti and daughter, Mrs. Albert Schubert went to Victory on the second to visit relatives.

Mrs. Bartels and son went to her home at De Soto on the thirtieth, after spending one week with relatives.

La Crosse Interurban Telephone Co. have moved their camp from Riverside to a few miles south of Genoa.

Mrs. James Hopkins and daughter and her friend, Mrs. Smith of Muscatine, Iowa, is visiting the former's parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ristow.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Downey went to Billings, Mont., where he is interested in land and also to visit the latter's sister.

John Norris and Angie Vener were married in church last Tuesday morning. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Sylvester Levi, where many relatives and friends were invited. A dance was given in the evening. They will reside on a farm about a mile south of Genoa.

Otto and Loeffler and Alfred Latimer have commenced their con-

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's Hero

Hans Lobert, Lobert went to bat in the fifth inning of the Giant-Cub game as a pinch hitter and nicked the Only Jimmy Lavender for a two bagger which sent three runs, including the winning one, across the pan.

Toney held the Boston Braves to two hits but his fellow Red Legs gave him the poorest of support. He lost. The Athletics lost their nineteenth straight game.

It would have been a home run with any other outfielder but Speaker. He ran back a mile, jumped half as high and pulled down Pipp's swat.

Chester Thomas and Jimmy Austin were indefinitely suspended for their impromptu rough and tumble staged on the St. Louis ball lot the other day.

The Senators slipped into seventh place when they lost to the Browns. The Athletics are only thirty and one-half games further down.

Cobb did not get a hit.

When Lead Poisoning Ensnues.

Electrolytic baths are not of service in cases of lead poisoning, according to the views of a recent investigator, as the lead accumulated in the tissues is a part of organic compounds not easily ionized.

Solomon was the wisest man of his day, yet he was hopelessly married.

ROUGH ON RATS

Unbeatable Exterminator of Rats, Mice and Bugs

Used the World Over - Used by U.S. Government

The Old Reliable That Never Fails - 15c, 25c. At Druggists

THE RECOGNIZED STANDARD-AVOID SUBSTITUTES

SPORTS

BRAVES OUTBATTED BUT WIN TWICE FROM RED LEGS

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Although outbatted in both games Boston shut Cincinnati out twice Monday, 2 to 0 and 6 to 0. Toney held the locals to two hits in the first game, but they came with men on. In the second Moseley allowed only six hits to ten by Allen, but lost effectiveness in the pinches. Scores:

First game: R H E
Cincinnati . . . 000000000—0 5 4
Boston . . . 00101000—2 2 1
Batteries: Toney and Wingo; Barnes and Blackburn.

Second game: R H E
Cincinnati . . . 000000000—0 10 0
Boston . . . 22002000—6 6 0
Batteries: Moseley, Clarke and Huhn; Allen and Blackburn.

Phil's 5; Cards 3

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 8.—Philadelphia scored an easy victory over St. Louis Monday, 5 to 3, knocking Ames out of the box. Chalmers lasted only three innings, the heat forcing him to retire. Demaree then went in and held the Cardinals safe. Niehoff had three singles and a double out of four trips to the plate. Score: R H E
St. Louis . . . 100000110—3 11 2
Philadelphia . . . 02030000—5 11 1
Batteries: Ames, Lotz, Williams and Gonzales; Snyder, Chalmers, Demaree and Killifer.

Giants 3; Cubs 2

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Hans Lobert, pinch hitting for Schupp, drove in three runs with a double in the fifth inning of Monday's game, giving the Giants a 3 to 2 victory over the Cubs. His hit also led to the retirement of Jimmy Lavender from the box. Prendergast mounding the slab. Chicago outbatted the locals, two to one, but poor fielding in tight places led to Lavender's downfall. Score: R H E
Chicago . . . 001000010—2 6 2
New York . . . 00002000—3 3 0
Batteries: Lavender, Prendergast, Seaton, Wilson and Archer; Schupp, Tesreau and Rariden.

WHITE SOX TROUNCE CHAMPS AND TAKE A BIGGER LEAD

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Chicago increased its lead for first place over Boston on Monday by winning the first game of the series from the world's champions, 7 to 1.

The White Sox hit Leonard hard and backed up Russell with perfect support. Ness, Weaver and John Collins made sensational plays. Russell had little difficulty holding Carrigan's men safe.

Ness' home run, Russell's steal of home and a squeeze play executed by Ness and Schalk were features.

Score: R H E
Boston . . . 000000001—1 7 1
Chicago . . . 10121020X—7 13 0
Batteries: Leonard, Jones and Agnew; Carrigan; Russell and Schalk.

Yankees, 3; Indians, 2

CLEVELAND, Aug. 8.—The Indians lost a close game to the Yankees Monday, 3 to 2. After fighting an uphill battle and tying the score in the sixth, the Indians lost out in the eighth when Peckinpaugh doubled and scored on Oldring's single. Score: R H E
New York . . . 002000010—3 10 1
Cleveland . . . 000101000—2 9 1
Batteries: Fischer, Shawkey and Nunnamaker; Bagby and Daly.

Tigers, 4; Macks 2

DETROIT, Aug. 8.—With Charles Evans Hughes an interested spectator during part of the game, the Tigers won the first game of the series from the Athletics today by a score of 4 to 2.

Score: R H E
Philadelphia . . . 100000100—2 9 2
Detroit . . . 02000200X—4 5 1
Batteries: Mayers and Haley; Coveleskie and Baker.

Browns, 3; Senators, 2

Score: R H E
Washington . . . 0000000200—2 6 0
St. Louis . . . 1010000001—3 9 2
Batteries: Galla, Ayers, Johnson, Henry and Ainsmith; Weiland, Groom, Severoid and Hartley.

AUSTIN AND THOMAS SUSPENDED FOR CLASH

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Third Baseman Austin of the St. Louis Browns and Catcher Thomas of the Boston Red Sox on Monday were indefinitely suspended for their battle at St. Louis Sunday. It was announced at the office of President Ban Johnson of the American league, Monday afternoon.

THE ELLIOTT LOEFFLER CO.

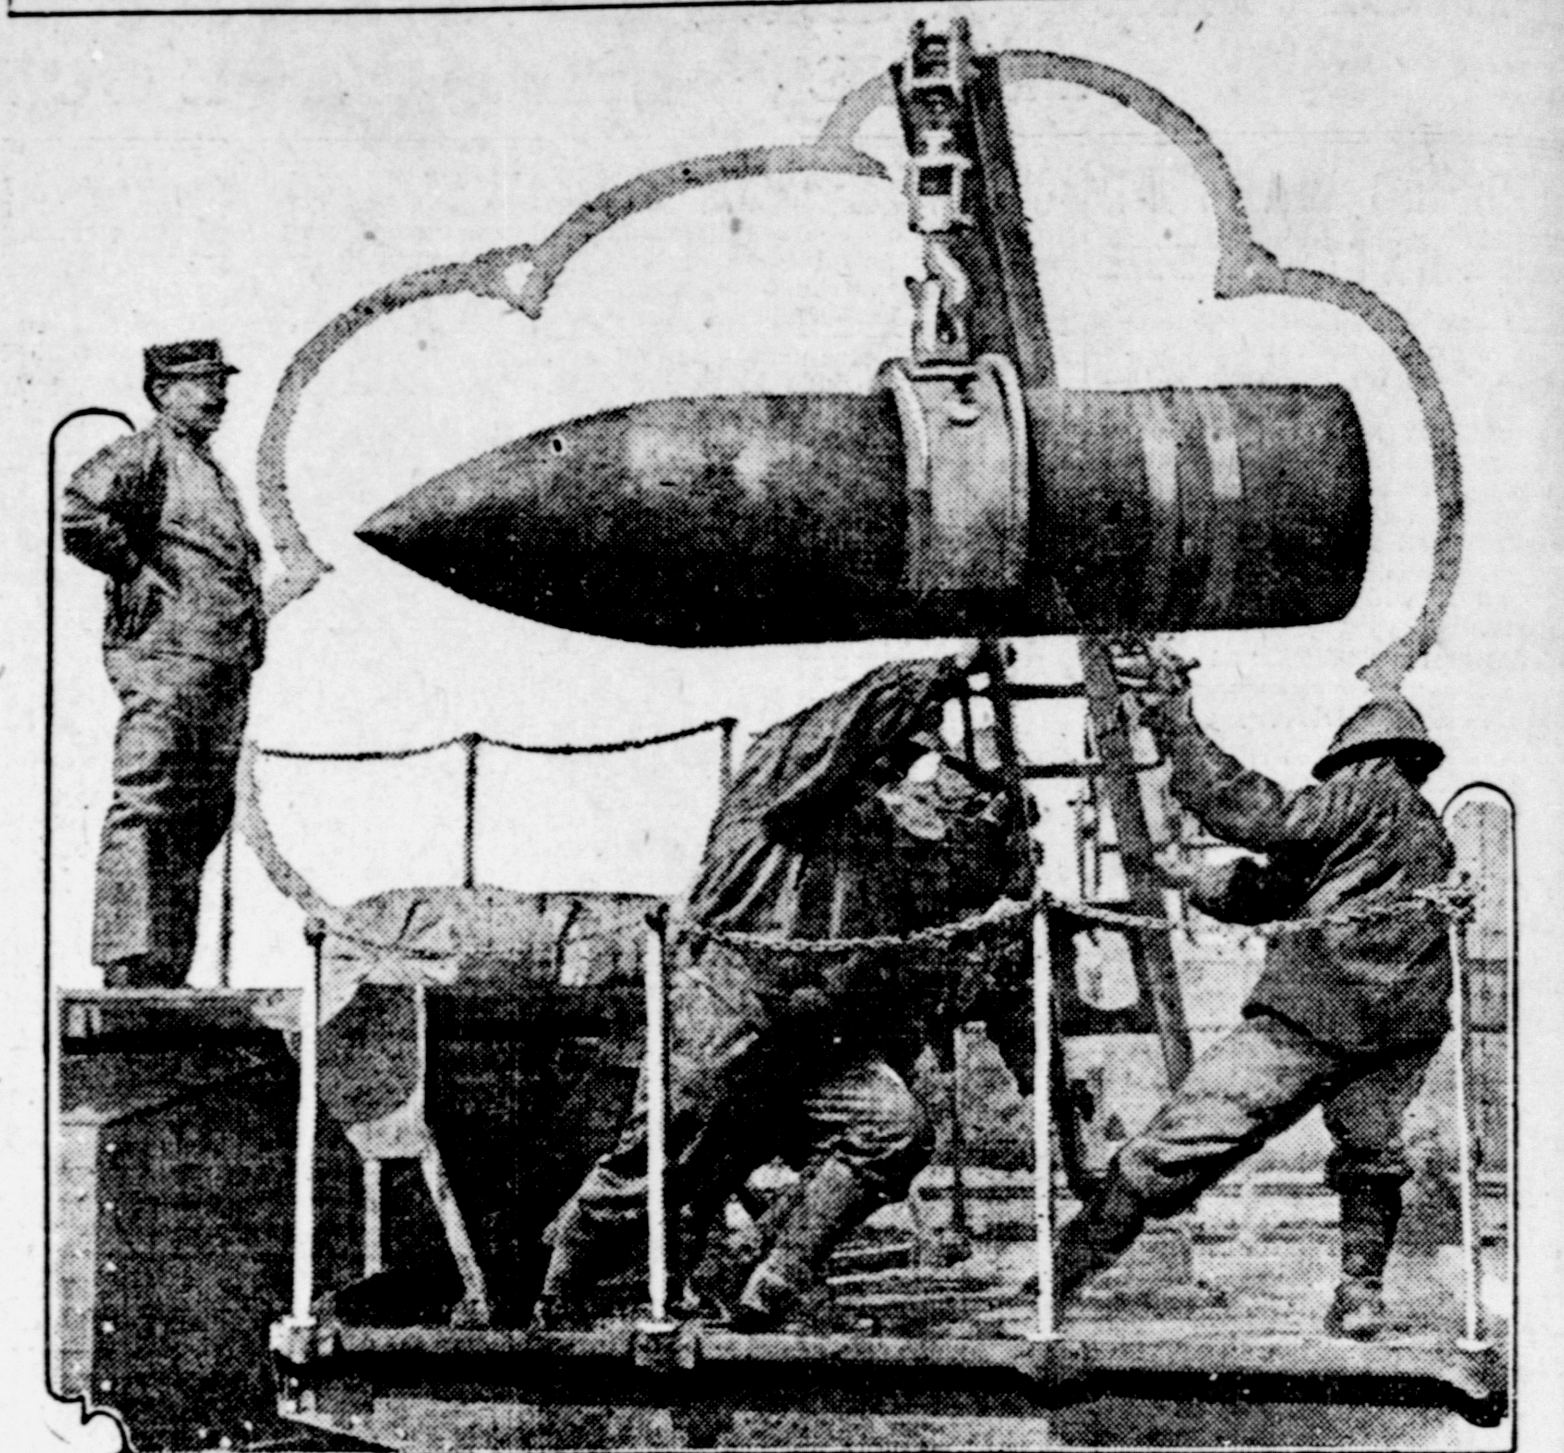

WHOLESALE WINES AND LIQUORS

Imported and Domestic Mineral Water, Ginger Ale, Club Soda, Bass Ale, Dublin Stout, Etc. : : : : :

Full Line of BAR GLASSWARE

Both Phones 196, 222-224 Pearl St

BIG BROTHER OF GERMAN 42-CENTIMETER USED ON FRENCH FRONT

A 16-inch shell; hoisting a 400-mm up to its gun on the French western front.

One of the new French 400-mm (or, approximately, 16-inch) shells fired by the giant ordnance now being employed in the great offensive on the western front is seen here, about to be placed in a gun. It matches the huge projectiles of the giant Skoda and Krupp howitzers, of which so much was heard in the earlier stages of the war.

KENOSHA COUNTRY CLUB BEATS CREAM CITY COUNTRY CLUB

KENOSHA, Wis., Aug. 8.—The Kenosha Country club, where the idea of the Yule Monday cup originated, was the winner Monday by the narrow margin of one hole over the Milwaukee Country club team in the annual contest for the trophy, which carries with it a gold medal for each of the five members of the winning team.

Scores were far below standard, due chiefly to the weather conditions, the afternoon being frightfully hot, until a change came with a rain for just long enough to dampen the clothes of the players, and thus affect the score to some extent.

The Blue Mound Country club of Milwaukee, which captured the cup a year ago by the biggest score ever recorded, was far in the rear this year, in this the curtain raiser to the annual state tourney.

Program for Wednesday

8 a. m.—The low sixty-four scores of Tuesday play, eighteen holes, medal play; thirty-two to qualify for championship by addition of scores made in the elimination and this round. The next sixteen to qualify for the president's cup. The next sixteen to qualify for the directors' cup, and the sixteen as shown under Tuesday qualify for the secretary's cup. A medal will be given for the low qualifying score in the championship flight.

10 a. m.—For those not playing in championship flight, a special cup will be presented for eighteen holes, medal play handicap.

2 p. m.—First round match play for championship.

Bob Gordon, who last year with George Van Aken reached the round before the semi-finals in the state meet at Milwaukee last year, has entered the meet. Other La Crosse golfers entered are F. H. Hankerson, P. M. Gelatt, C. J. Felber and Alfred James.

Standing of Clubs

AMERICAN LEAGUE
	W	L	Pct.
Chicago	61	44	.581
Boston	58	44	.569
Cleveland	57	45	.559
New York	55	47	.539
Detroit	56	50	.528
St. Louis	53	51	.510
Washington	51	50	.505
Philadelphia	17	79	.194

NATIONAL LEAGUE
	W	L	Pct.
Brooklyn	55	33	.623
Boston	55	38	.591
Philadelphia	54	49	.524
New York	54	49	.524
Chicago	48	45	.517
St. Louis	48	54	.468
Pittsburgh	41	53	.436
Cincinnati	39	65	.375

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION
	W	L	Pct.
Kansas City	64	42	.604
Louisville	60	45	.571
Indianapolis	58	47	.552
Minneapolis	54	51	.514
St. Paul	51	50	.505
Toledo	50	52	.490
Columbus	41	59	.410
Milwaukee	37	69	.349

NATIONAL LEAGUE
	W	L	Pct.
St. Louis at New York, clear.
Chicago at Brooklyn, clear.
Pittsburgh at Boston, clear.
Cincinnati at Philadelphia, cloudy.
AMERICAN LEAGUE
New York at Cleveland, clear.
Boston at Chicago, clear.
Philadelphia at Detroit, rain.
Washington at St. Louis, cloudy, two games.
AMERICAN ASSOCIATION
Columbus at Milwaukee, clear.
Toledo at Kansas City, clear.
Louisville at Minneapolis, clear.
Indianapolis at St. Paul, clear.

INTERESTING PLAY IN FIRST ROUND OF ELIMINATIONS

Three interesting matches developed yesterday in the first round of the first elimination tournament of the La Crosse Tennis association.

After losing a deuce set to Moore 7-5, Bridgman came back in the second set for a 7-4 score. He took the third set 6-2.

Kircher staged a neat comeback over May. After losing the first set 7-5, he took the next two by 6-2 scores.

The Dvorak-Johnson match went three sets, Dvorak winning the first and third.

Paul Schulze defeated Emmanuel Haebich 6-4, 6-2.

Wenzel Dvorak defeated Tracy Johnson 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

Howard Jones defeated D. E. McMilland 6-1, 6-1.

I. H. Kircher defeated Louis May 5-7, 6-2, 6-2.

J. M. Bridgman defeated J. R. Moore 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Dr. Jens Rosholt defeated H. M. Dustin 6-0, 6-0.

Easy to Tell.

At a recent rehearsal previous to a wedding, in which little twin sisters were to take part, the bridegroom asked one of the twins how to tell them apart. She replied: "Sister eats beans and I don't."

Telephone 323 for Want Ads.

DAILY PICTURE PUZZLE

Where has Kitty been?

Complete the picture by drawing a line through the dots. Begin at No. 1 and take them numerically.